Wie man

den General-Bass, und darüber gesetzte Zahlen variiren / artige Inventiones machen / und aus einen schlechten General-Bass Præludia, Ciaconen, Allemanden, Couranten, Sarabanden, Menueten, Giquen und dergleichen leichtlich verfertigen könne / samt andern nötigen Instructionen.

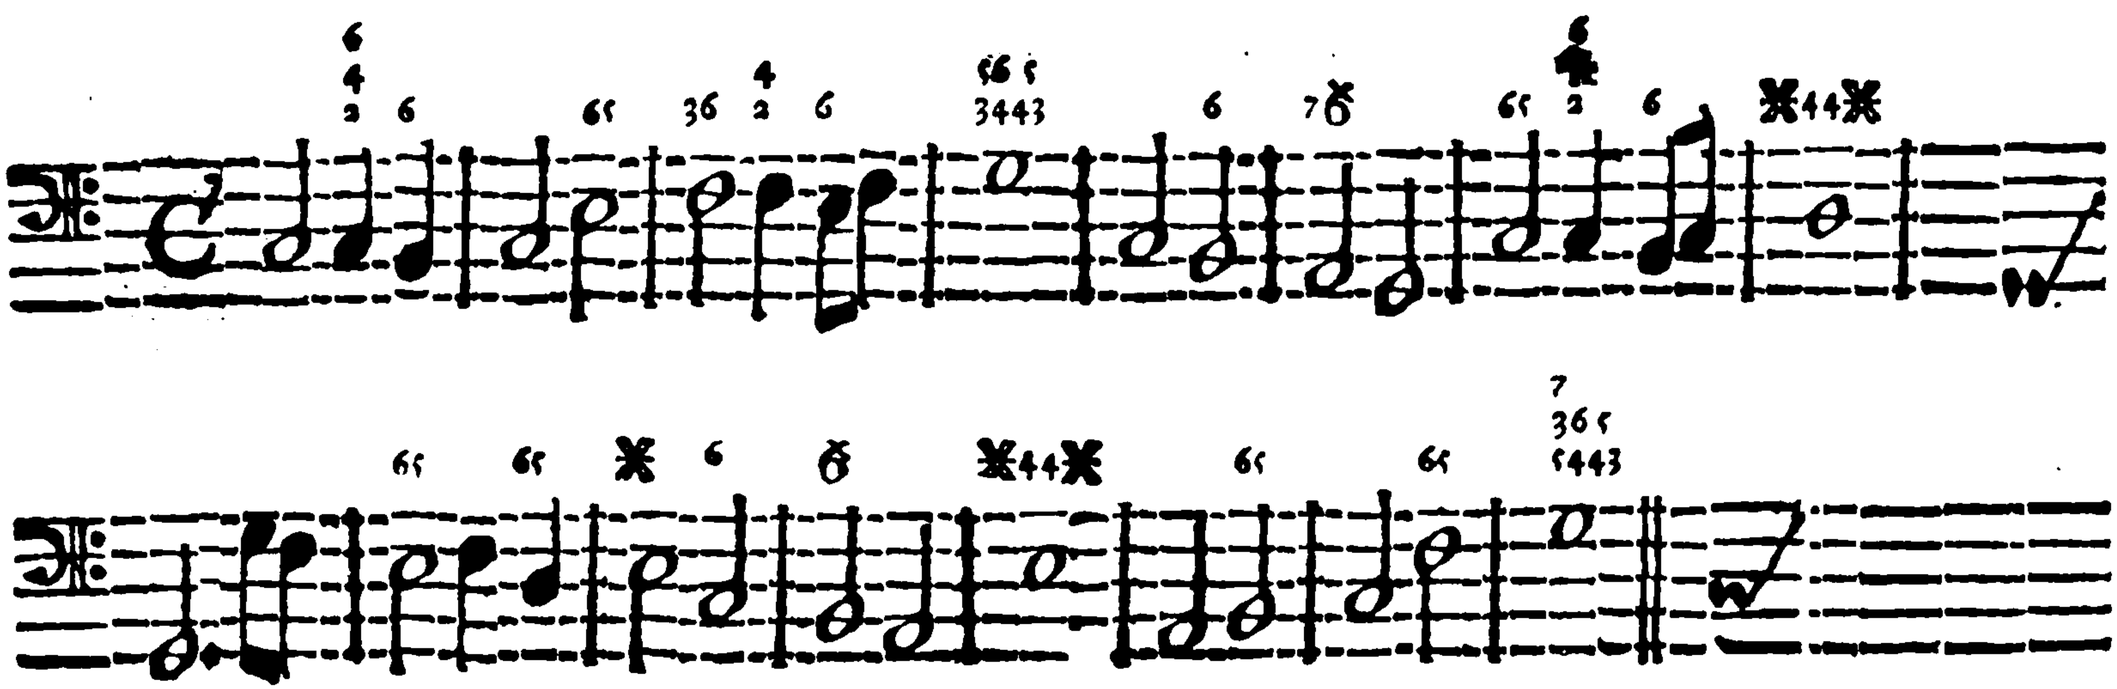

HAMBURG,

Auff Kosten des Autoris, und bey Benjamin Schillern im Dohm zu finden / 1706.
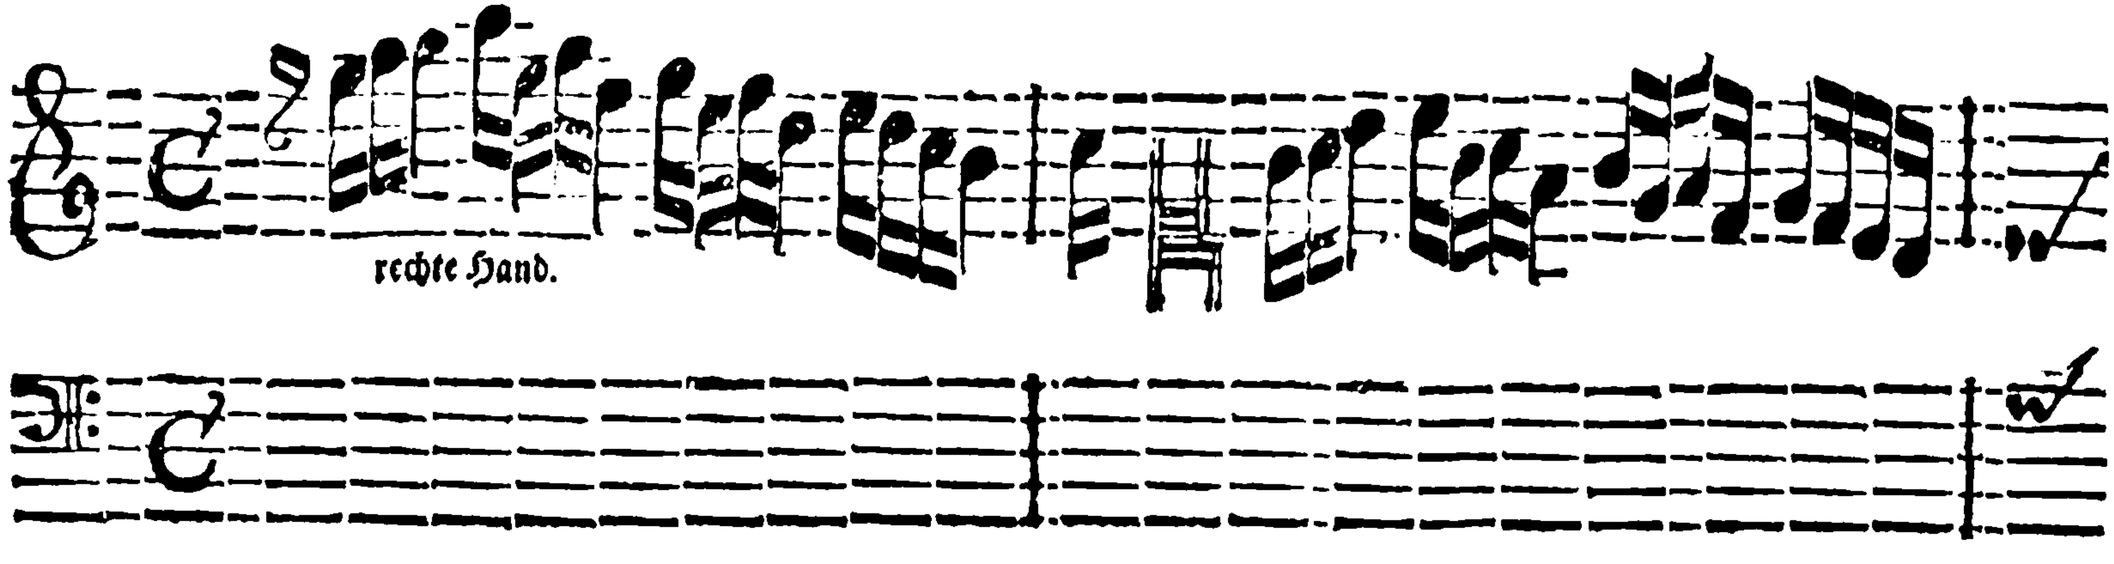

Nun folget:
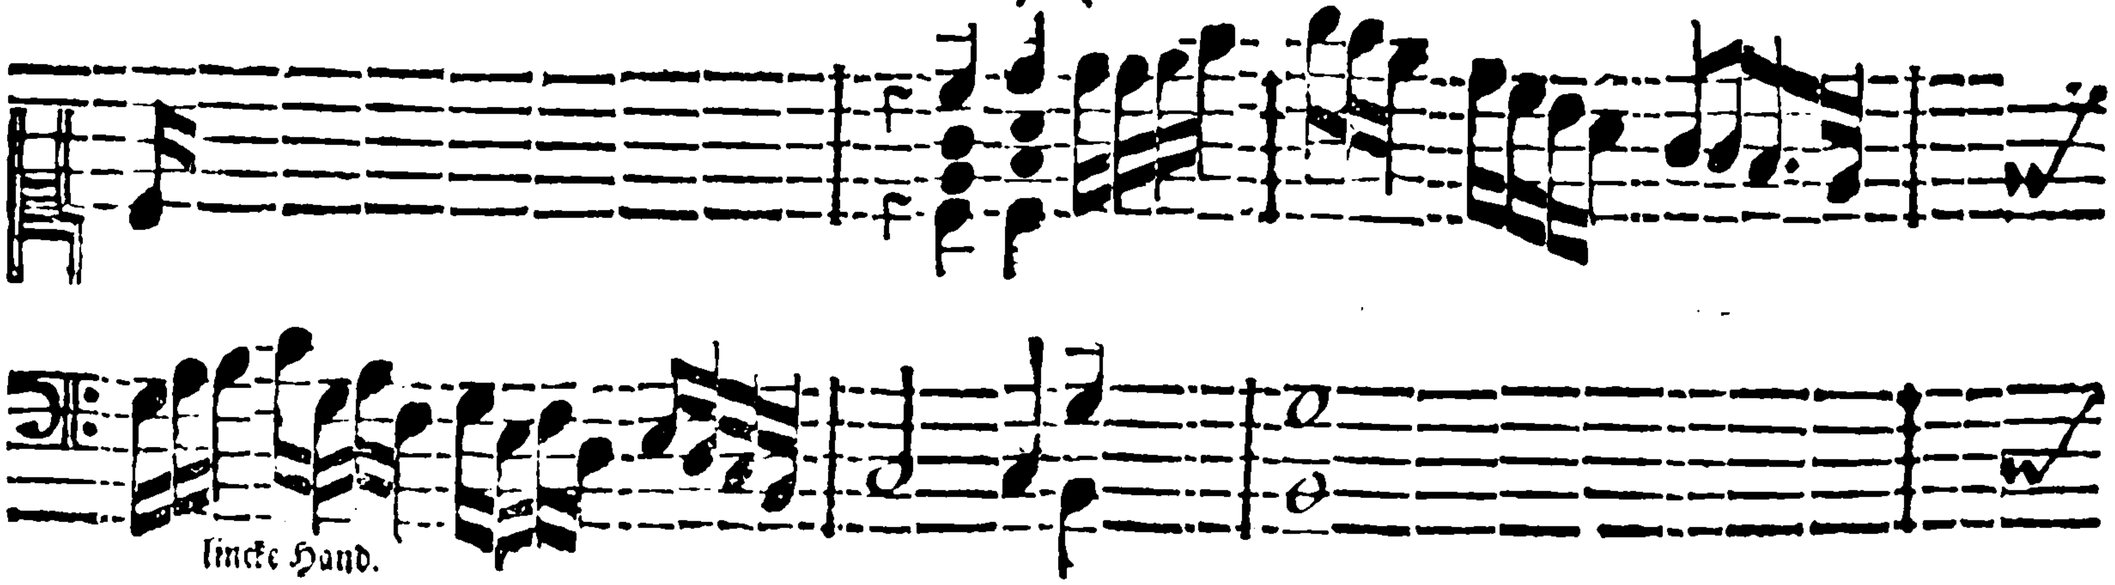

Wie man aus einem ſchlechten General-Baſs, Præludia, Alemanden, Couranten, Sarabanden, Meuueten, Giquen und Ciacconen machen kan / mit Exempel gezeiget.
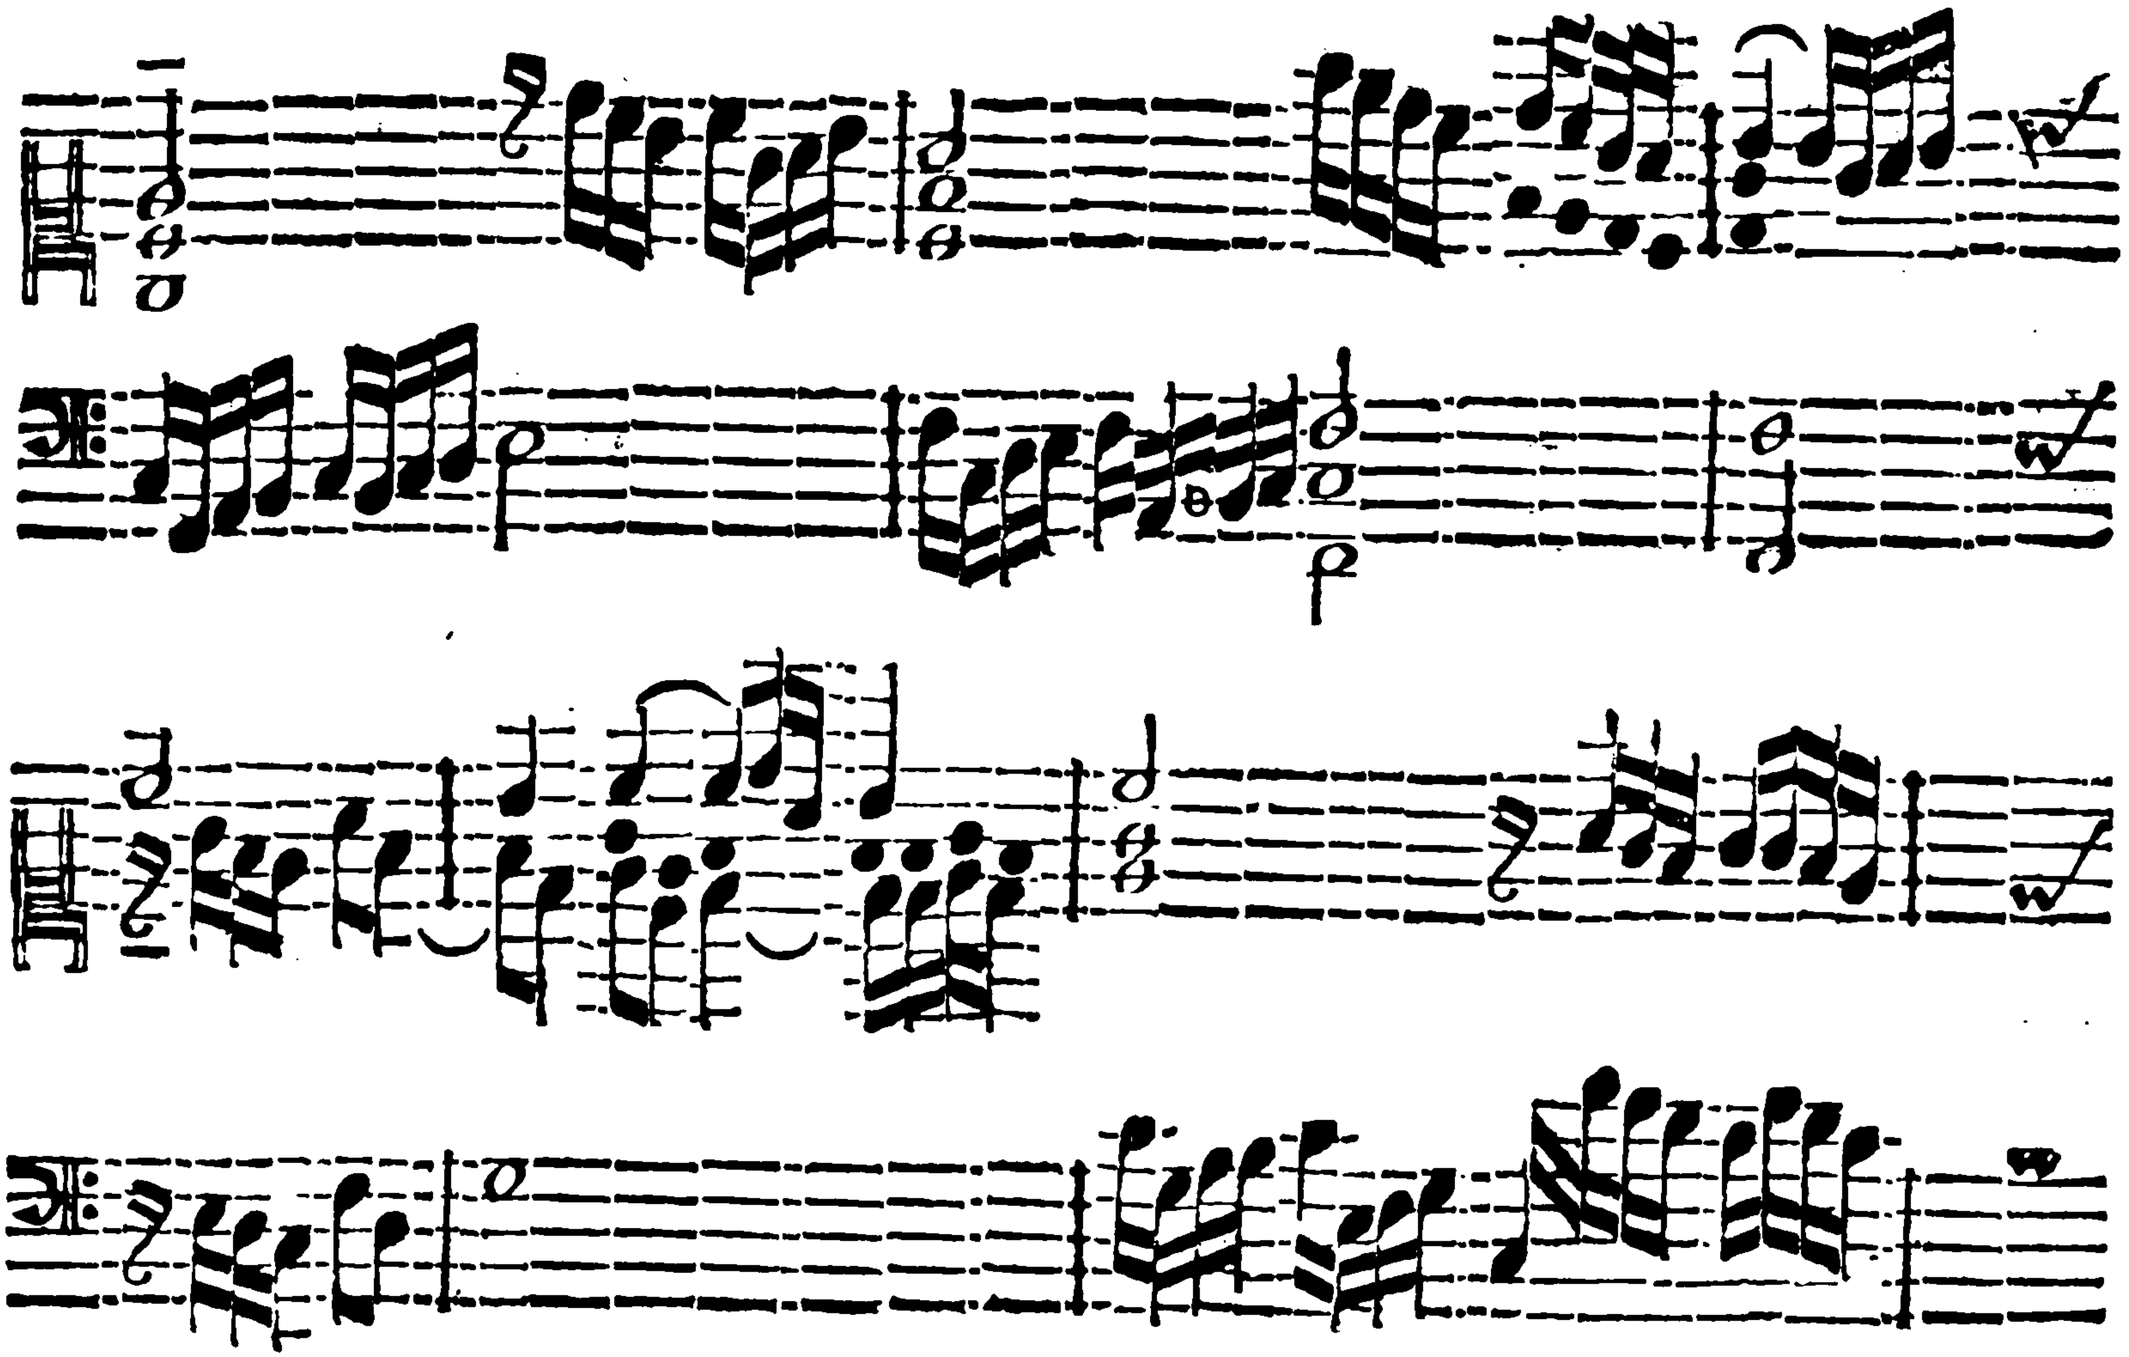

IN dem X. Capitel dieſes Theils iſt der vorgenommene Baſs gezeiget worden/ von welchen zum Anfang ein Præludium ſoll gemachet werden / ſolchen Baſs oder Præludium in etzlichen Noten verlängert / als aus einem halben Tact einen gantzen oder mehr Tacte darvon gemachet/ wird in Præludiren nichts ſchaden; ſelbigen Baſs abermahln ſchlecht hierbey zu ſetzen/ wird nicht undienlich ſeyn.

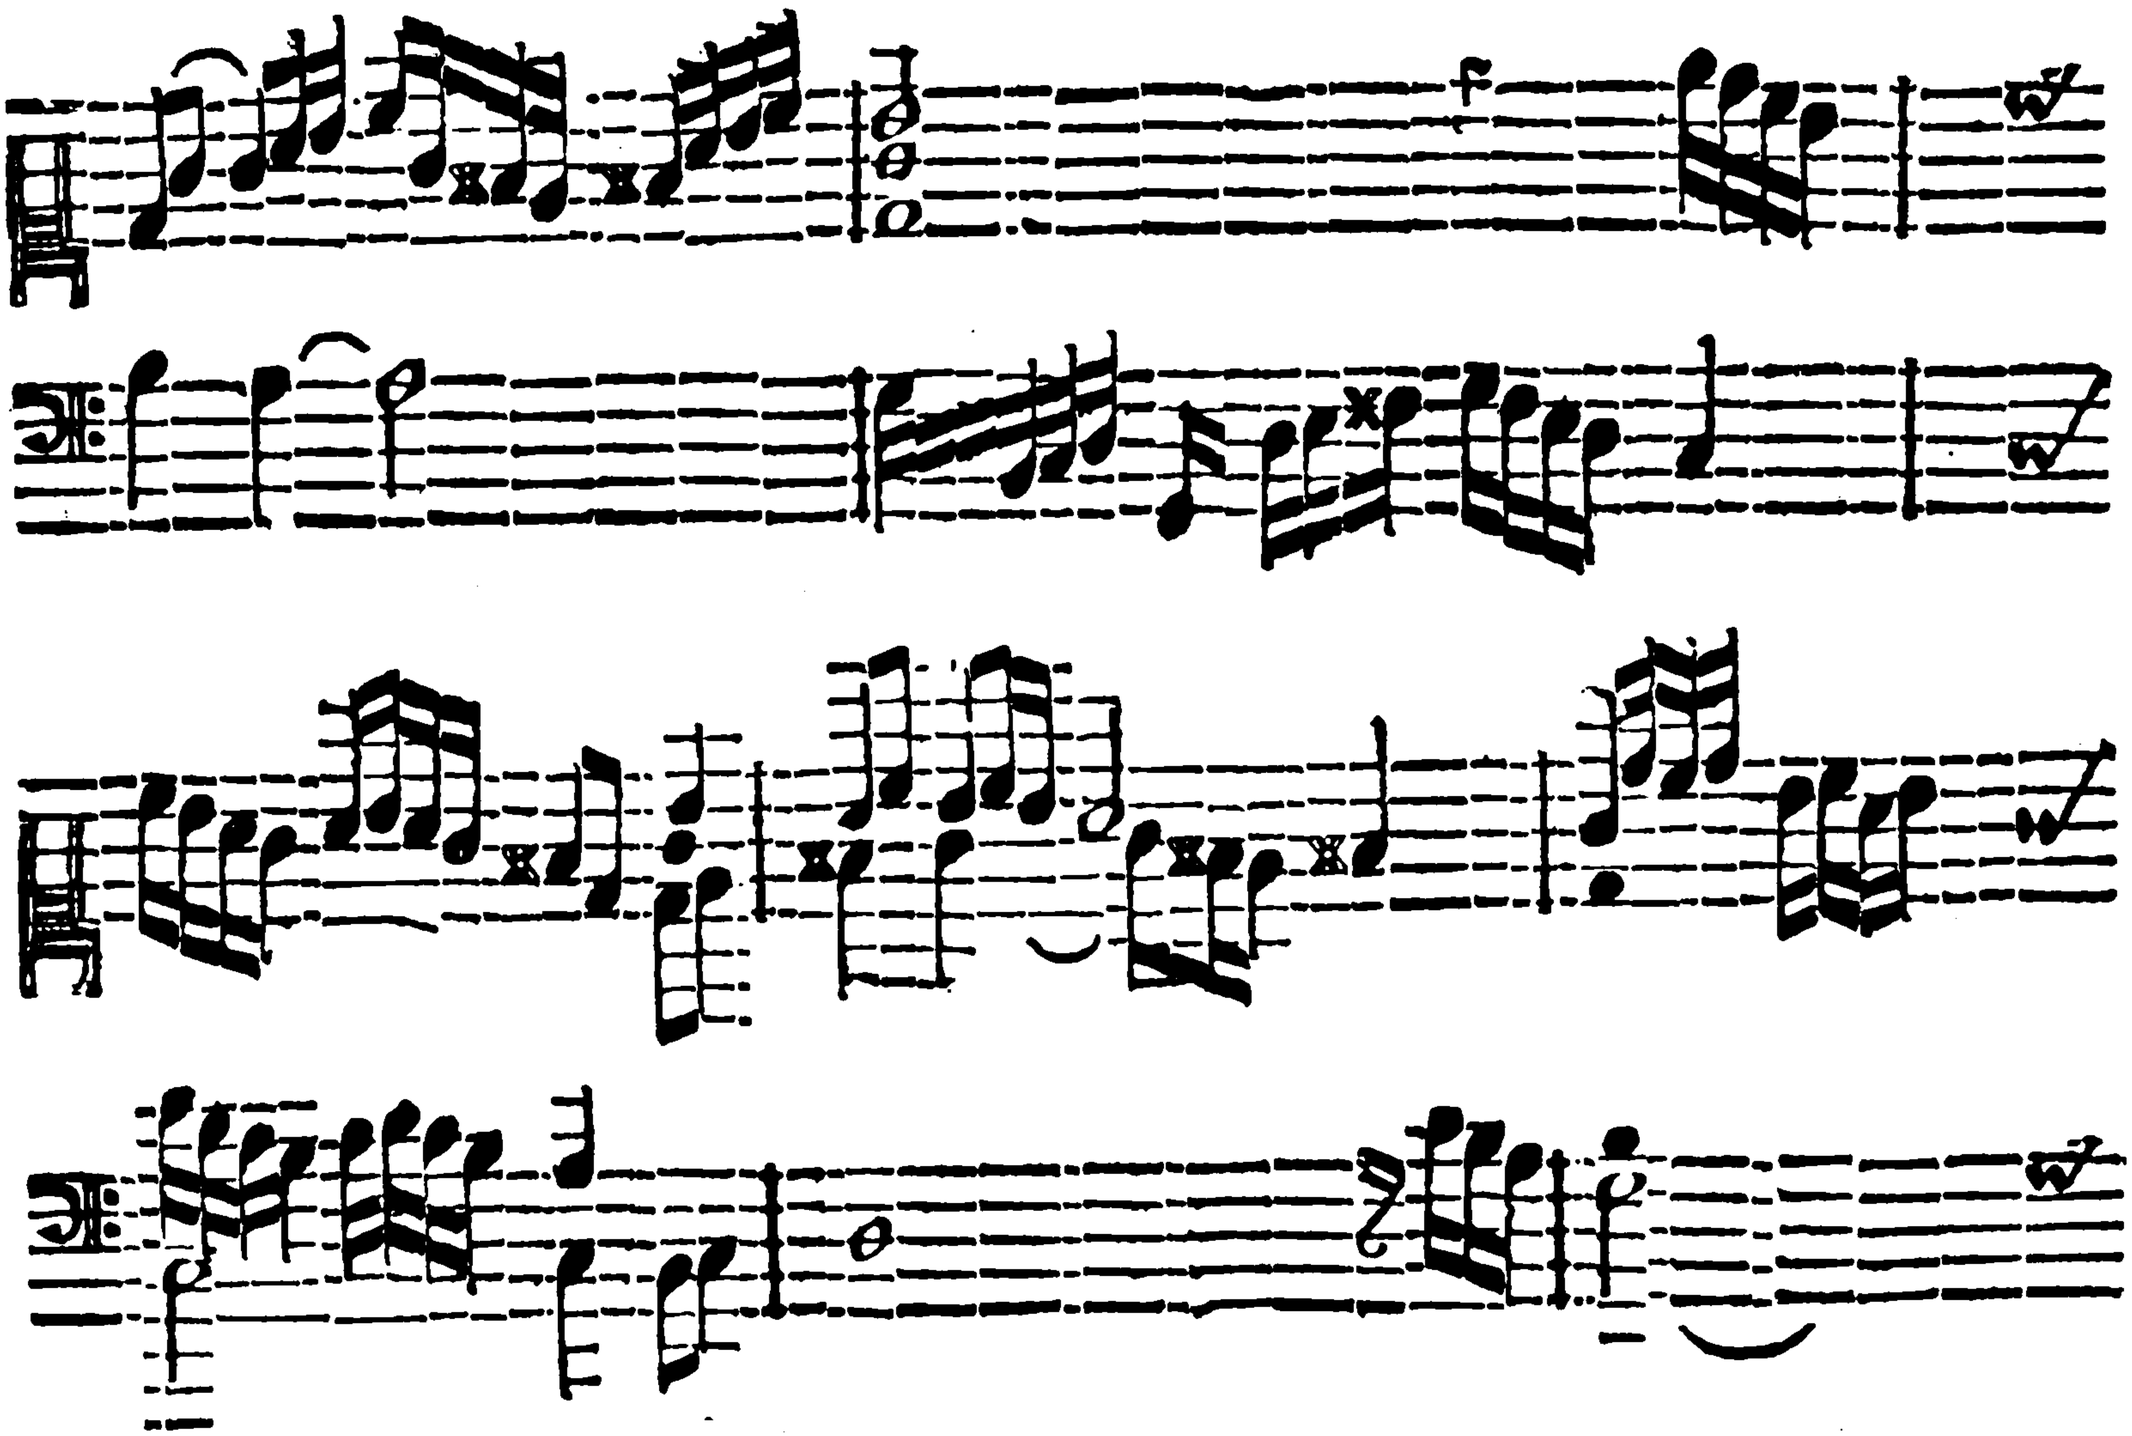

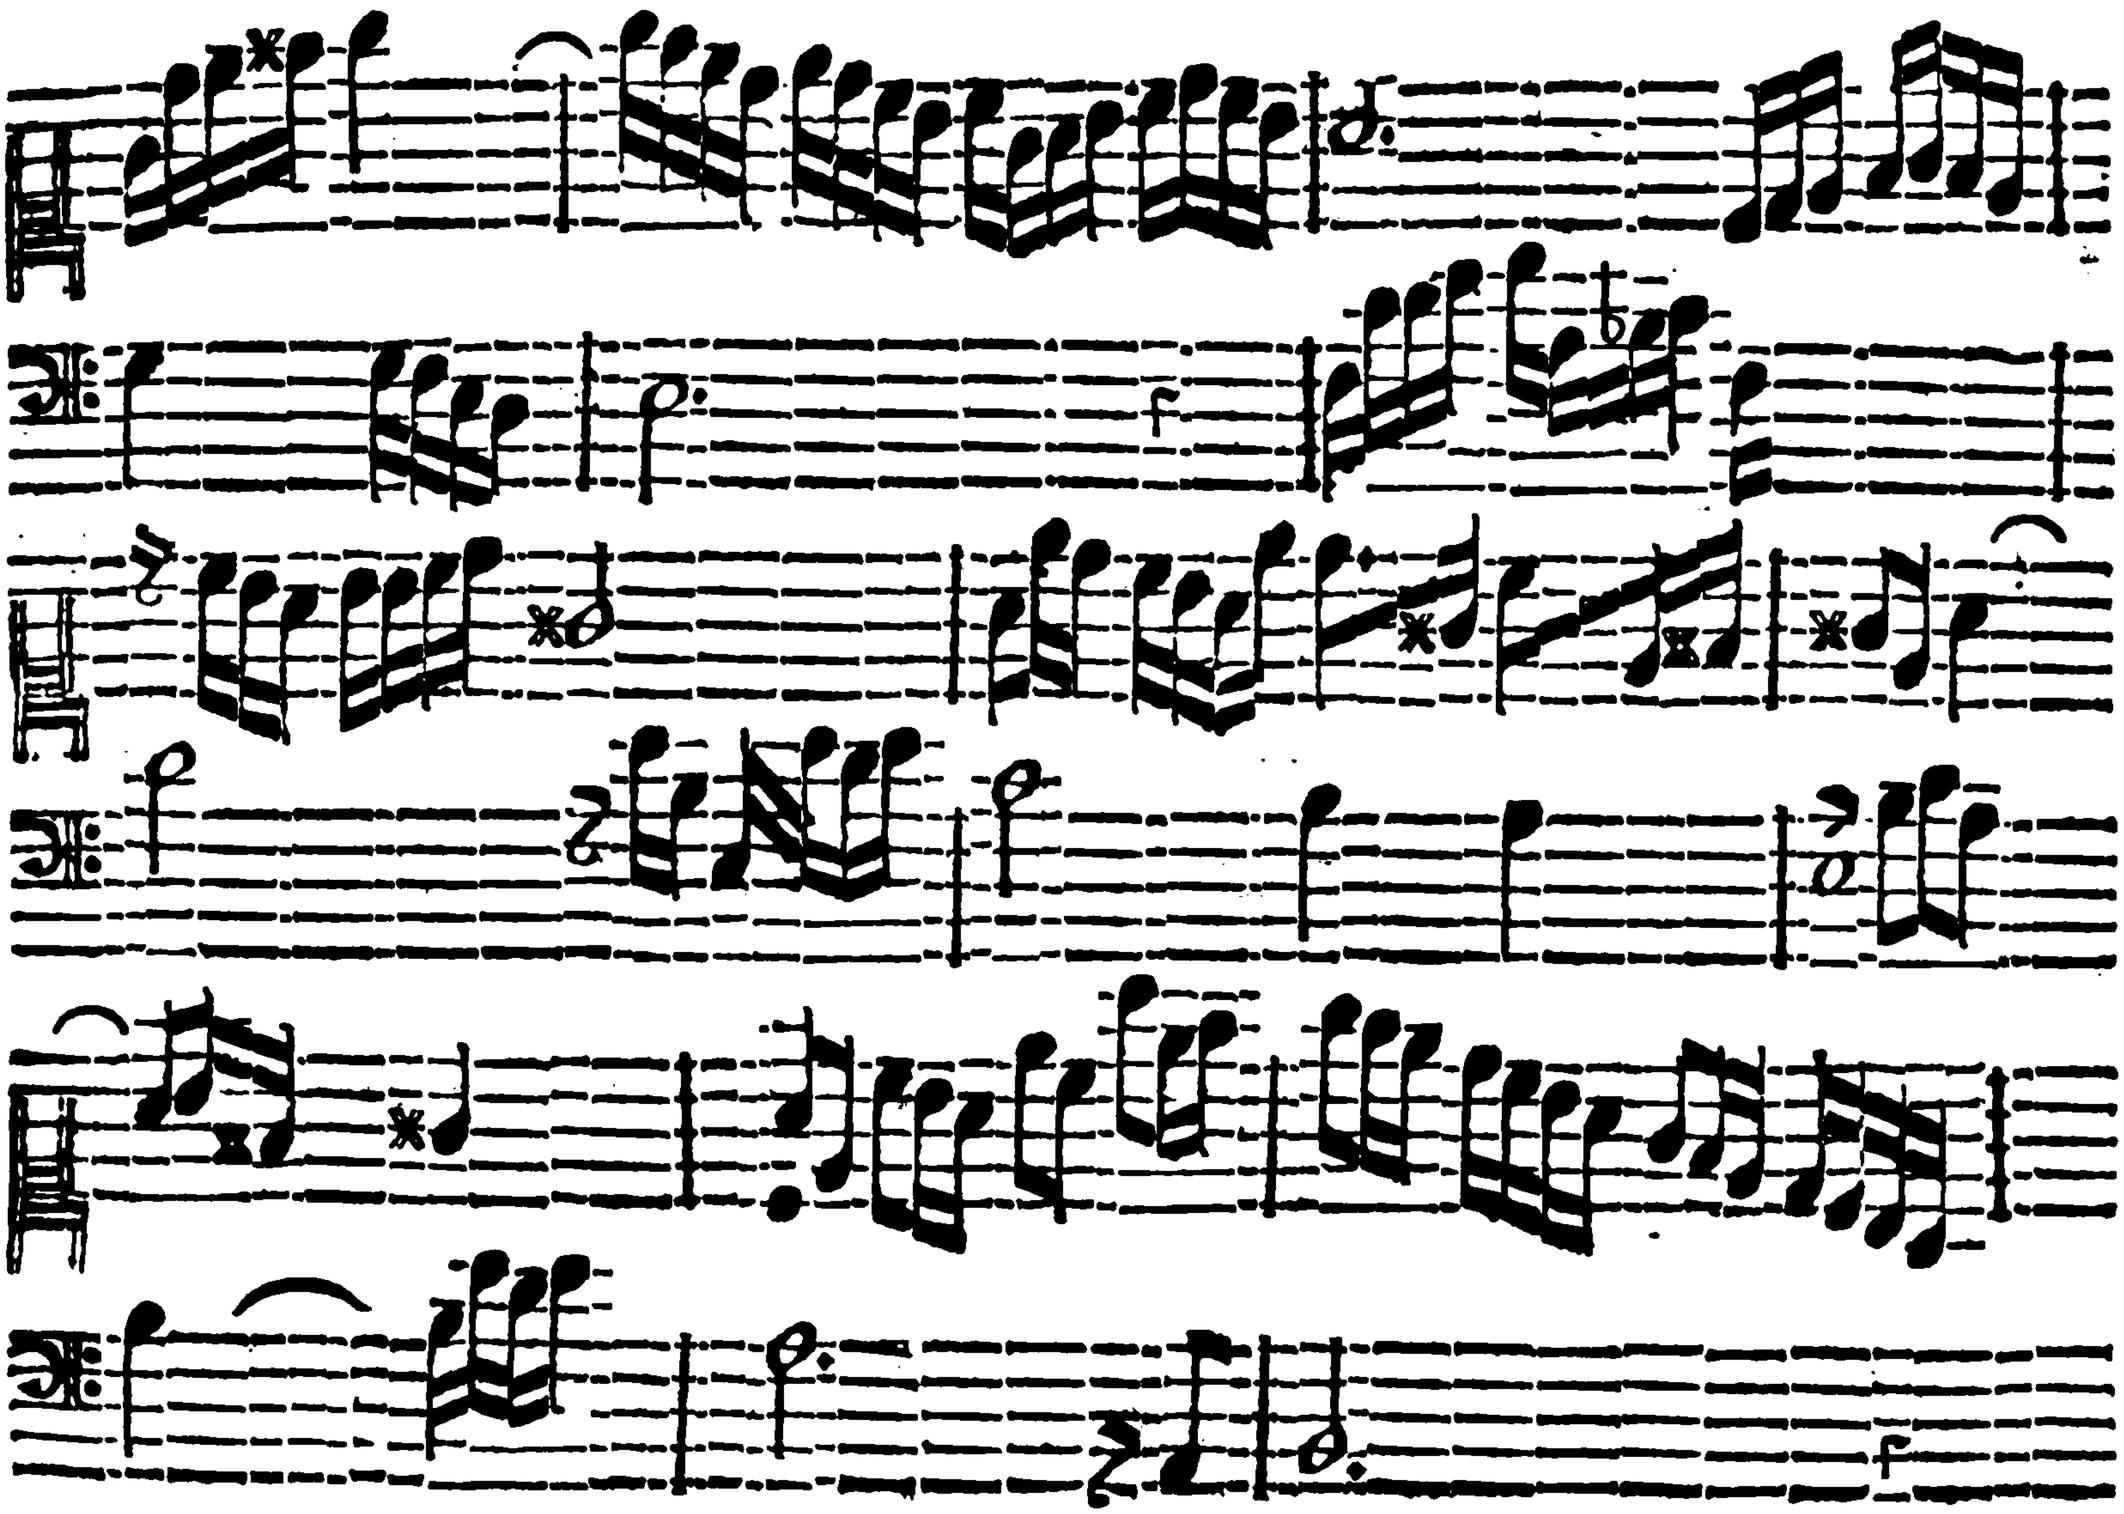

Nun könte das Præludium erſt mit einem Lauff anfangen/ als vorhero gezeiget worden/ als:

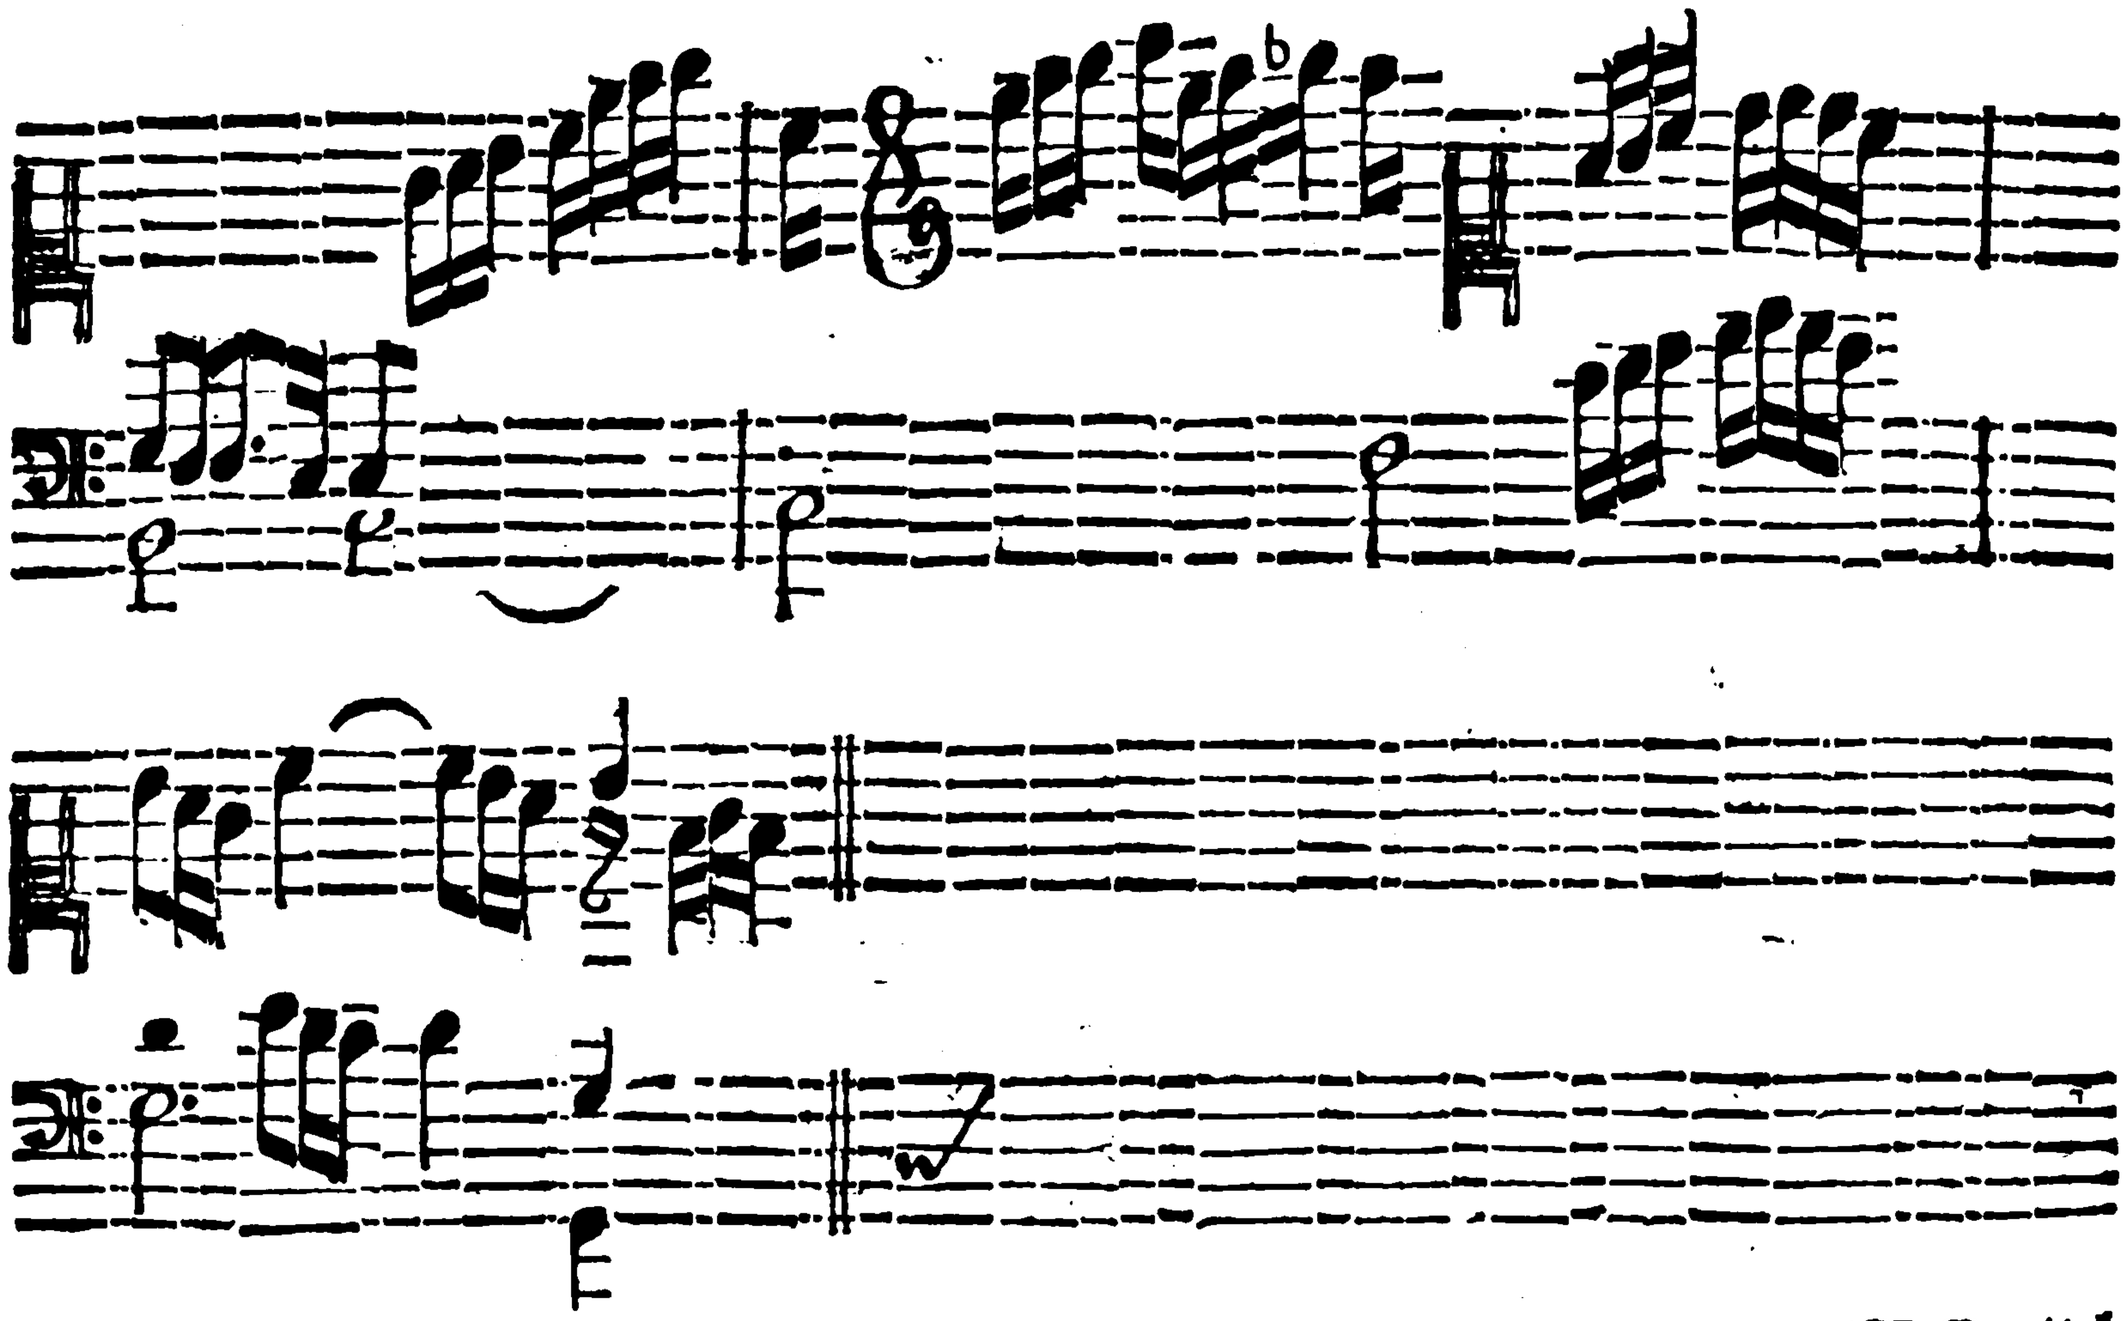

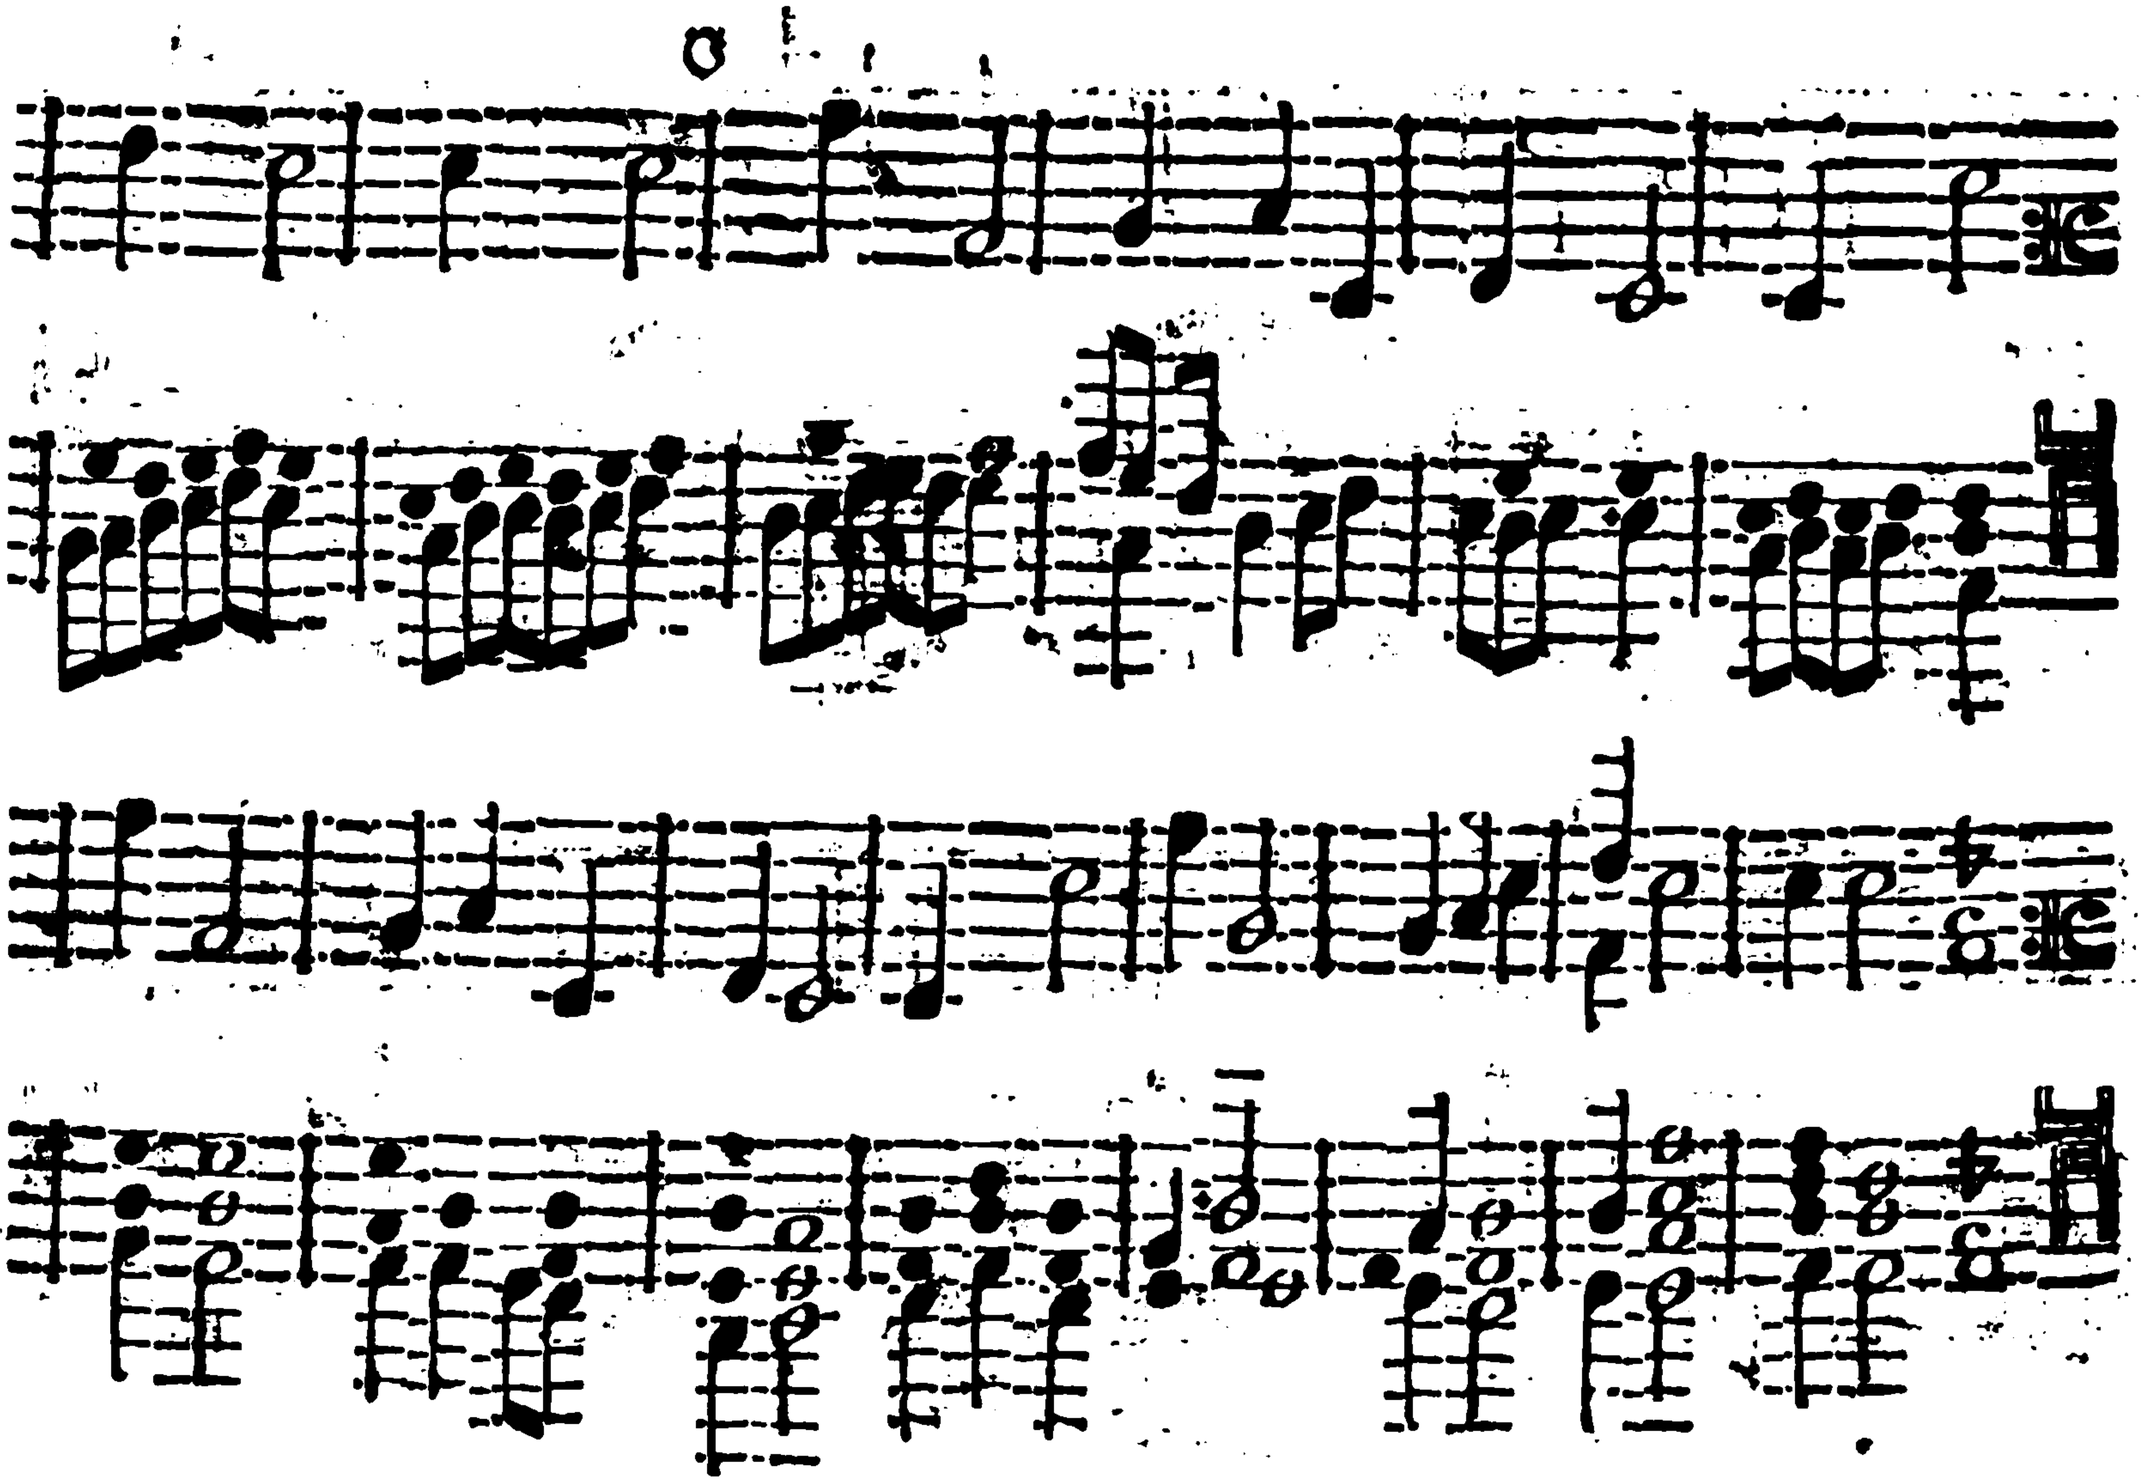

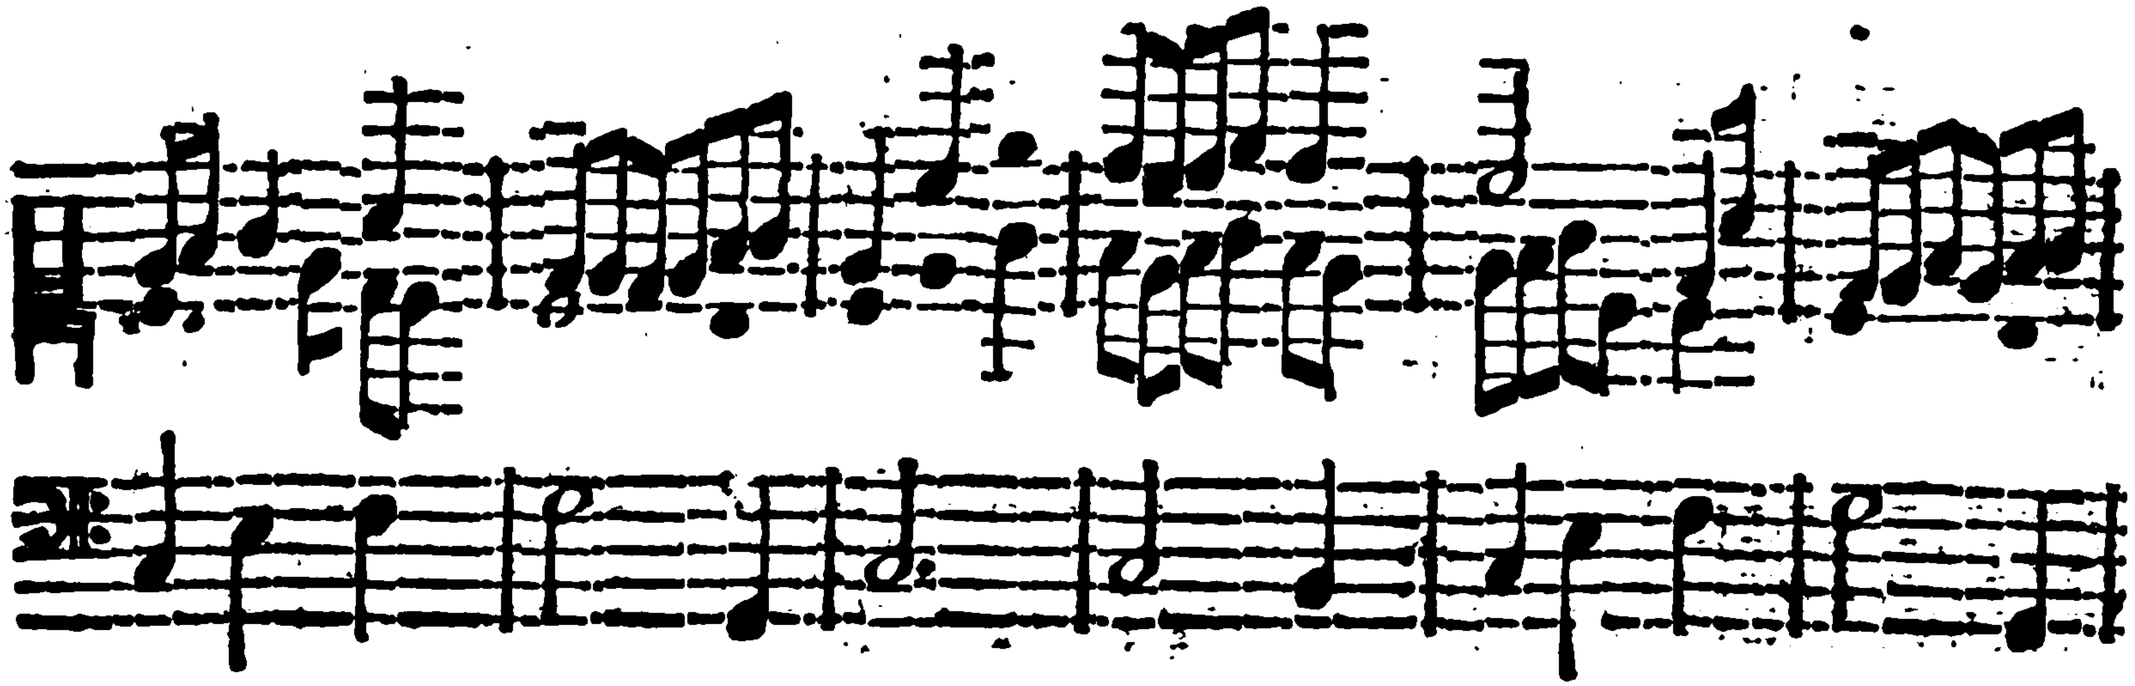

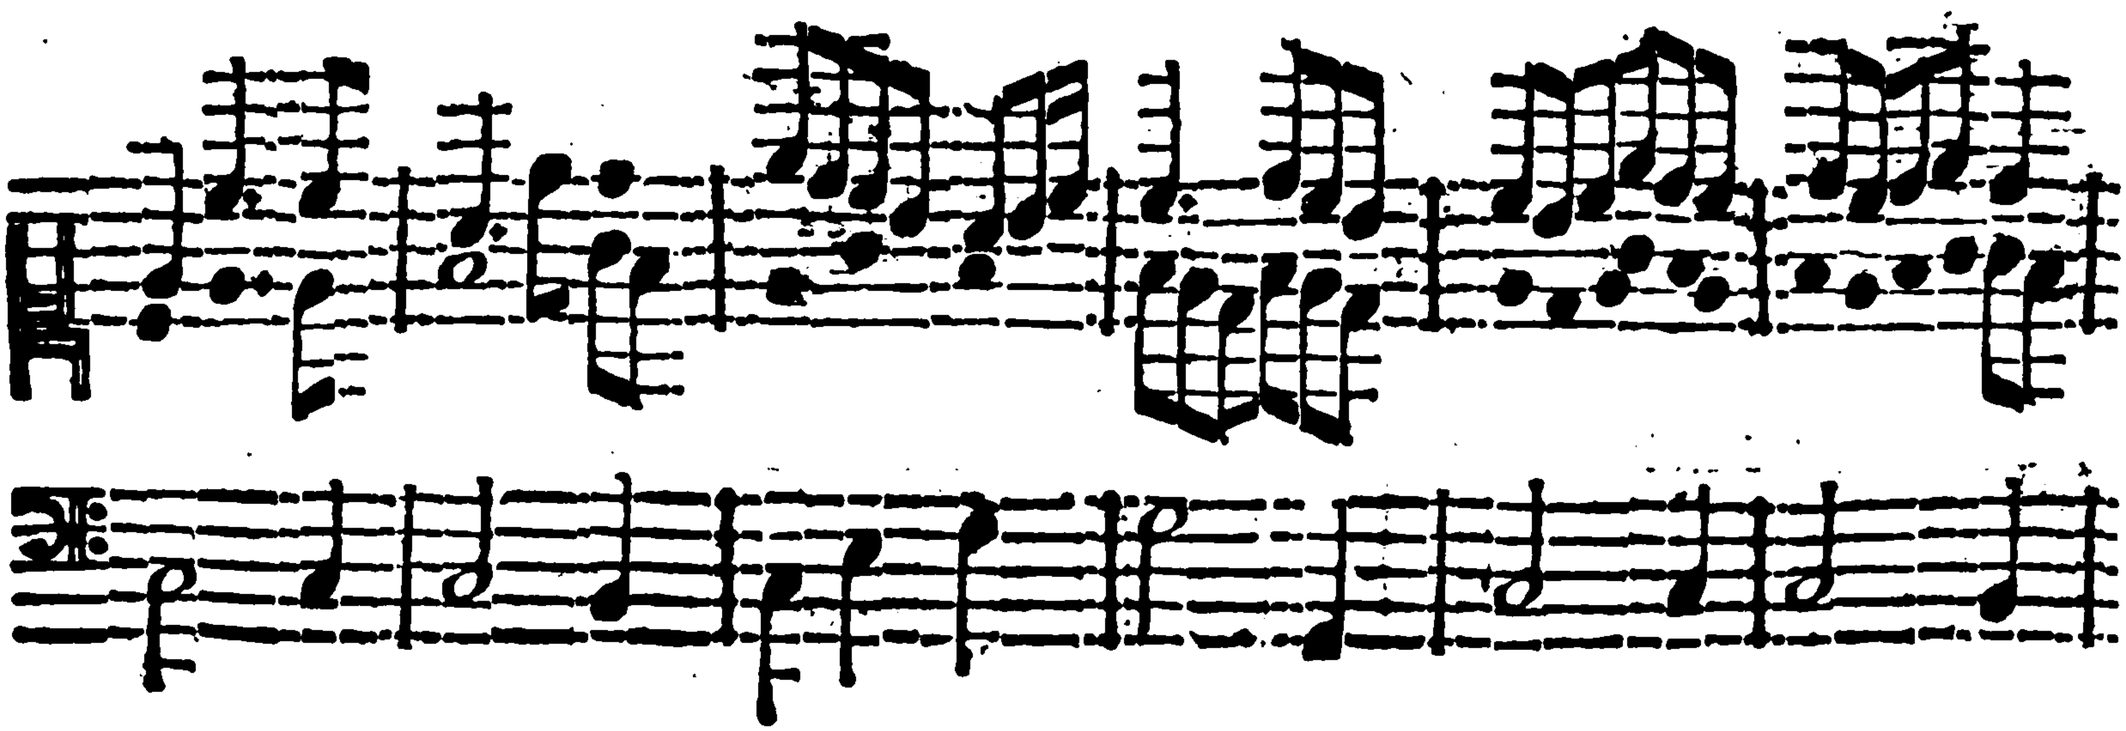

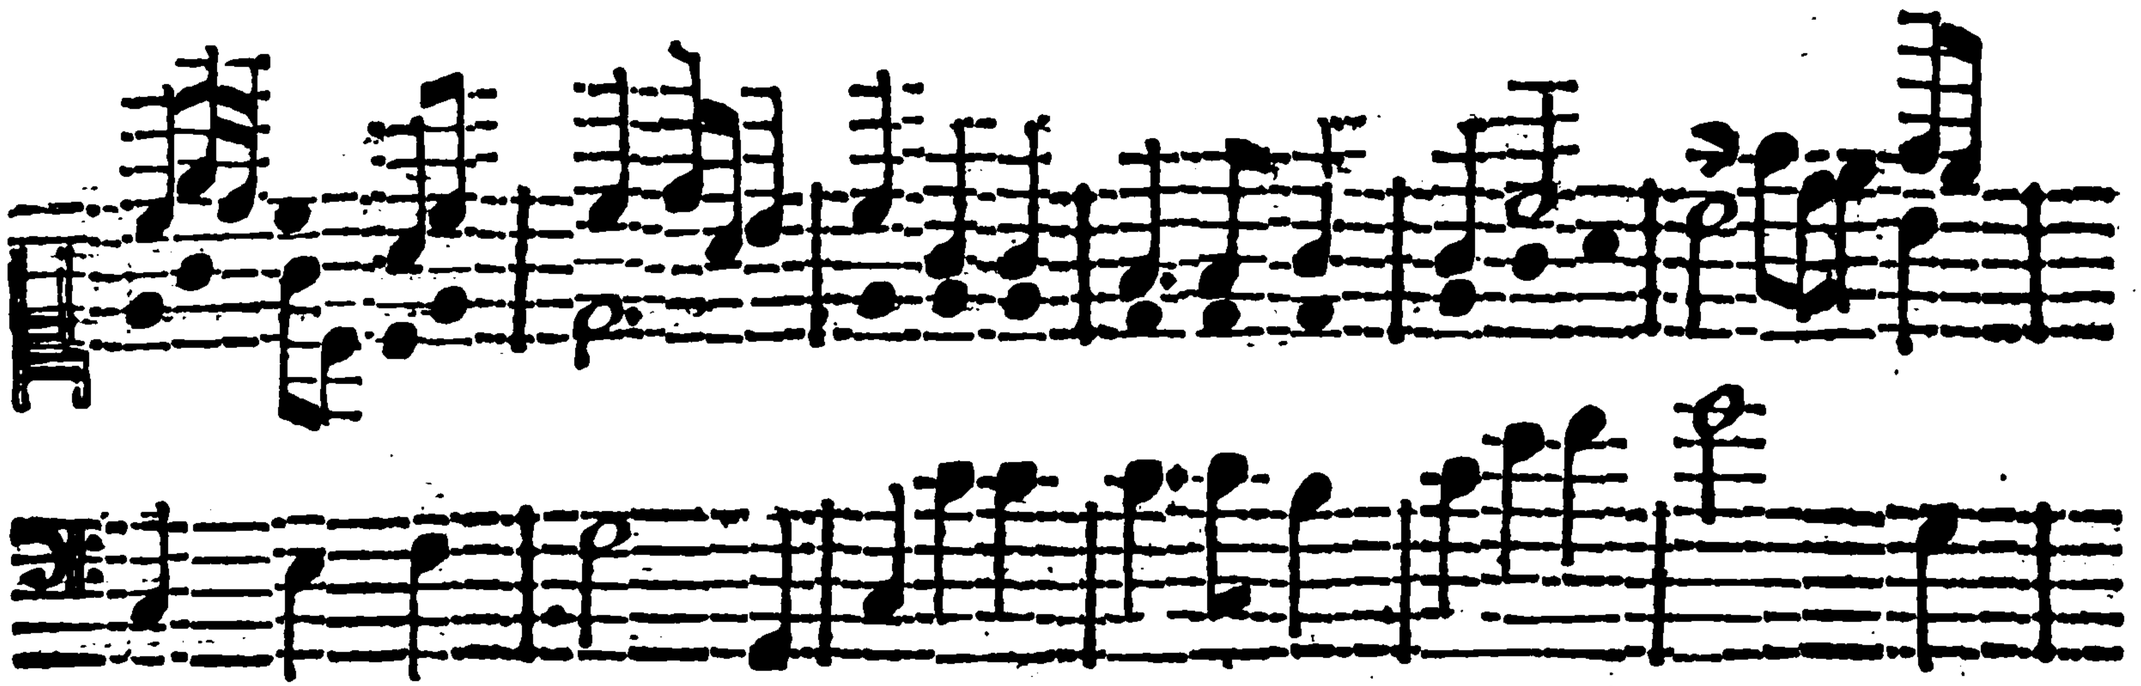

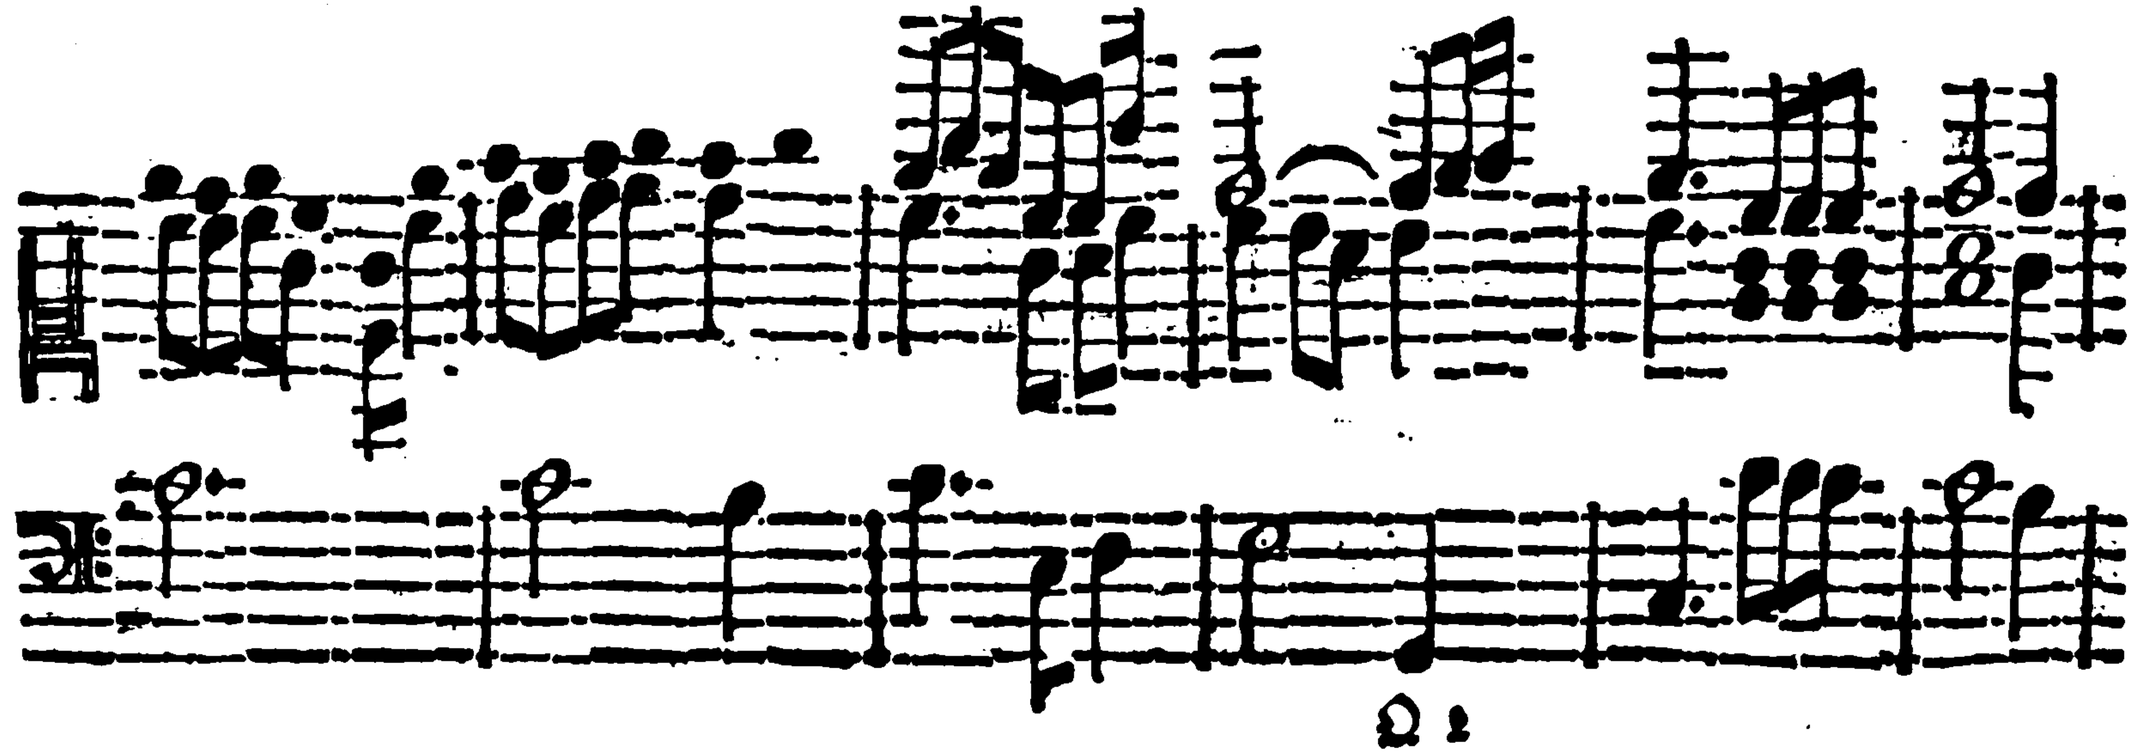

Hier könte nun das Præludium in eine Ciaccone einfallen/ als schon bey dem X. Capitel gesaget/ und im Bass-Exempel gegeben worden.

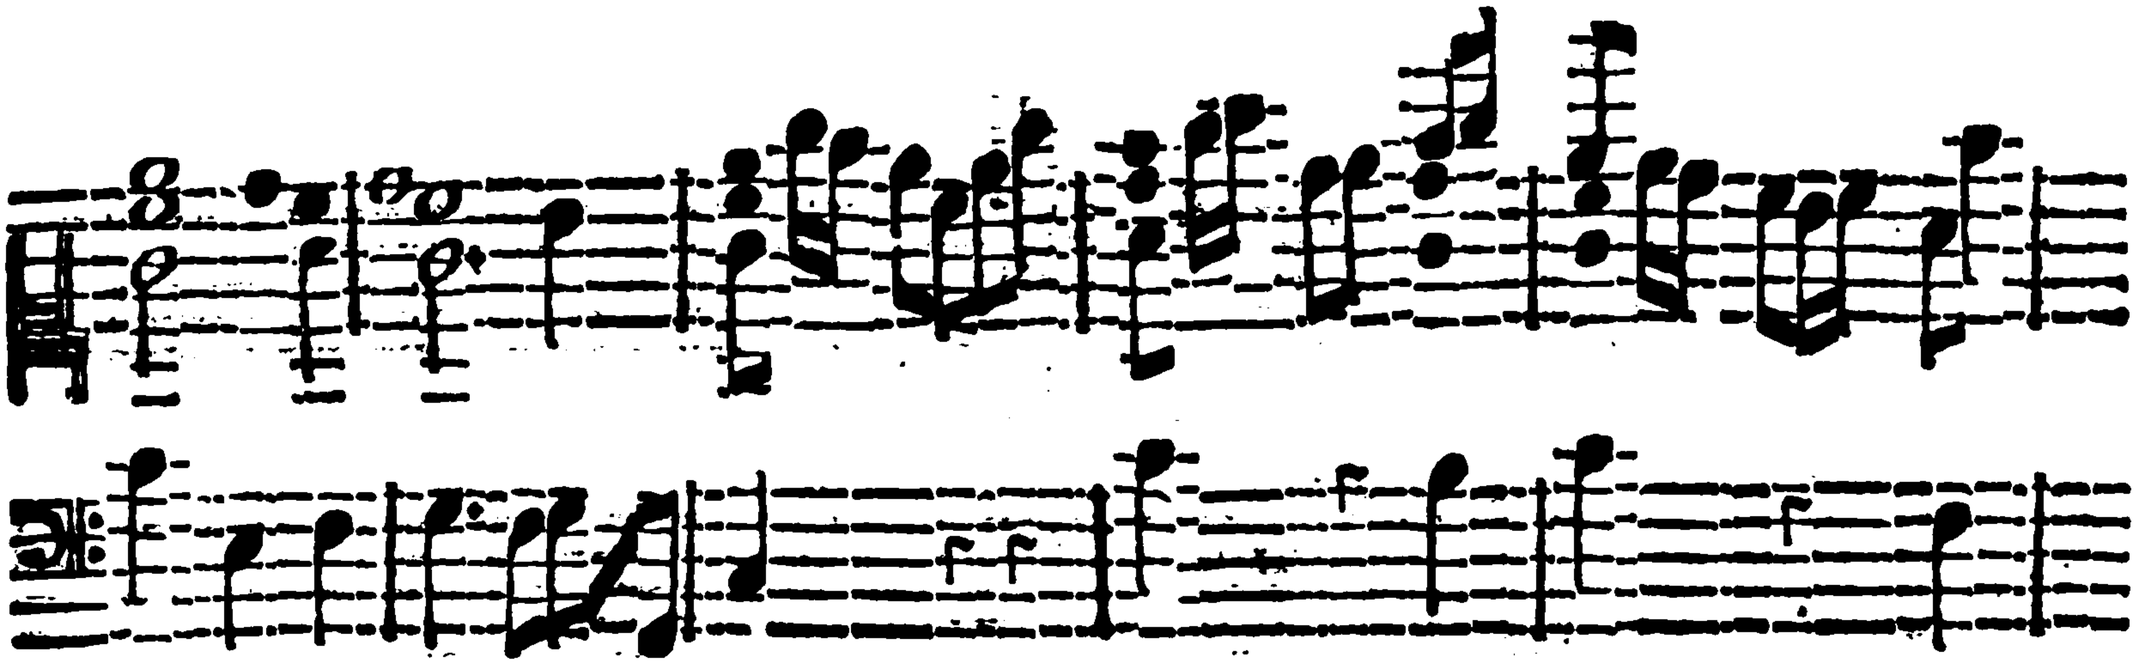

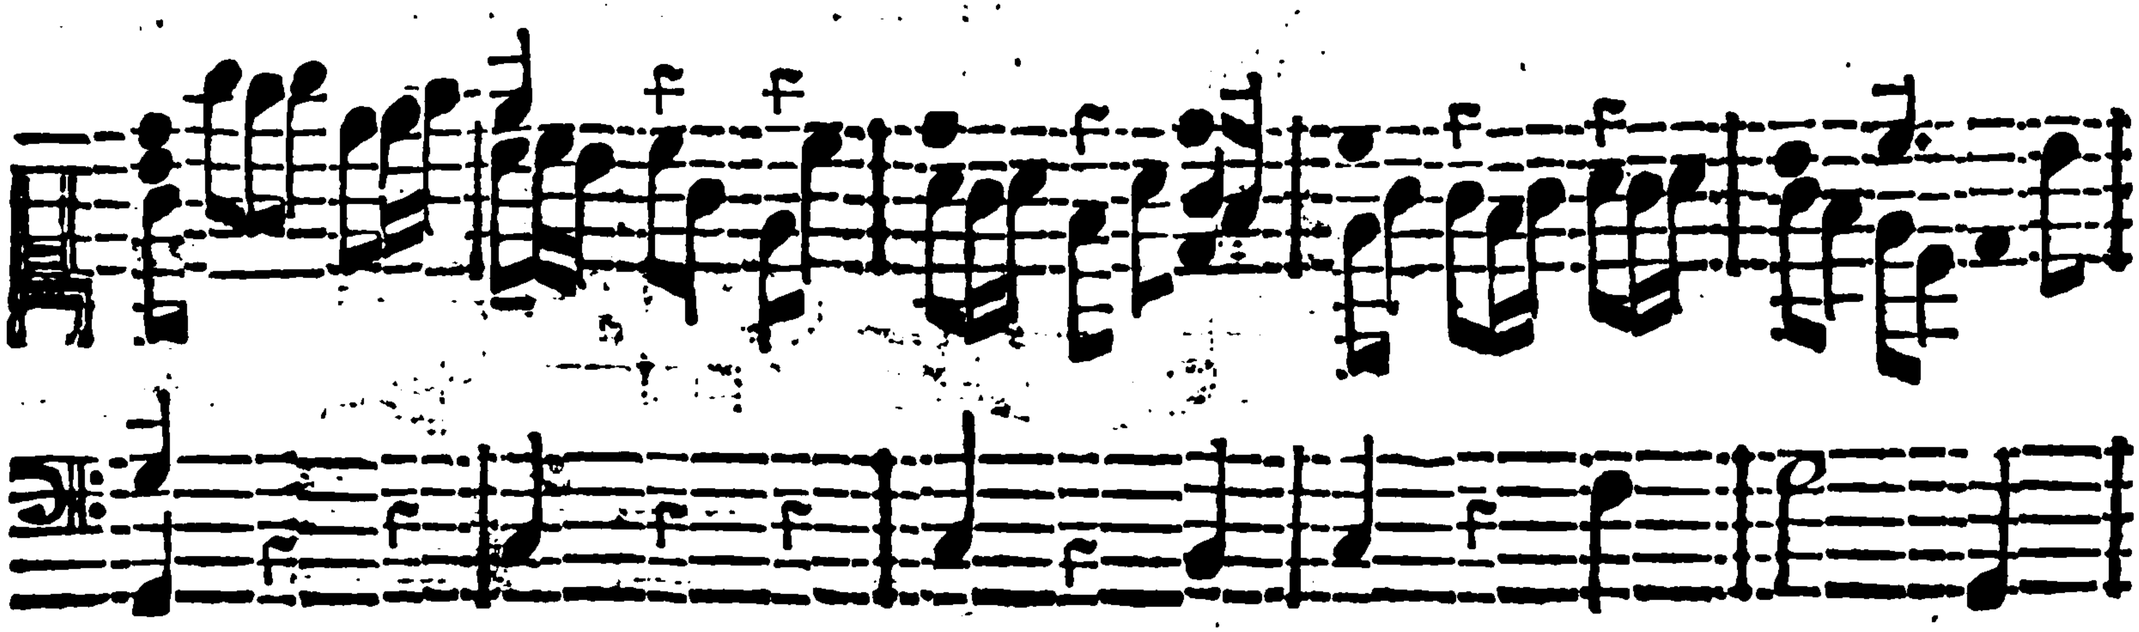

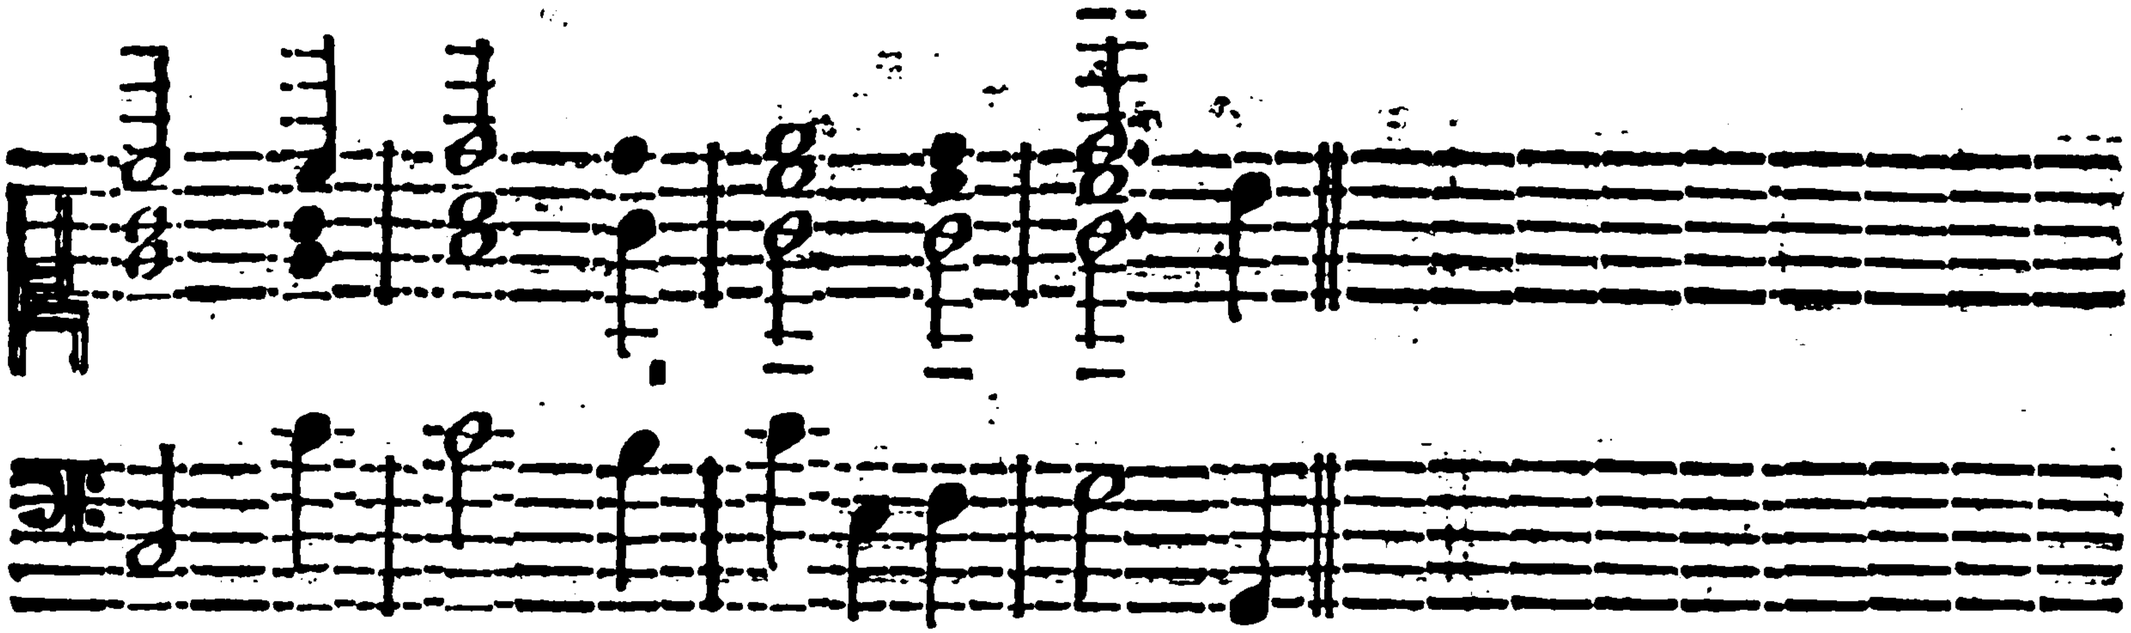

Ω 1

Trio.

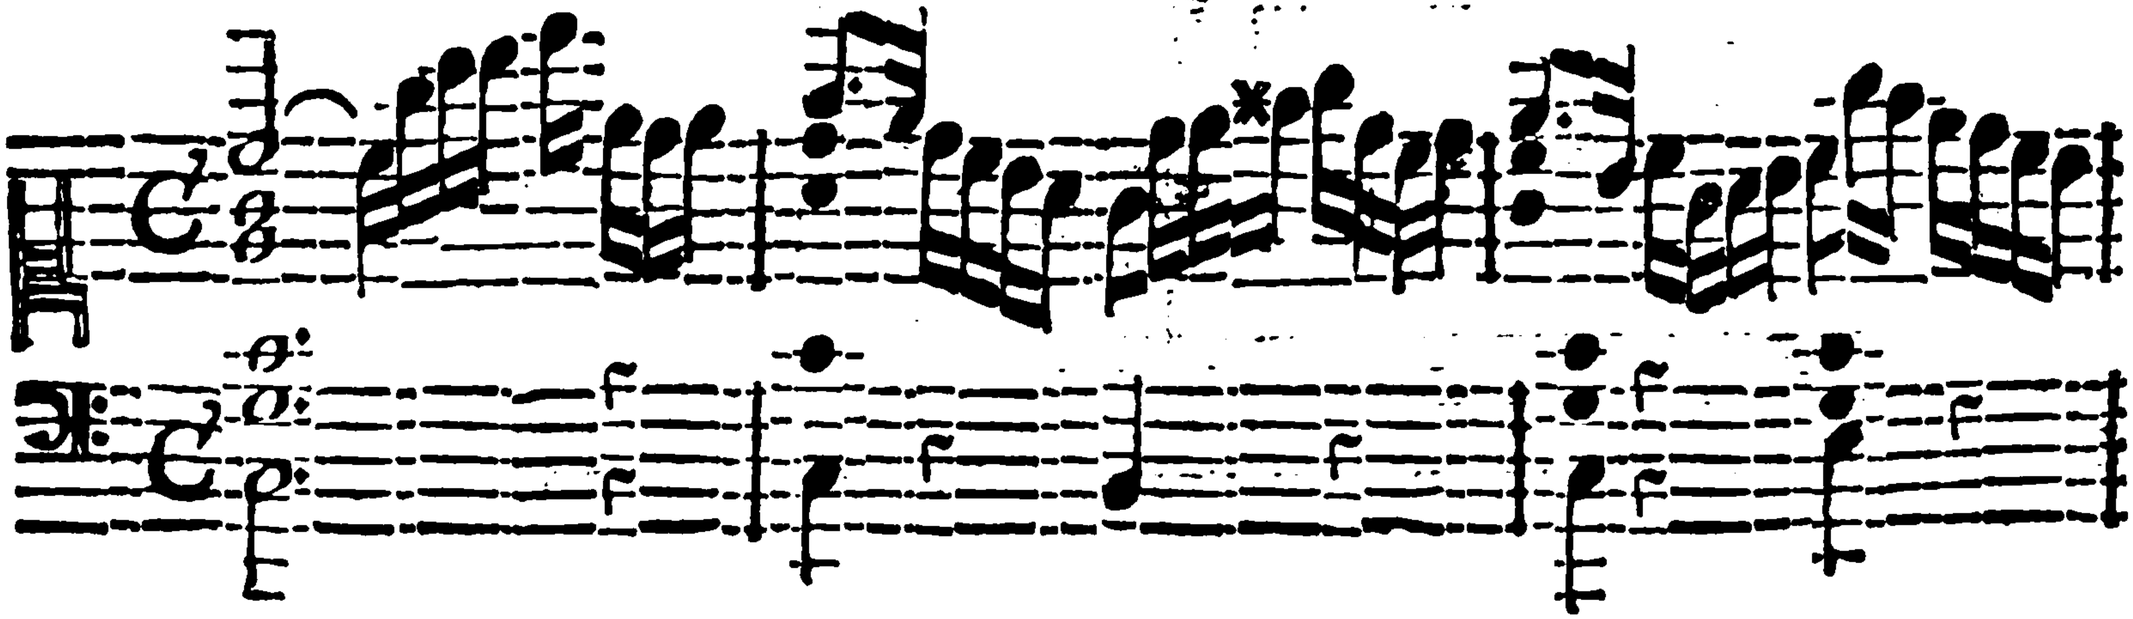

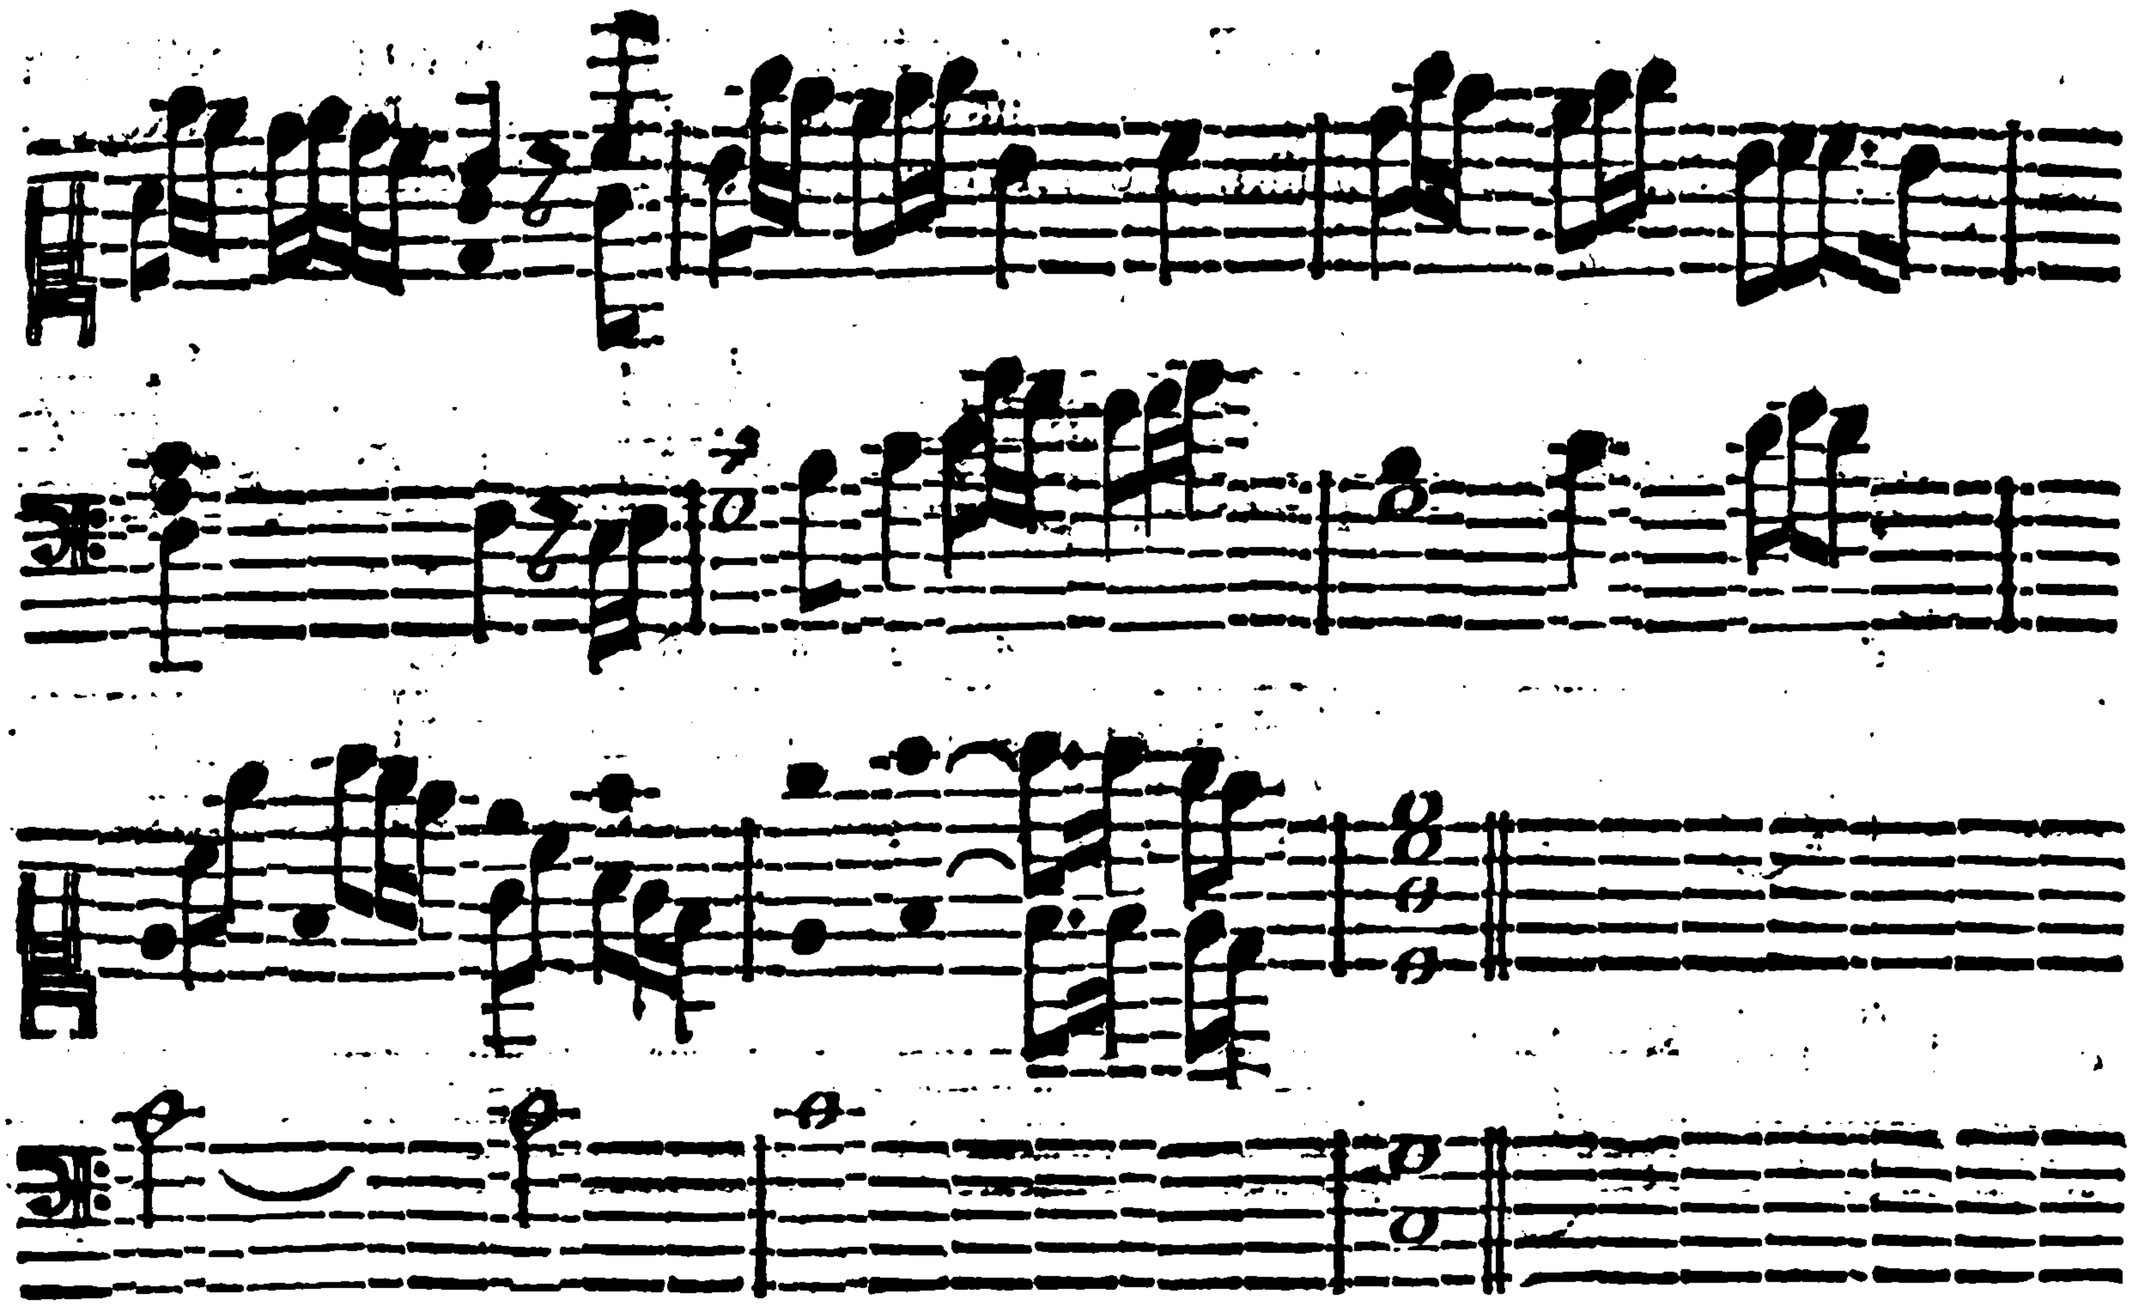

Dieſe

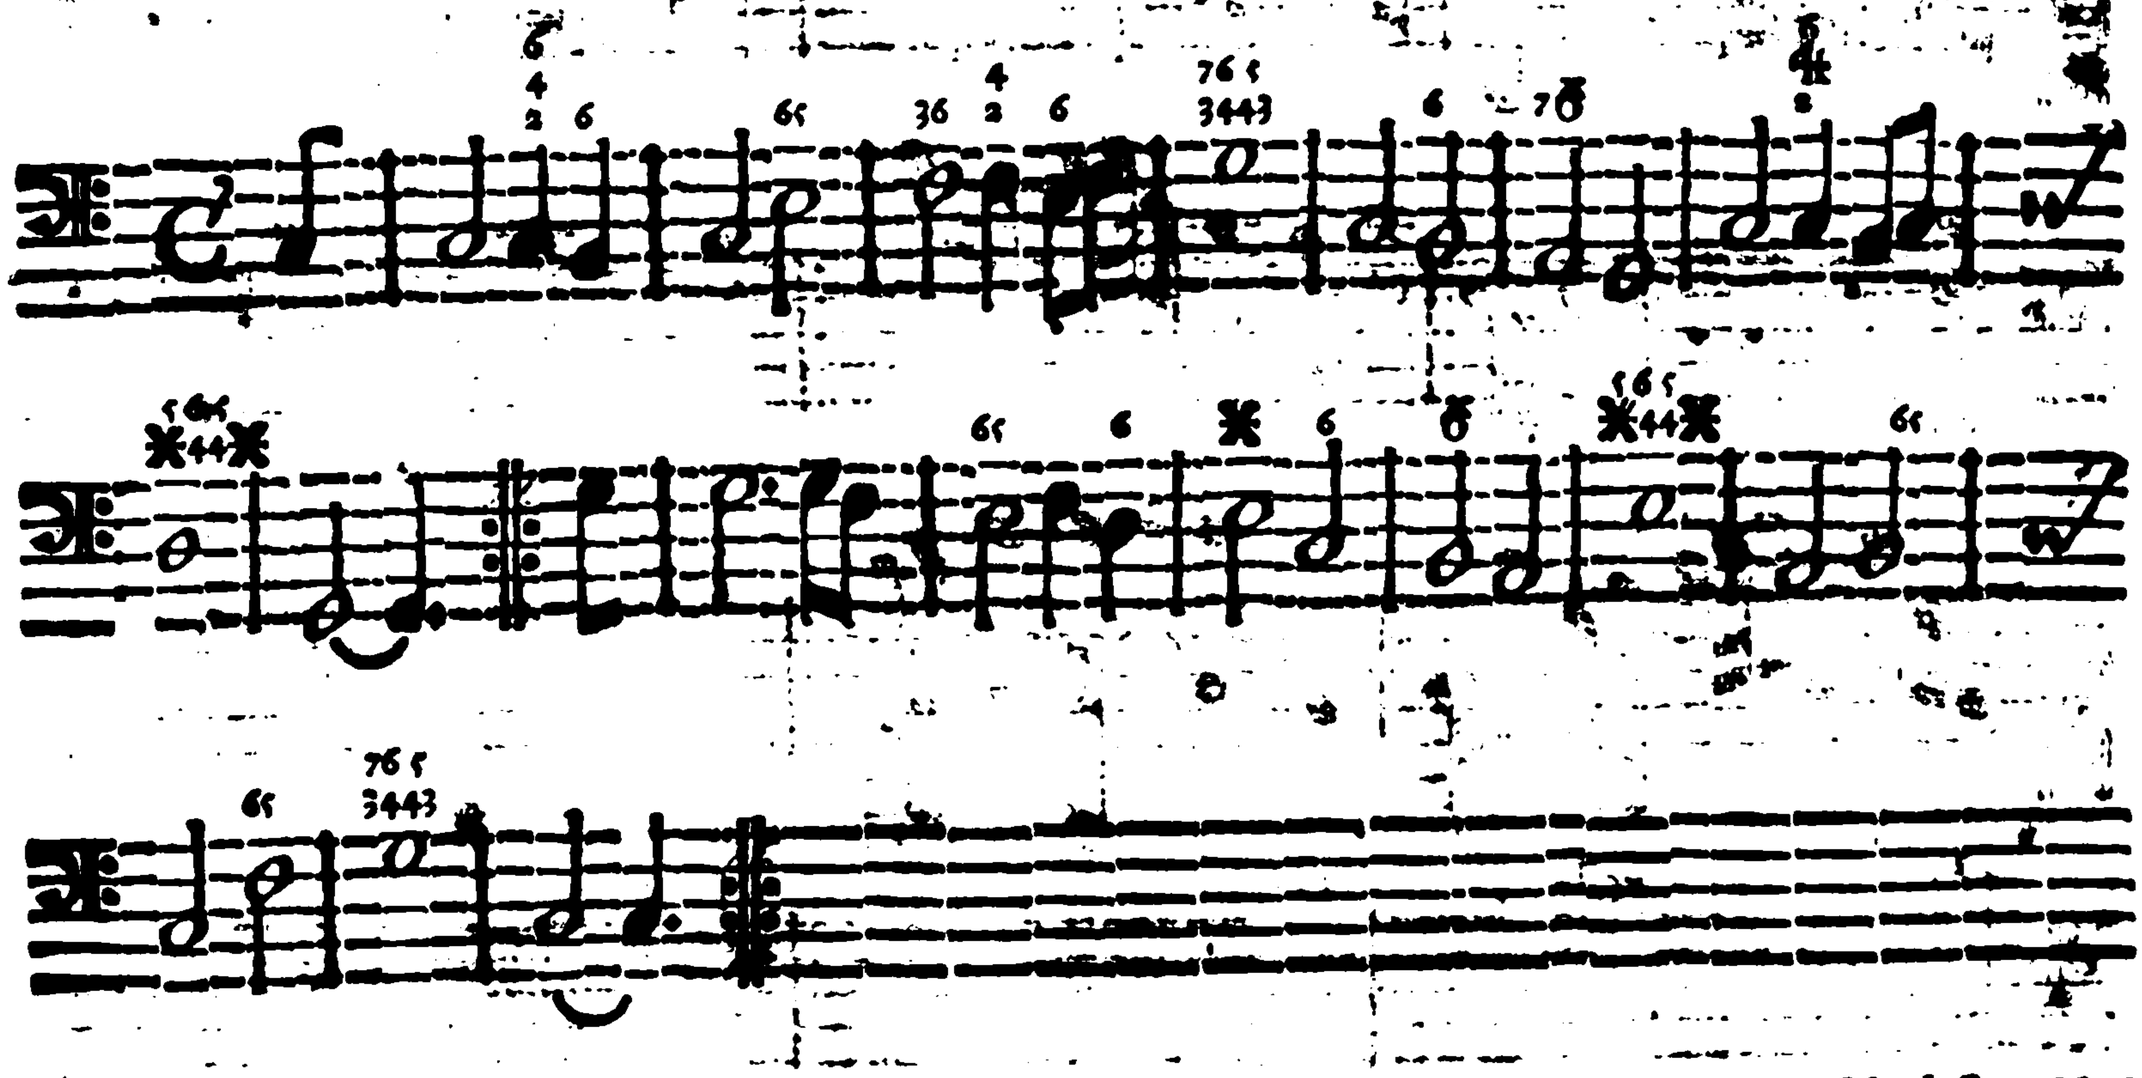

Dieſe Ciaccone kan man ſo lange tractiren/als man ſelbſten wolte. Und zum Beſchluß könnte man in ſchlechten Tact wieder einfallen/ als:

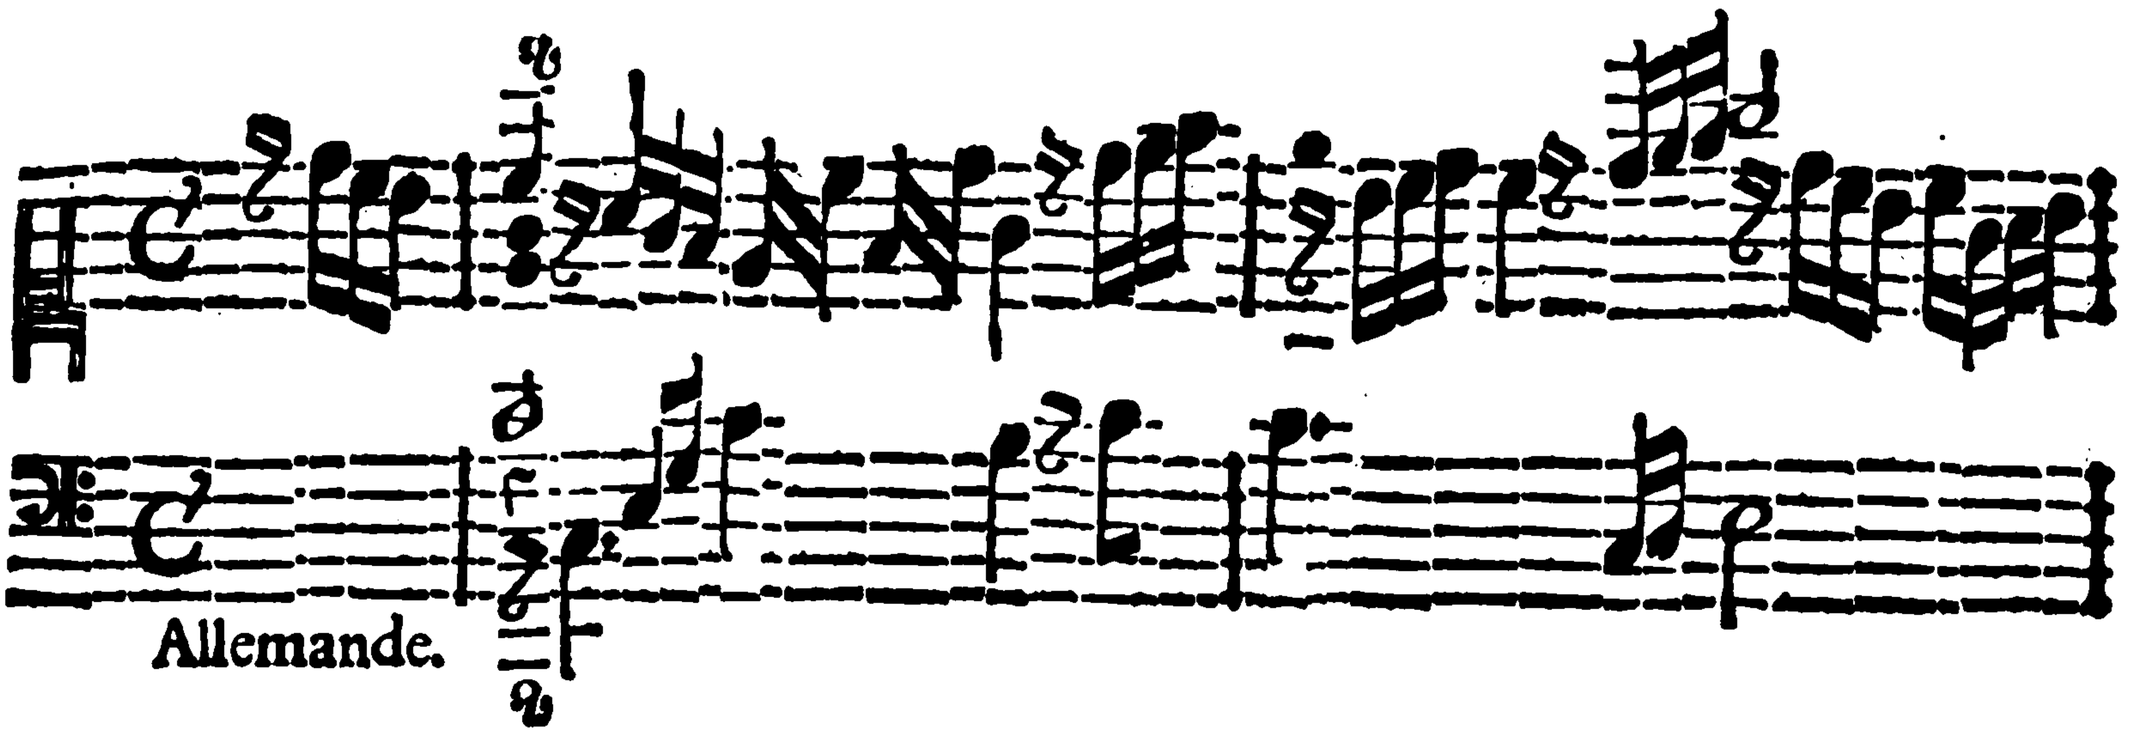

Dieſes wäre nun das volle Præludium, wolte man aus vorgeſetzten Baſs eine Allemande machen/machen / ſo müſte man ſolchen in zwey Repetitionen theilen / daß bey der erſten Repetition in die Quinte der Schluß würde; als der Bals iſt aus C / ſo würde der Schluß der erſten Repetition ins G. NB. Dieſes iſt bey allen zu obſerviren / wo zwey Repetitiones ſeyn.

Wolte man nun eine Allemande daraus machen / ſo muß derſelben Art wohl obſerviret werden / als:

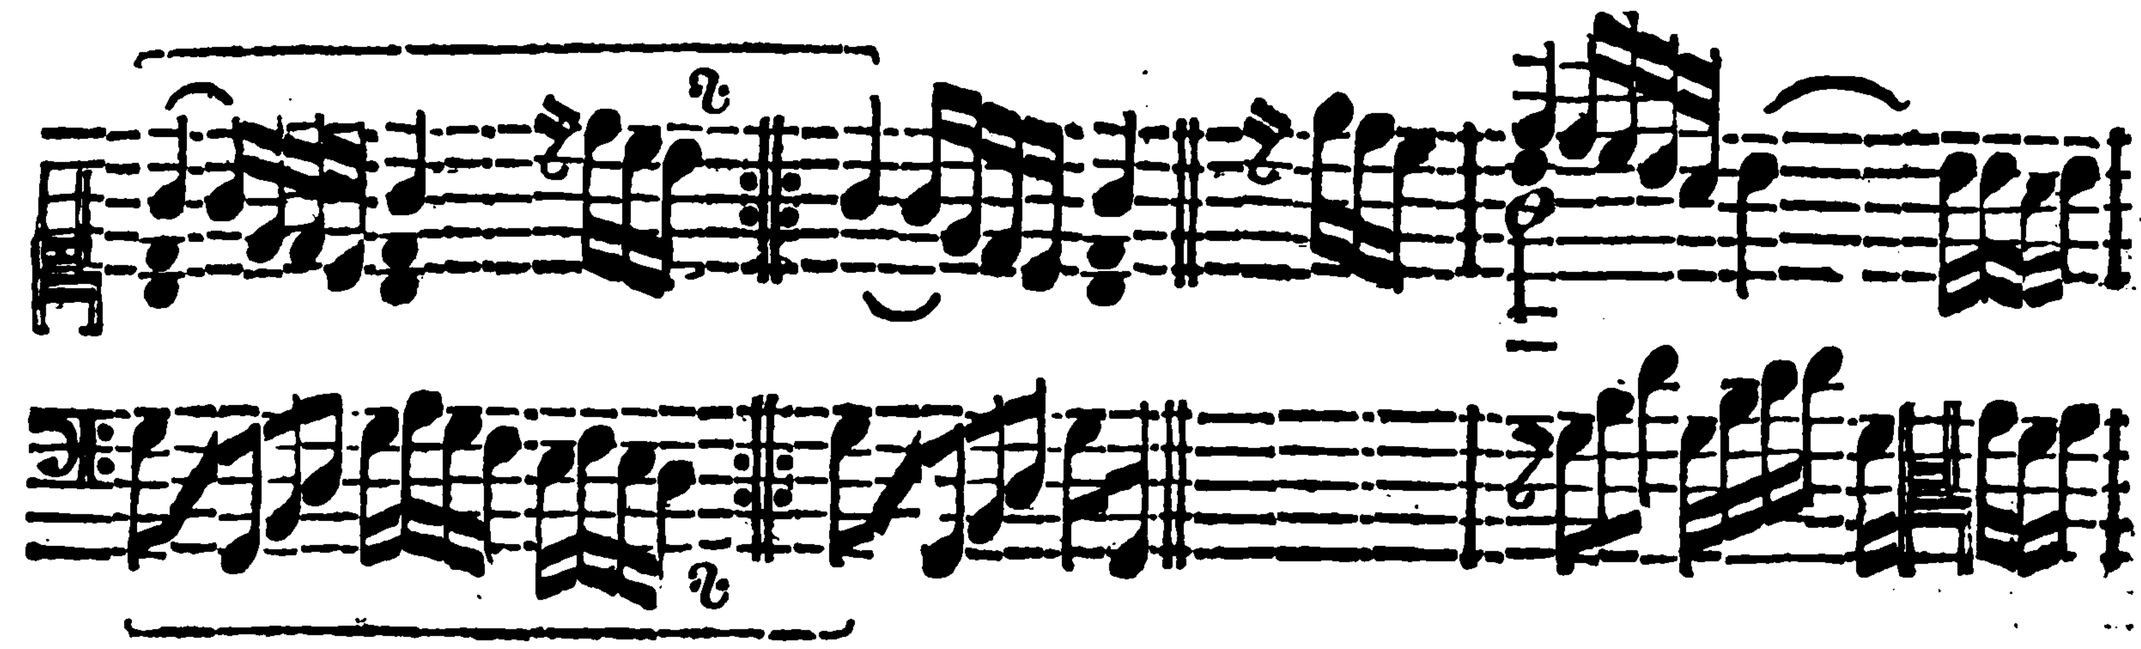

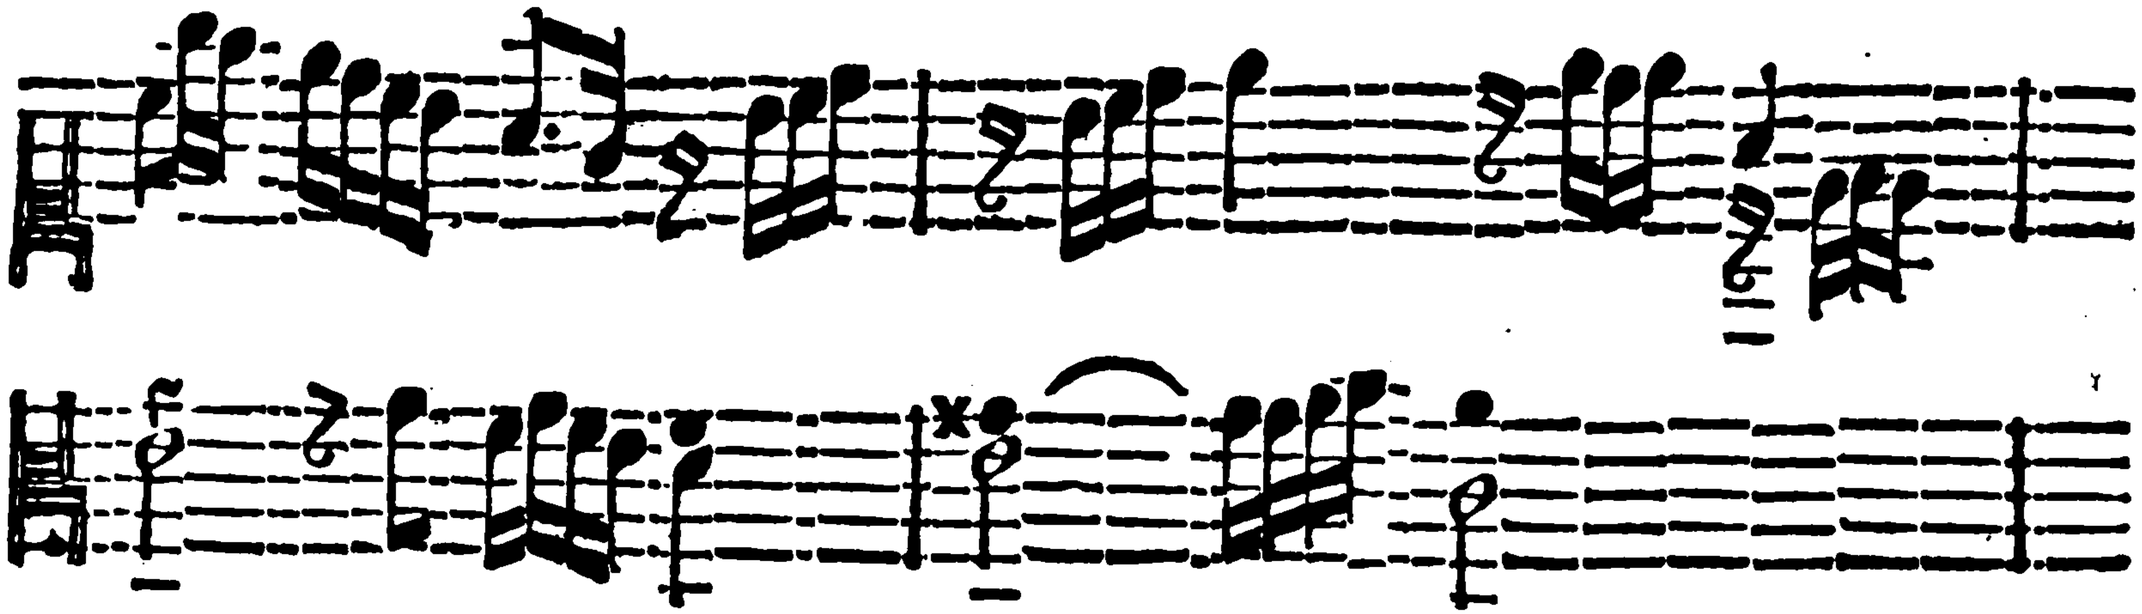

Allemande.

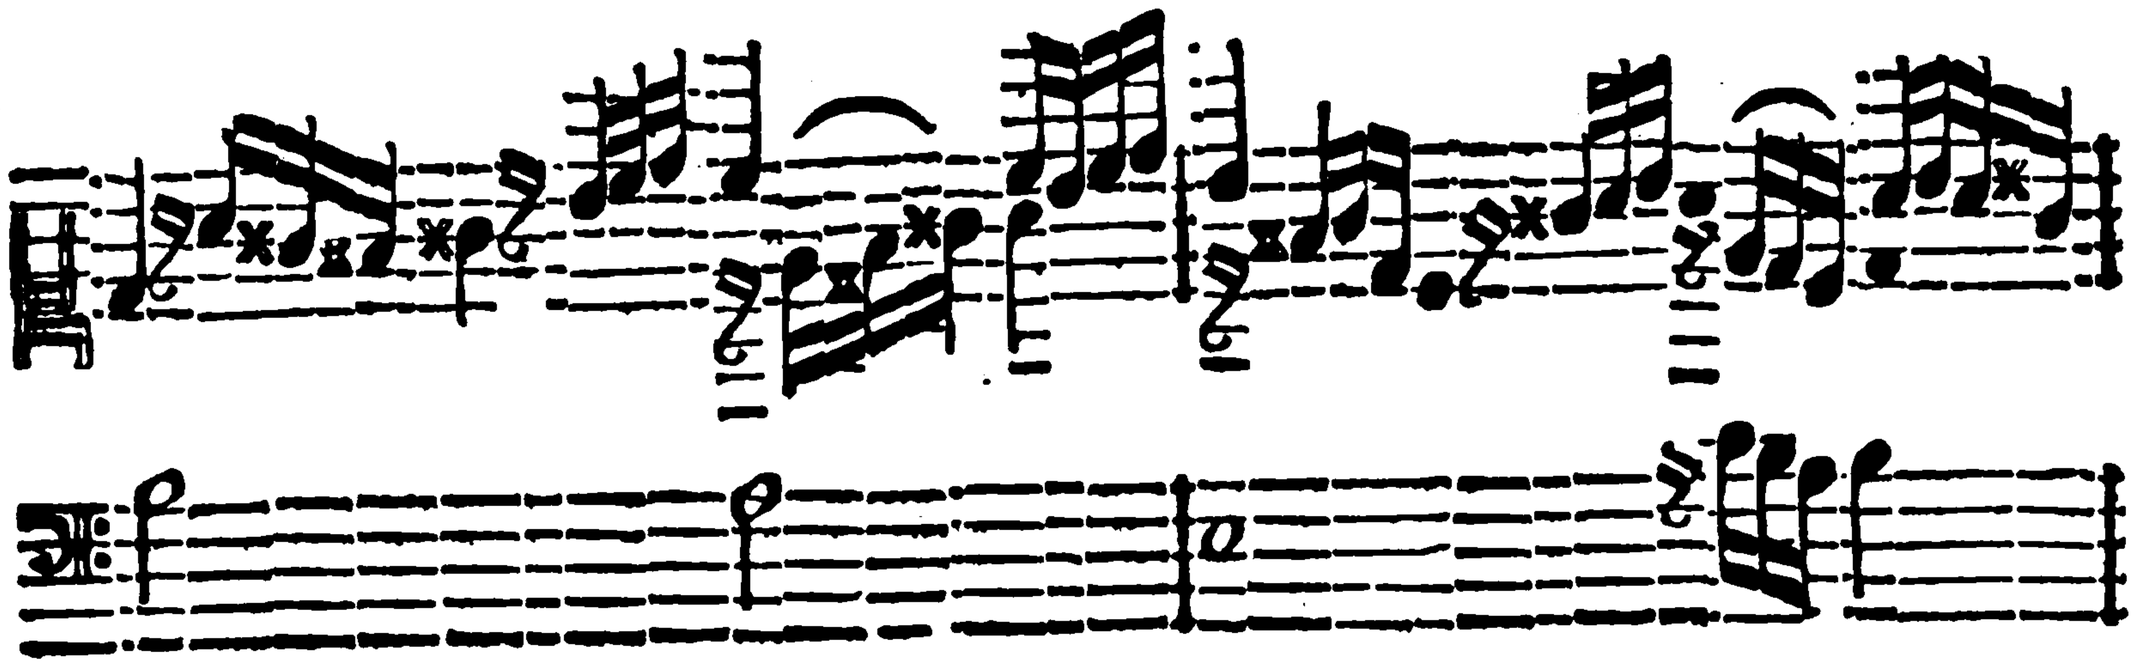

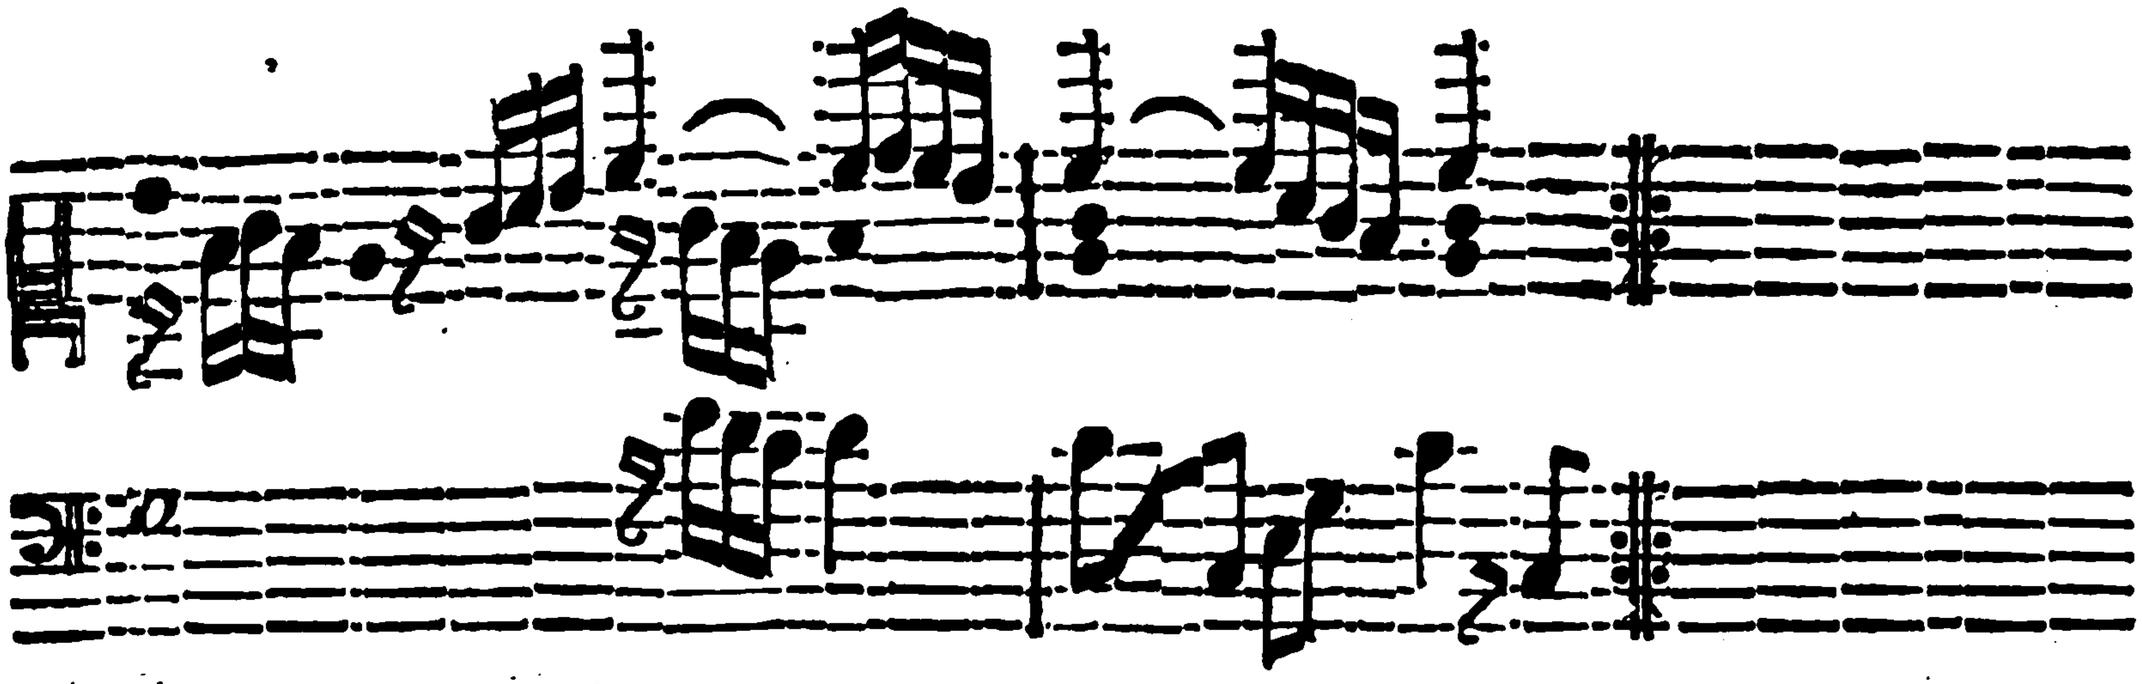

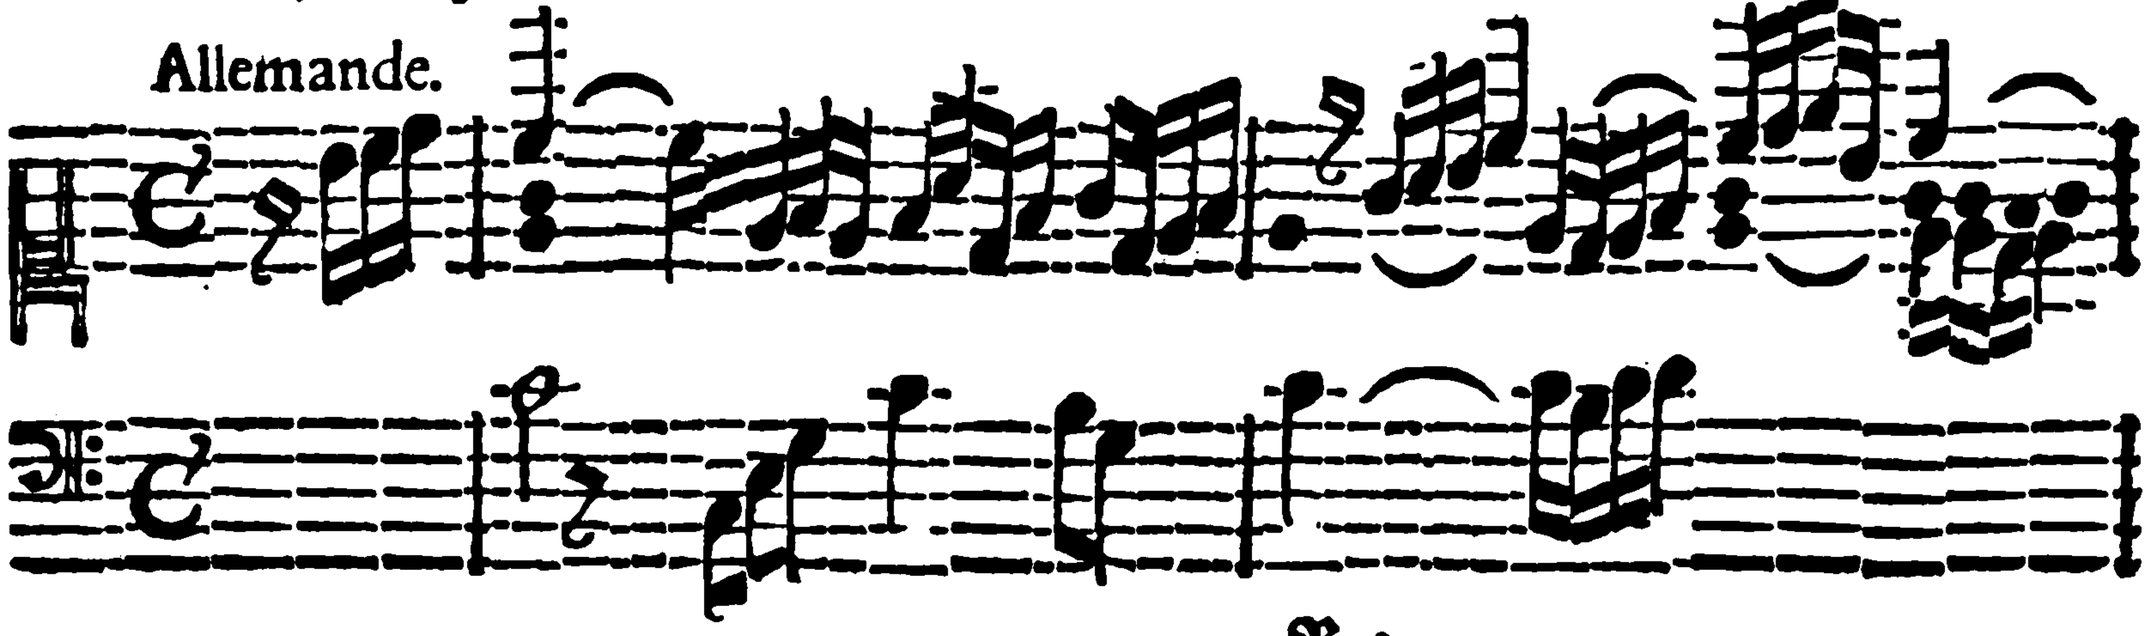

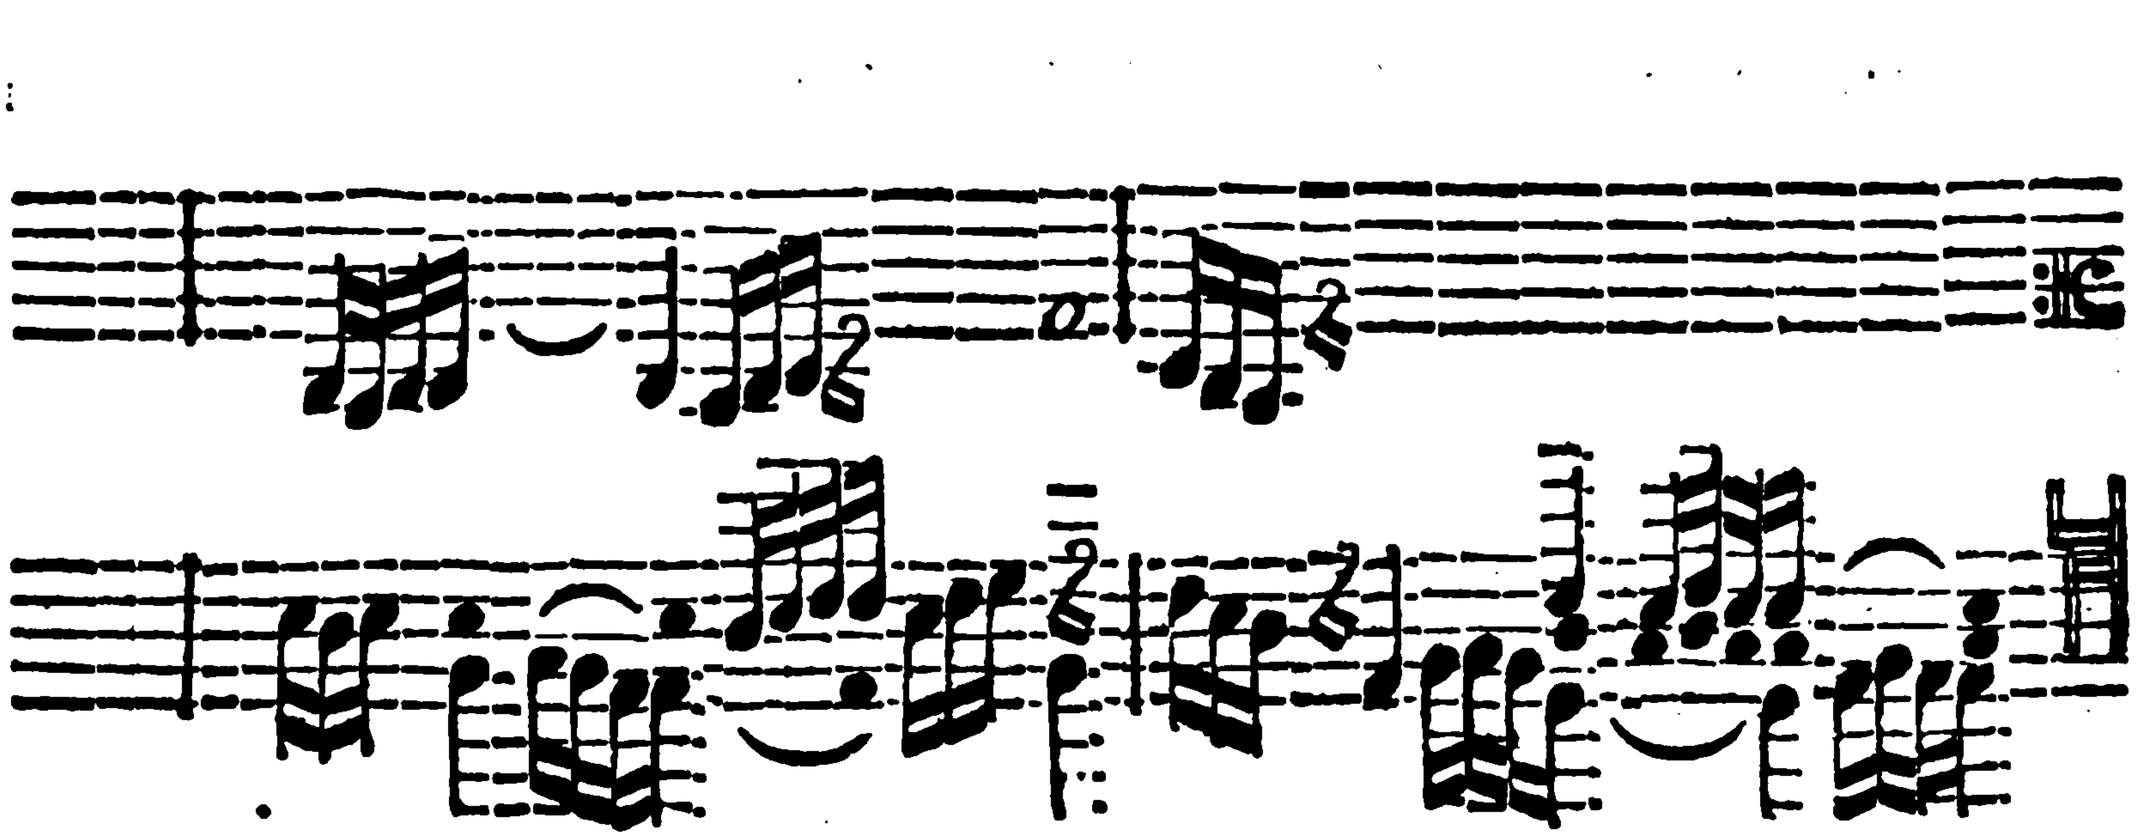

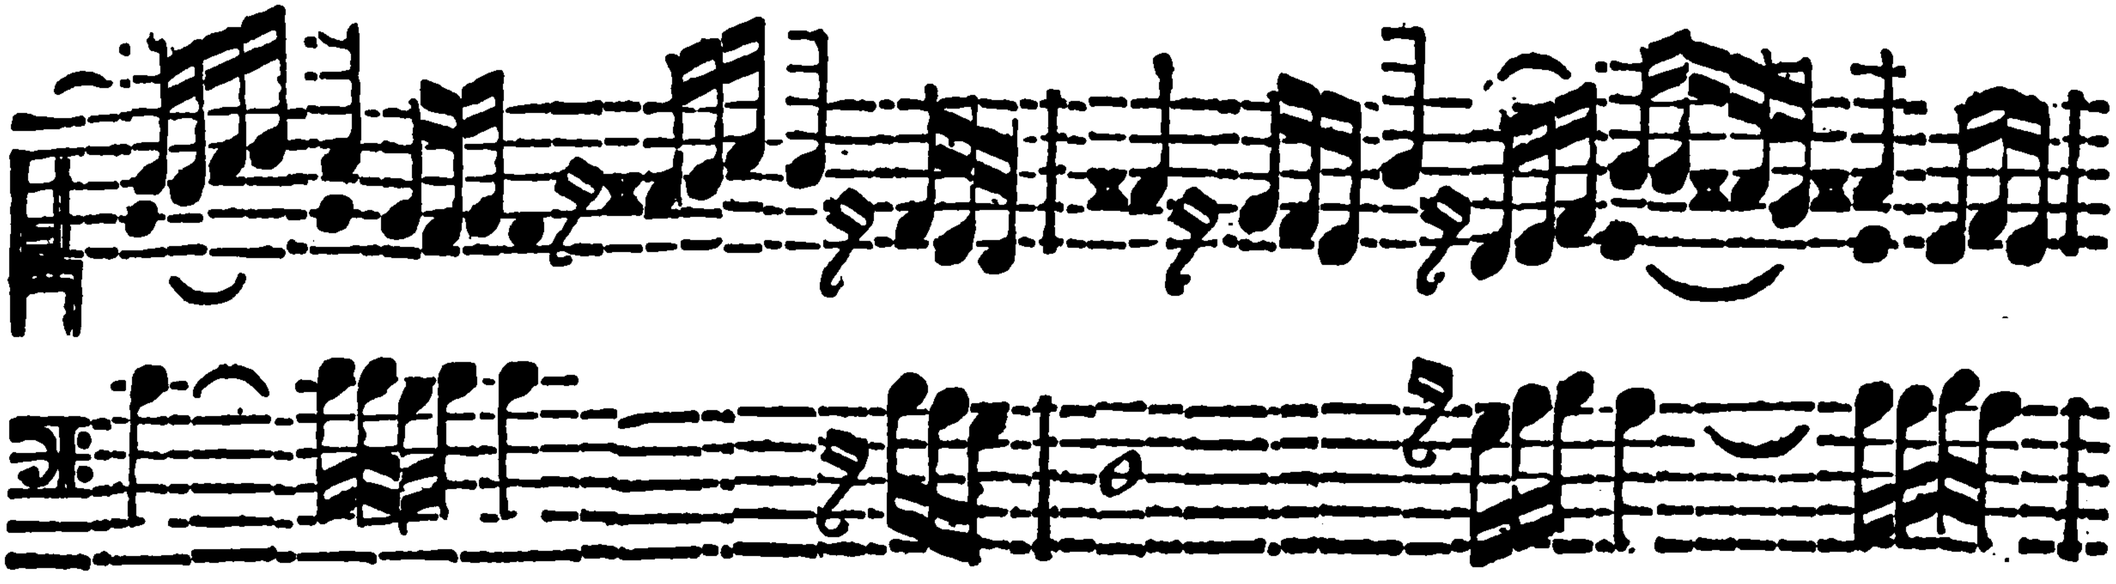

Aus vorigen Bas kan man gleichfalls noch eine andere und wol hundert Allemanden machen; Zum Überfluß ſoll noch eine hierbey geſetzet werden / den Bas aber unverändert / ſoll uns abermahln darzu dienen.

Allemande.

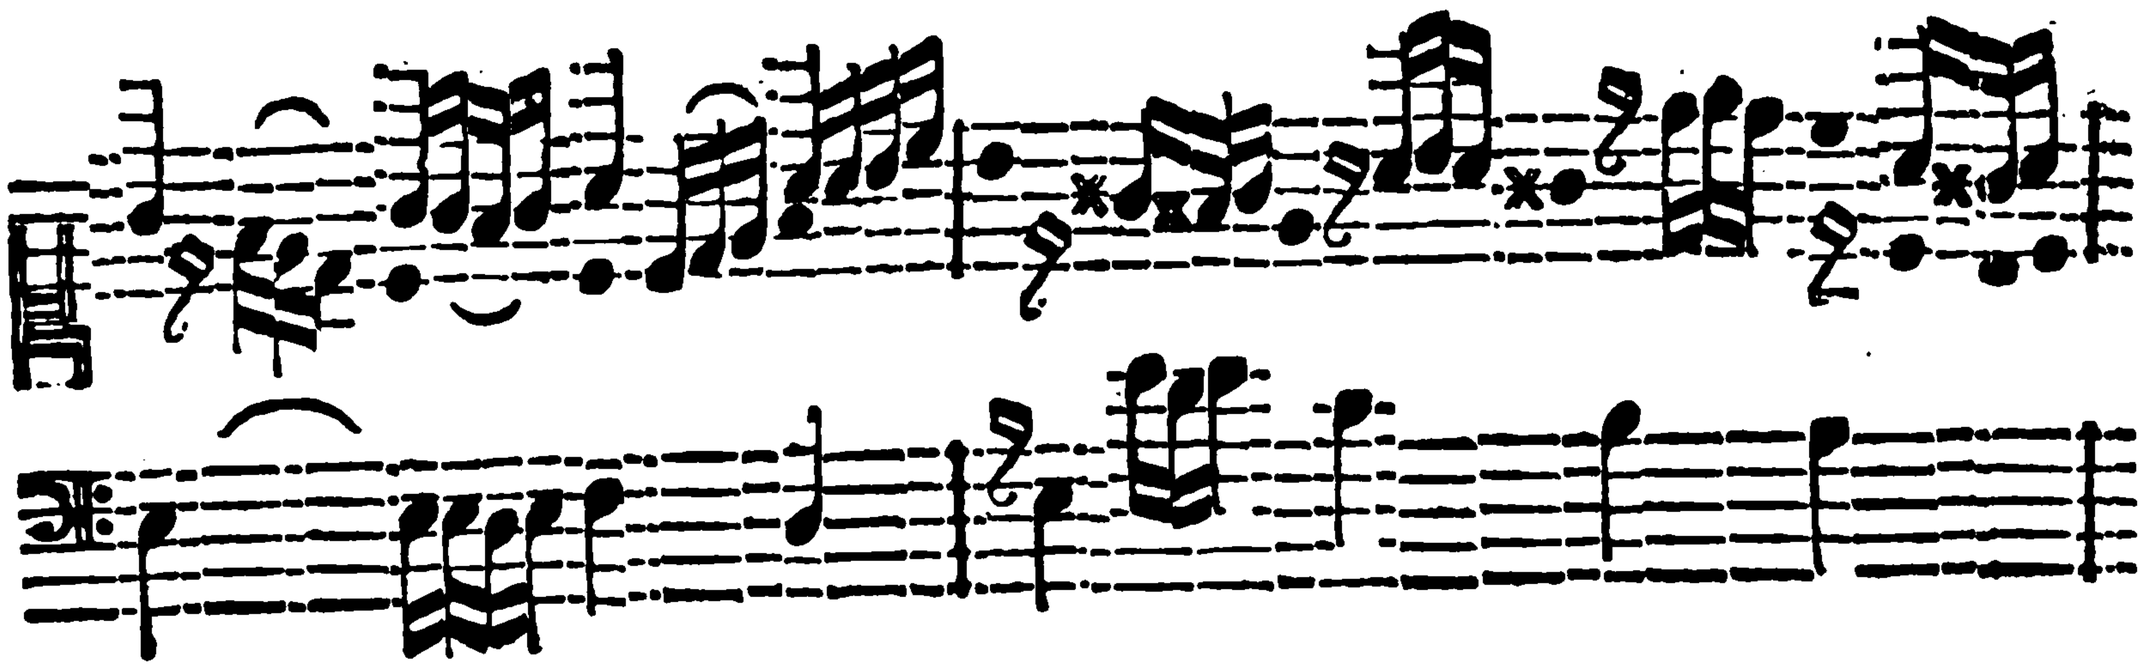

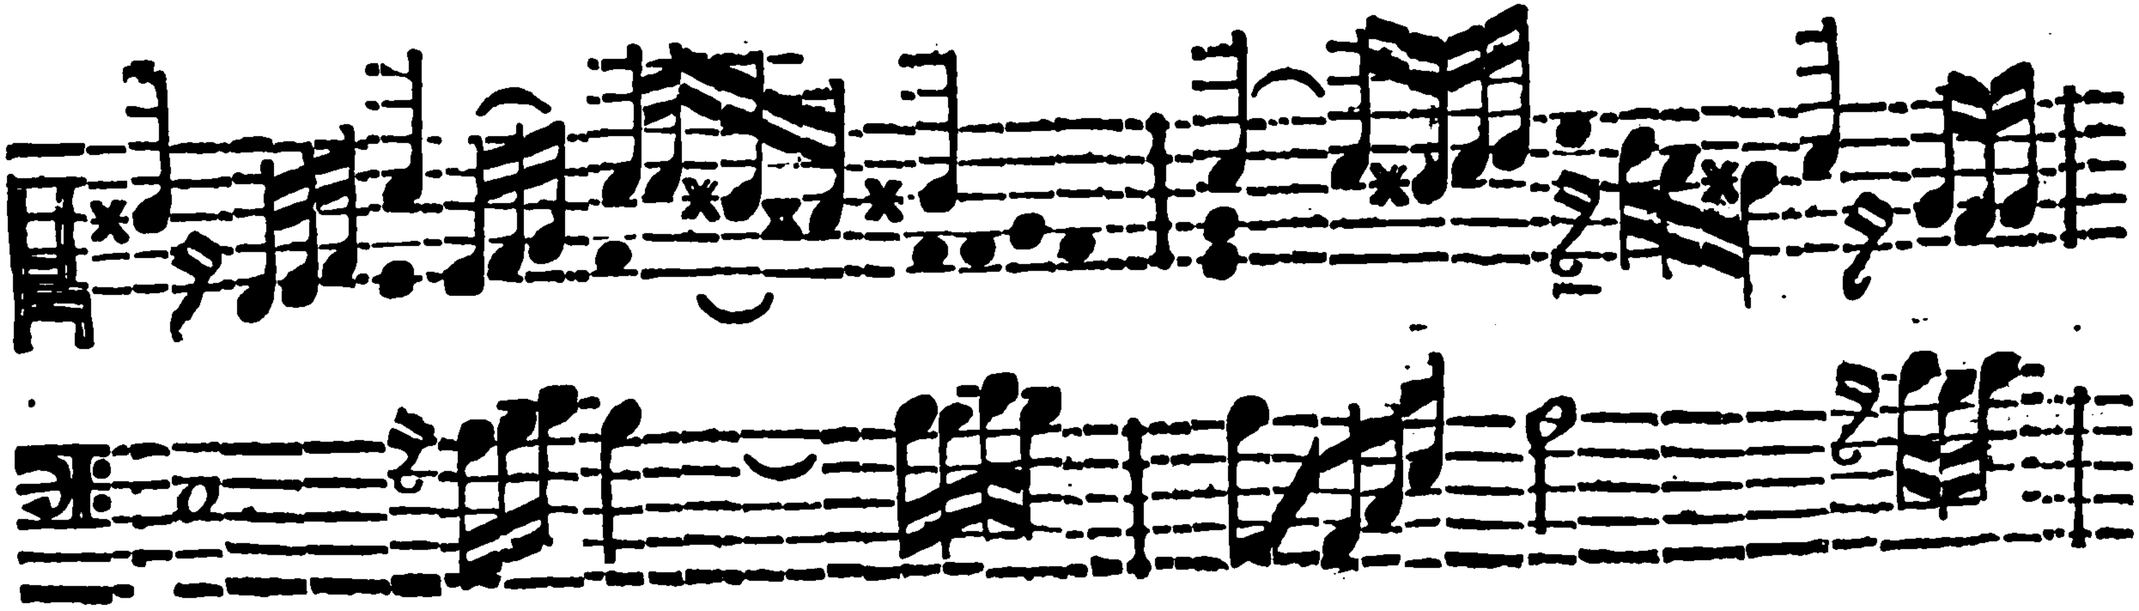

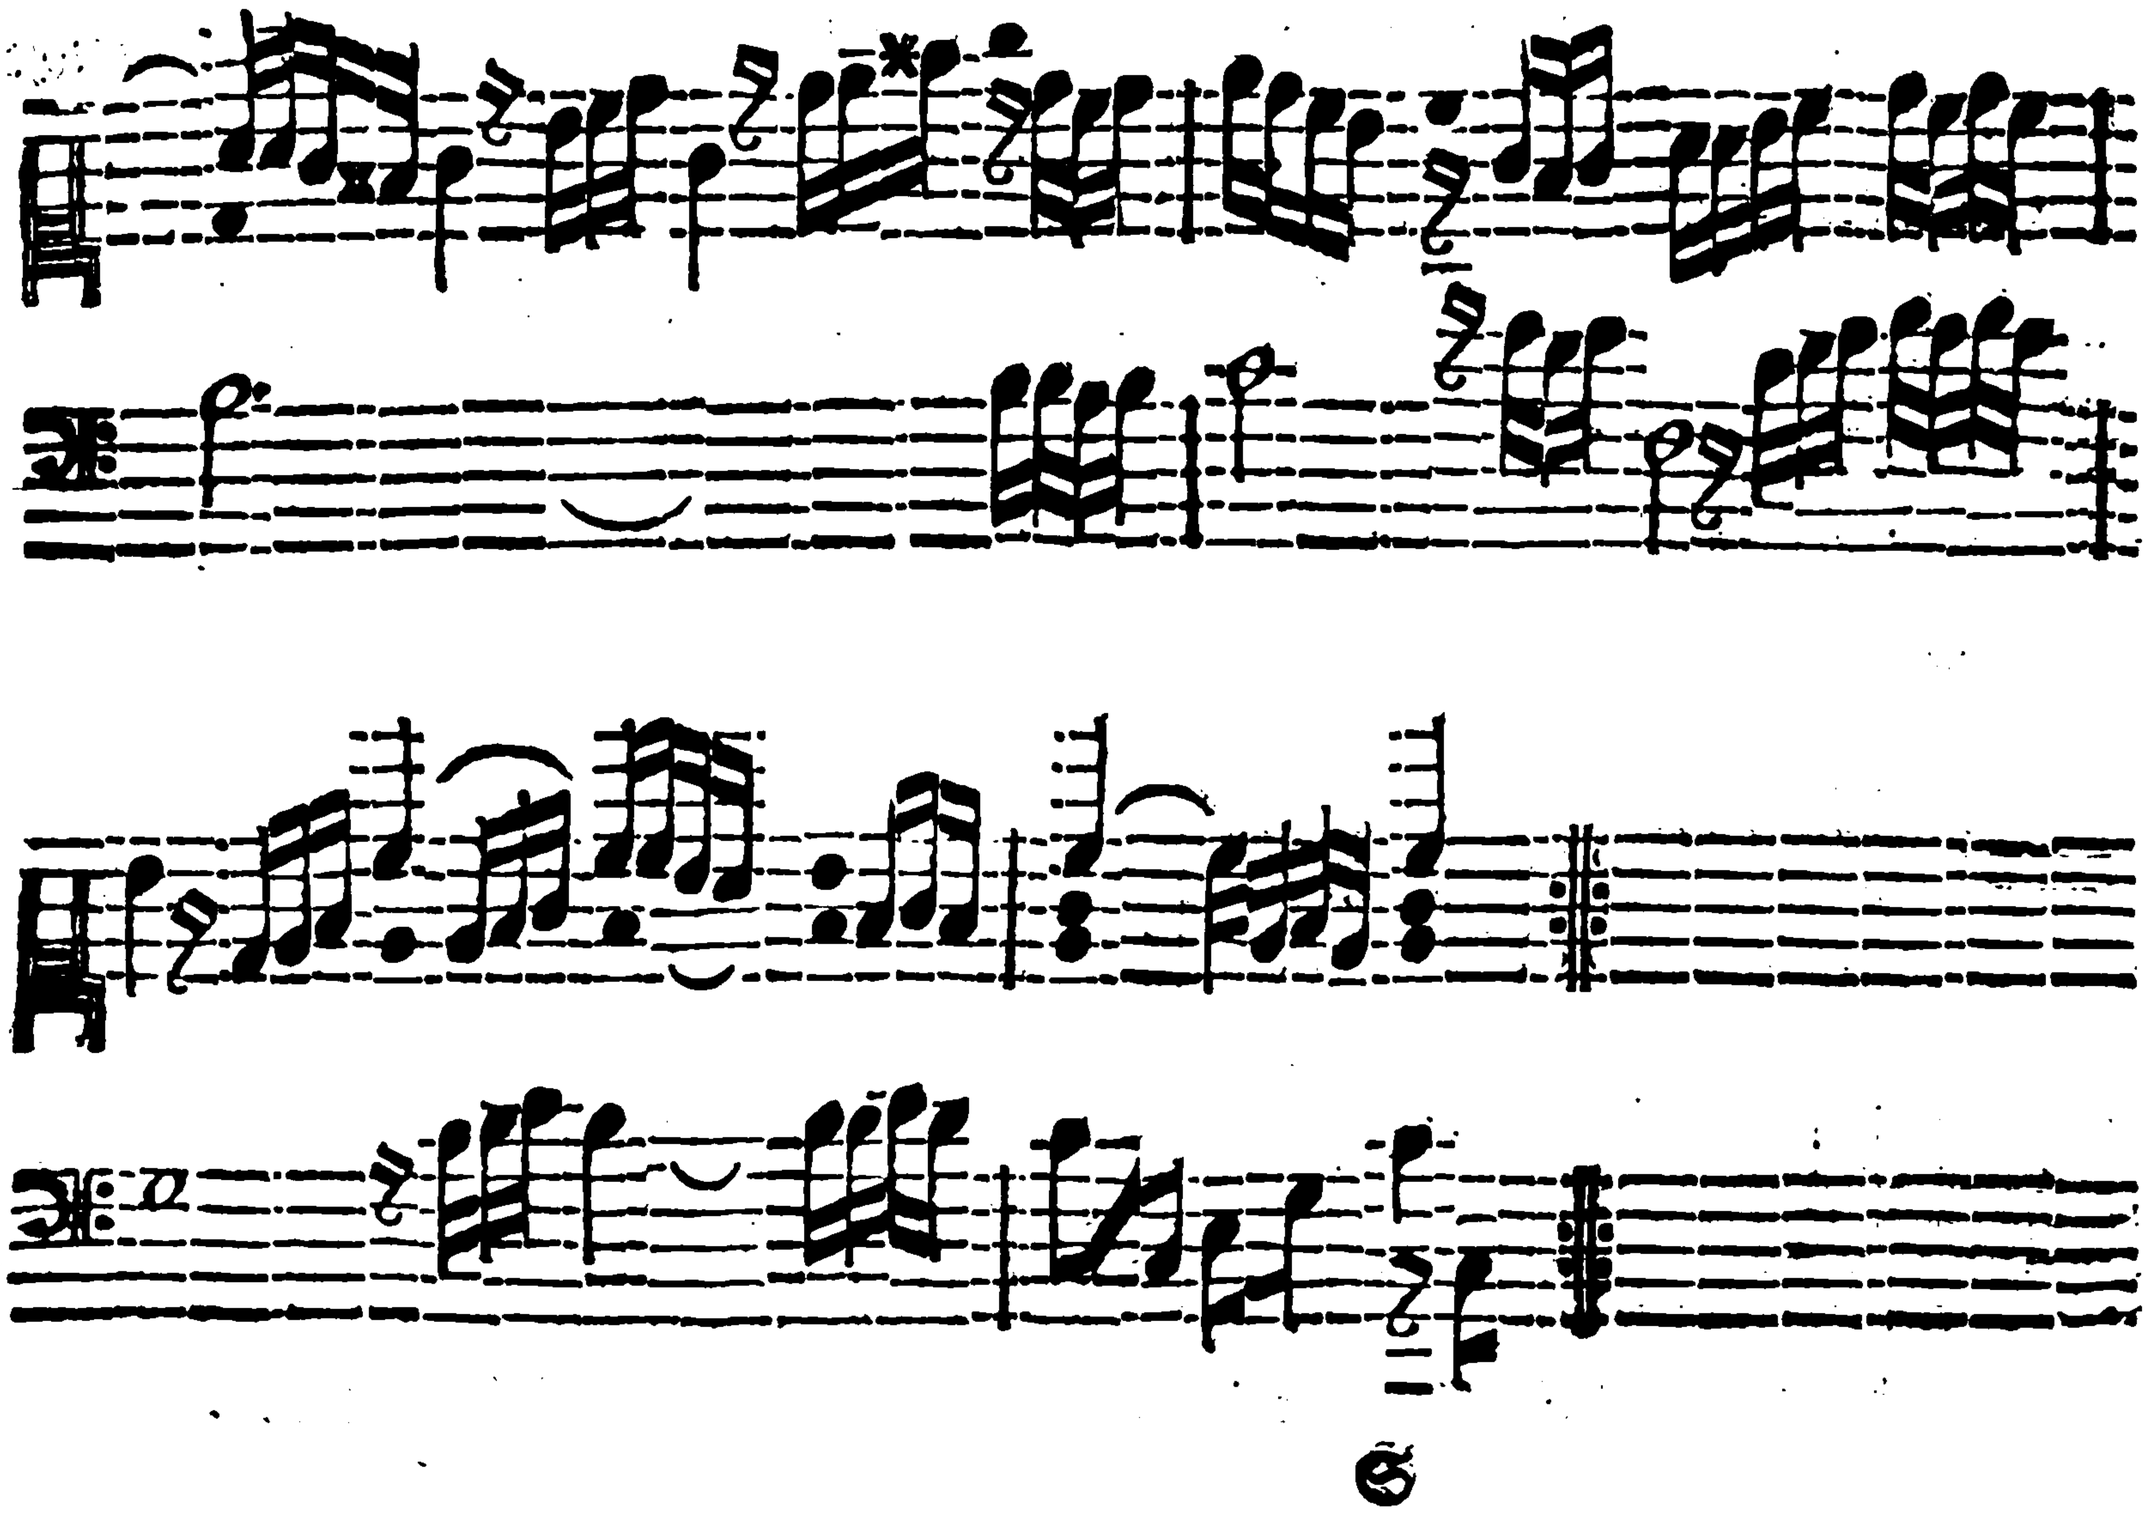

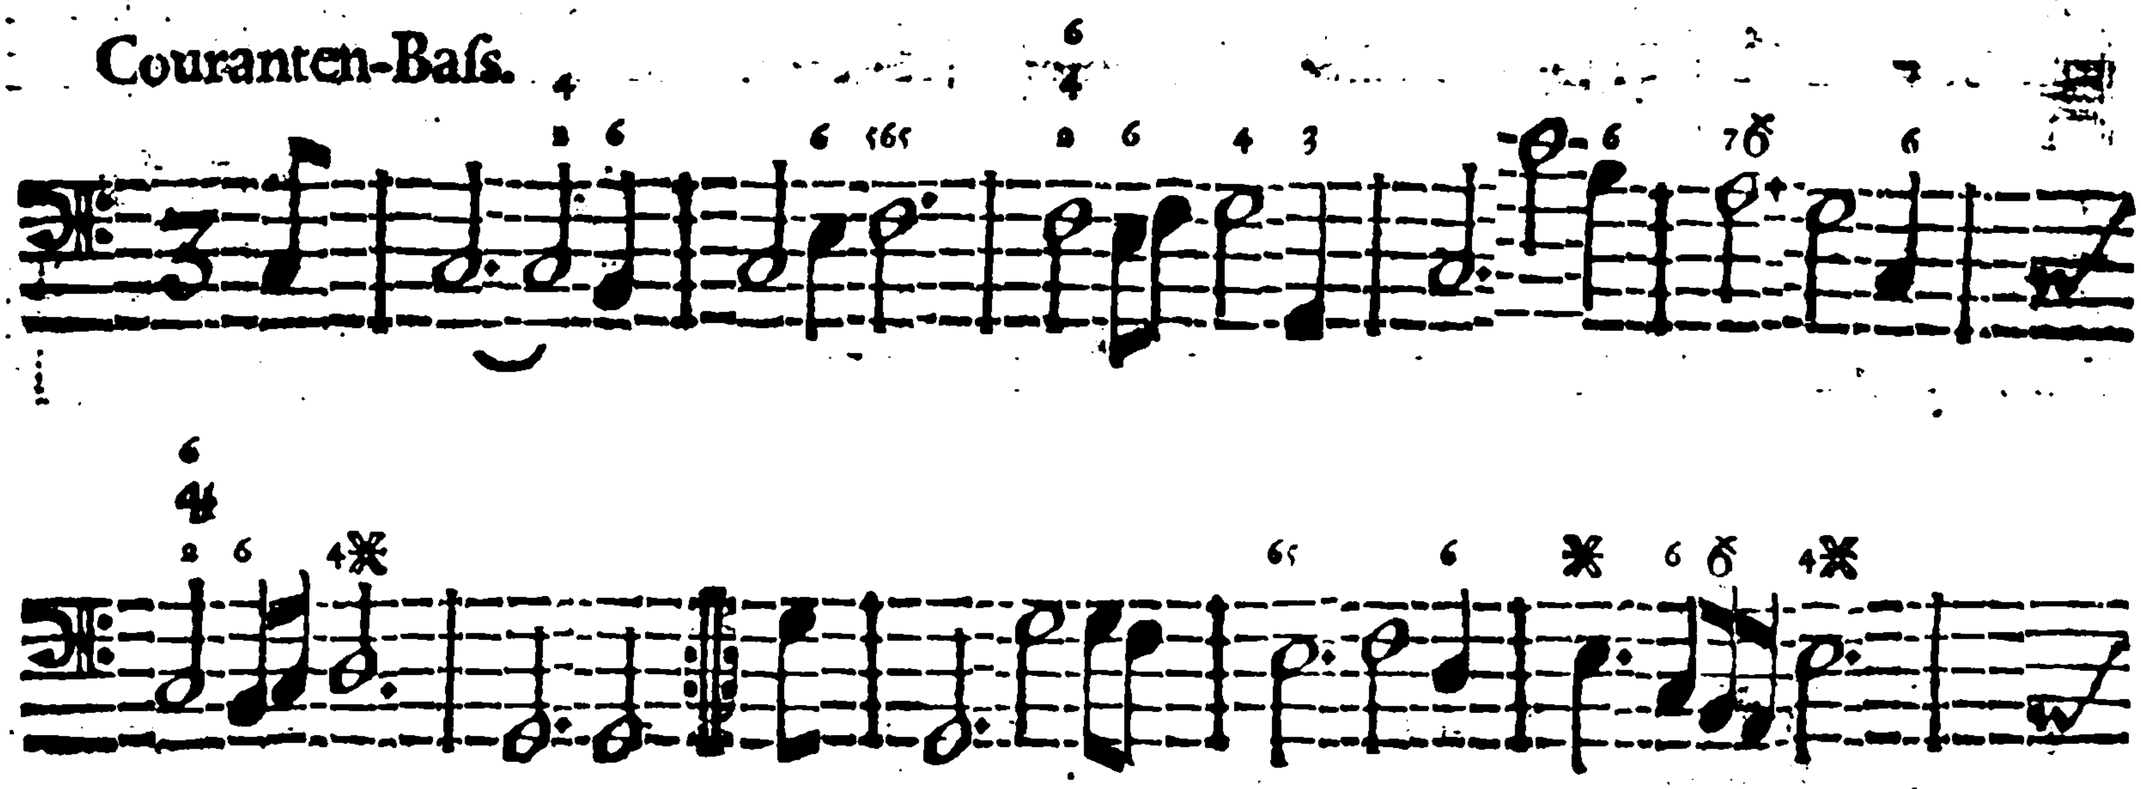

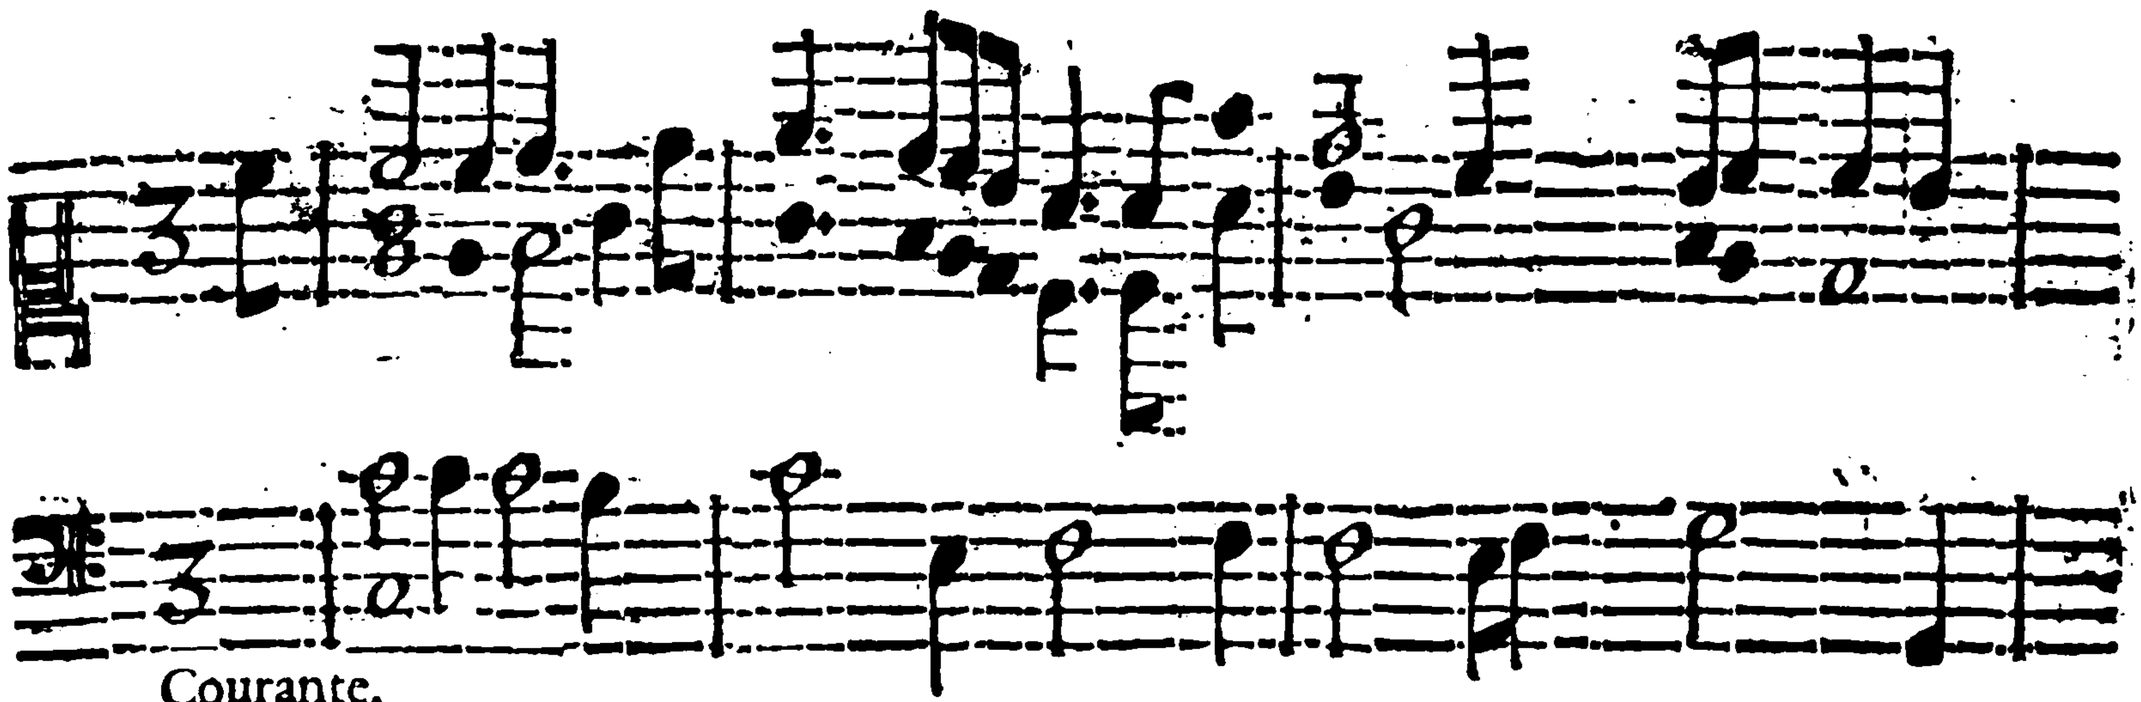

Aus der Allemande entſpringet die Couranten, wollen derohalben den Baß erſt ſchlecht beyſetzen / alſo:

Couranten-Baſs.

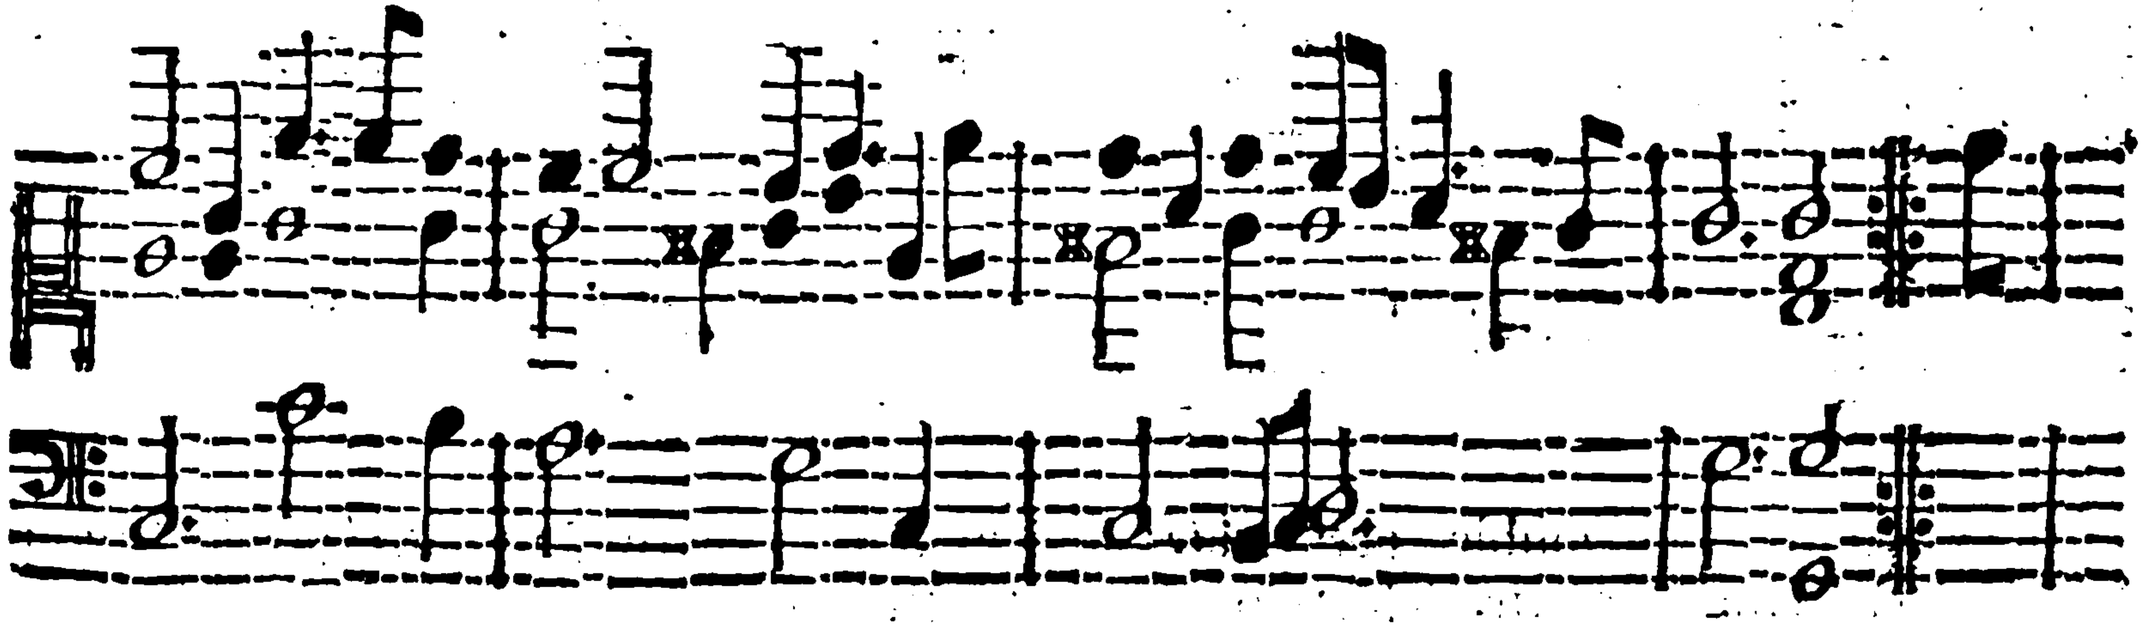

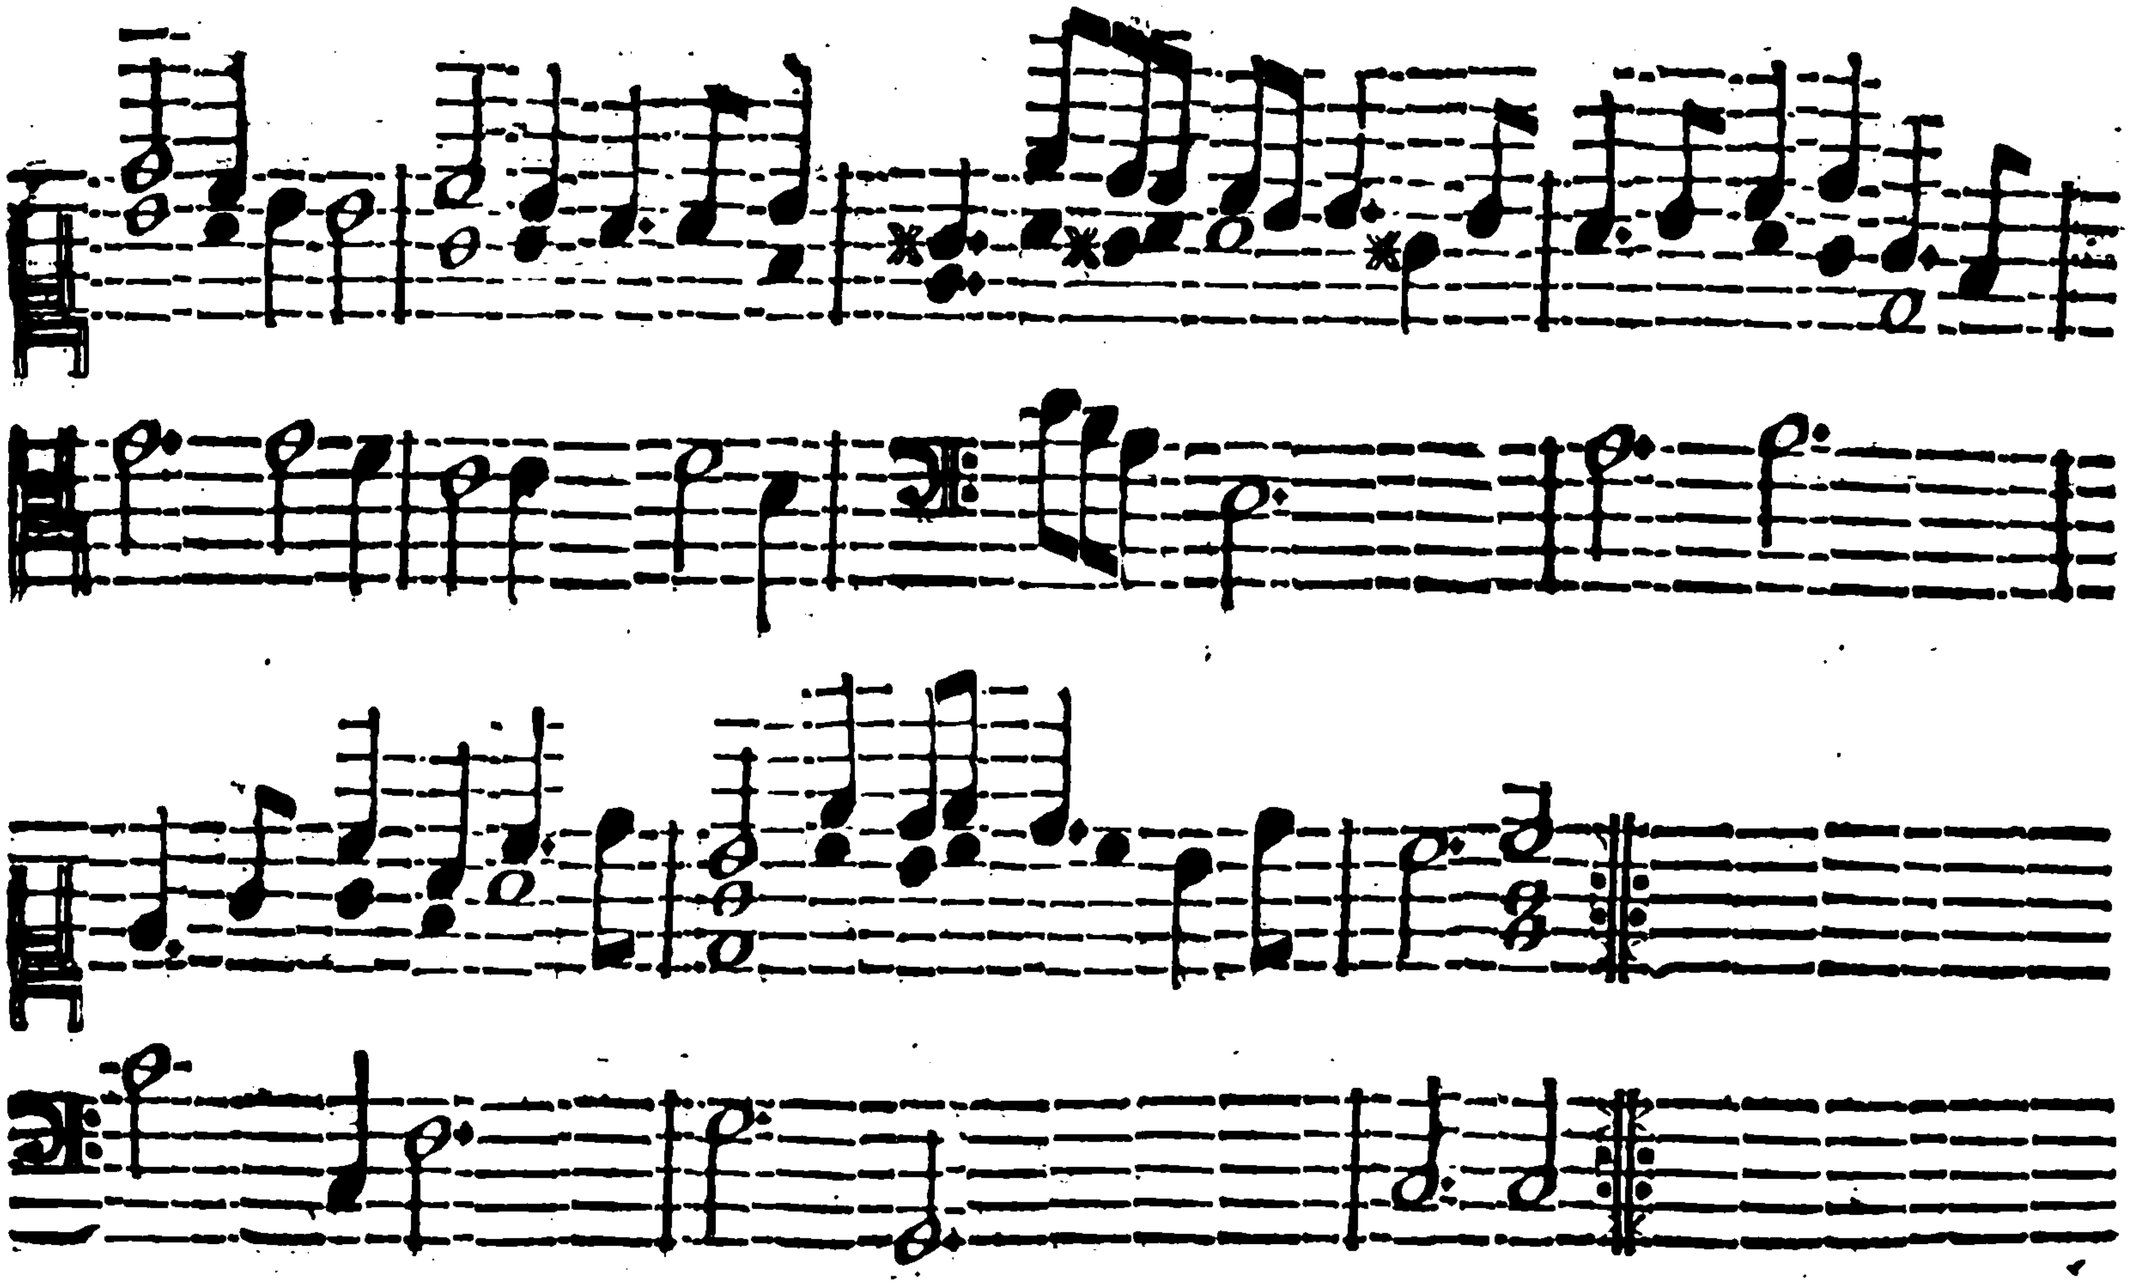

Alsdann eine ſchlechte Courante daraus gemachet / würde ſo zu ſtehen kommen.

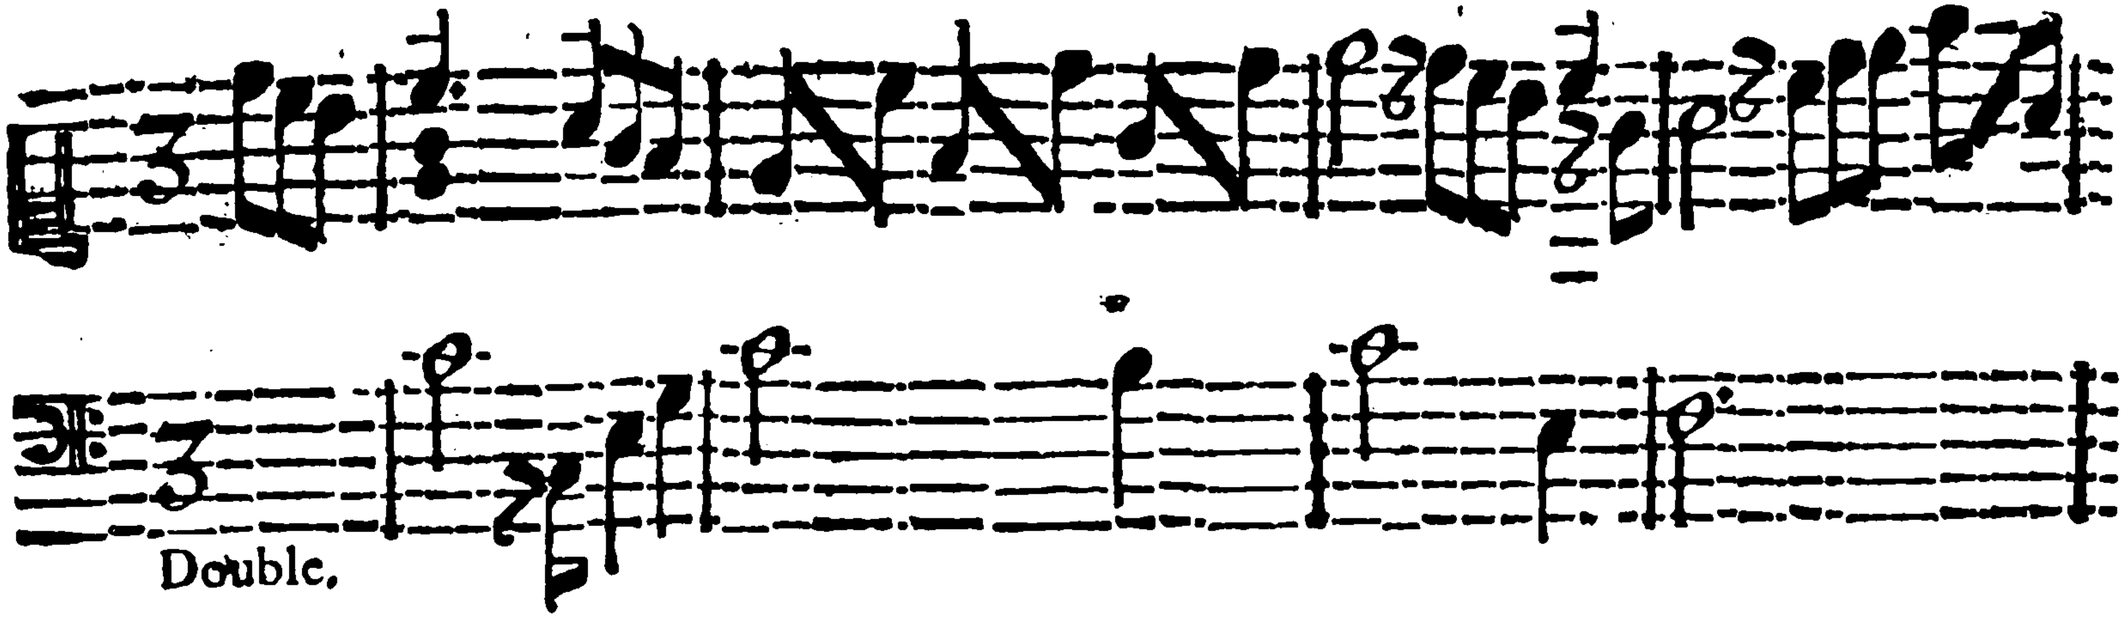

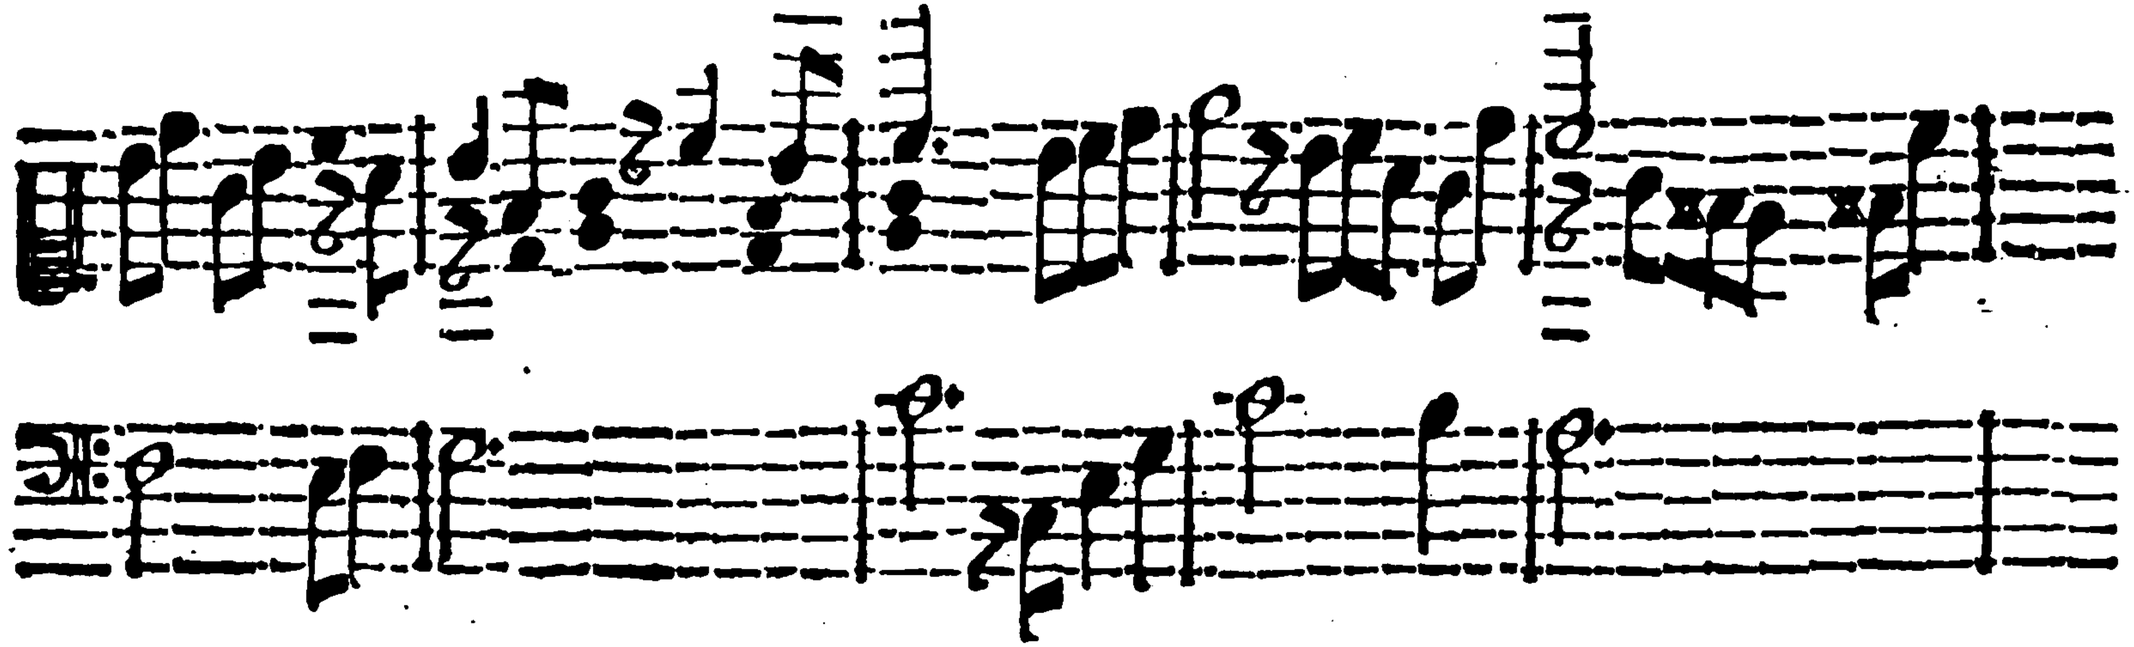

Courante.

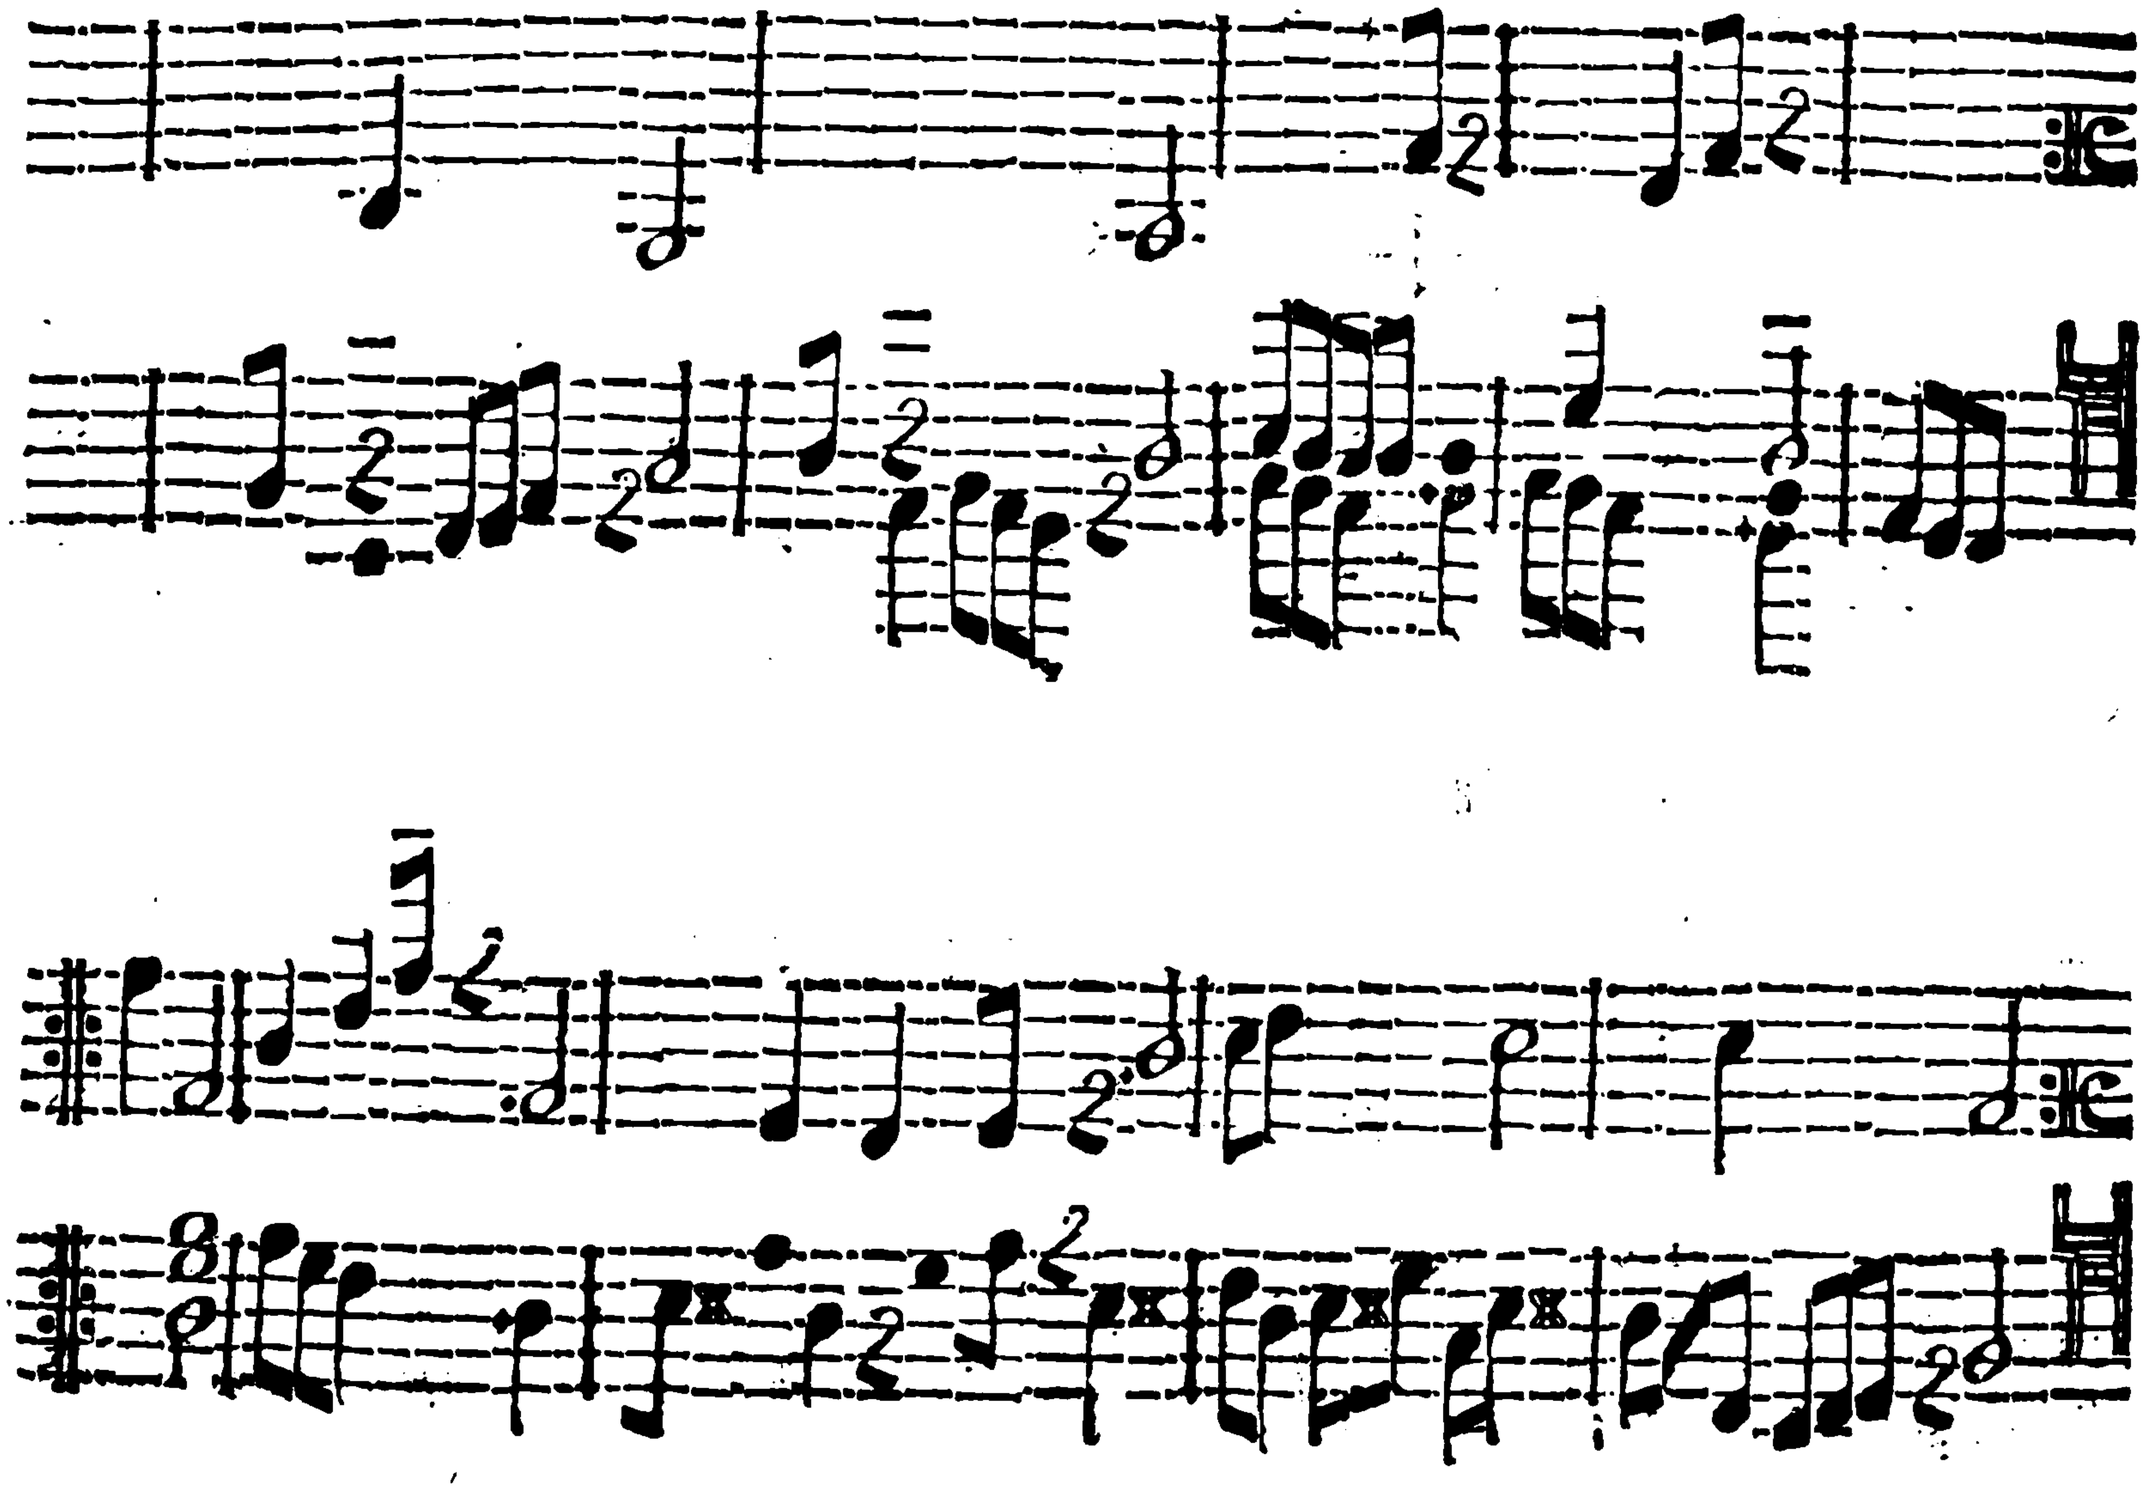

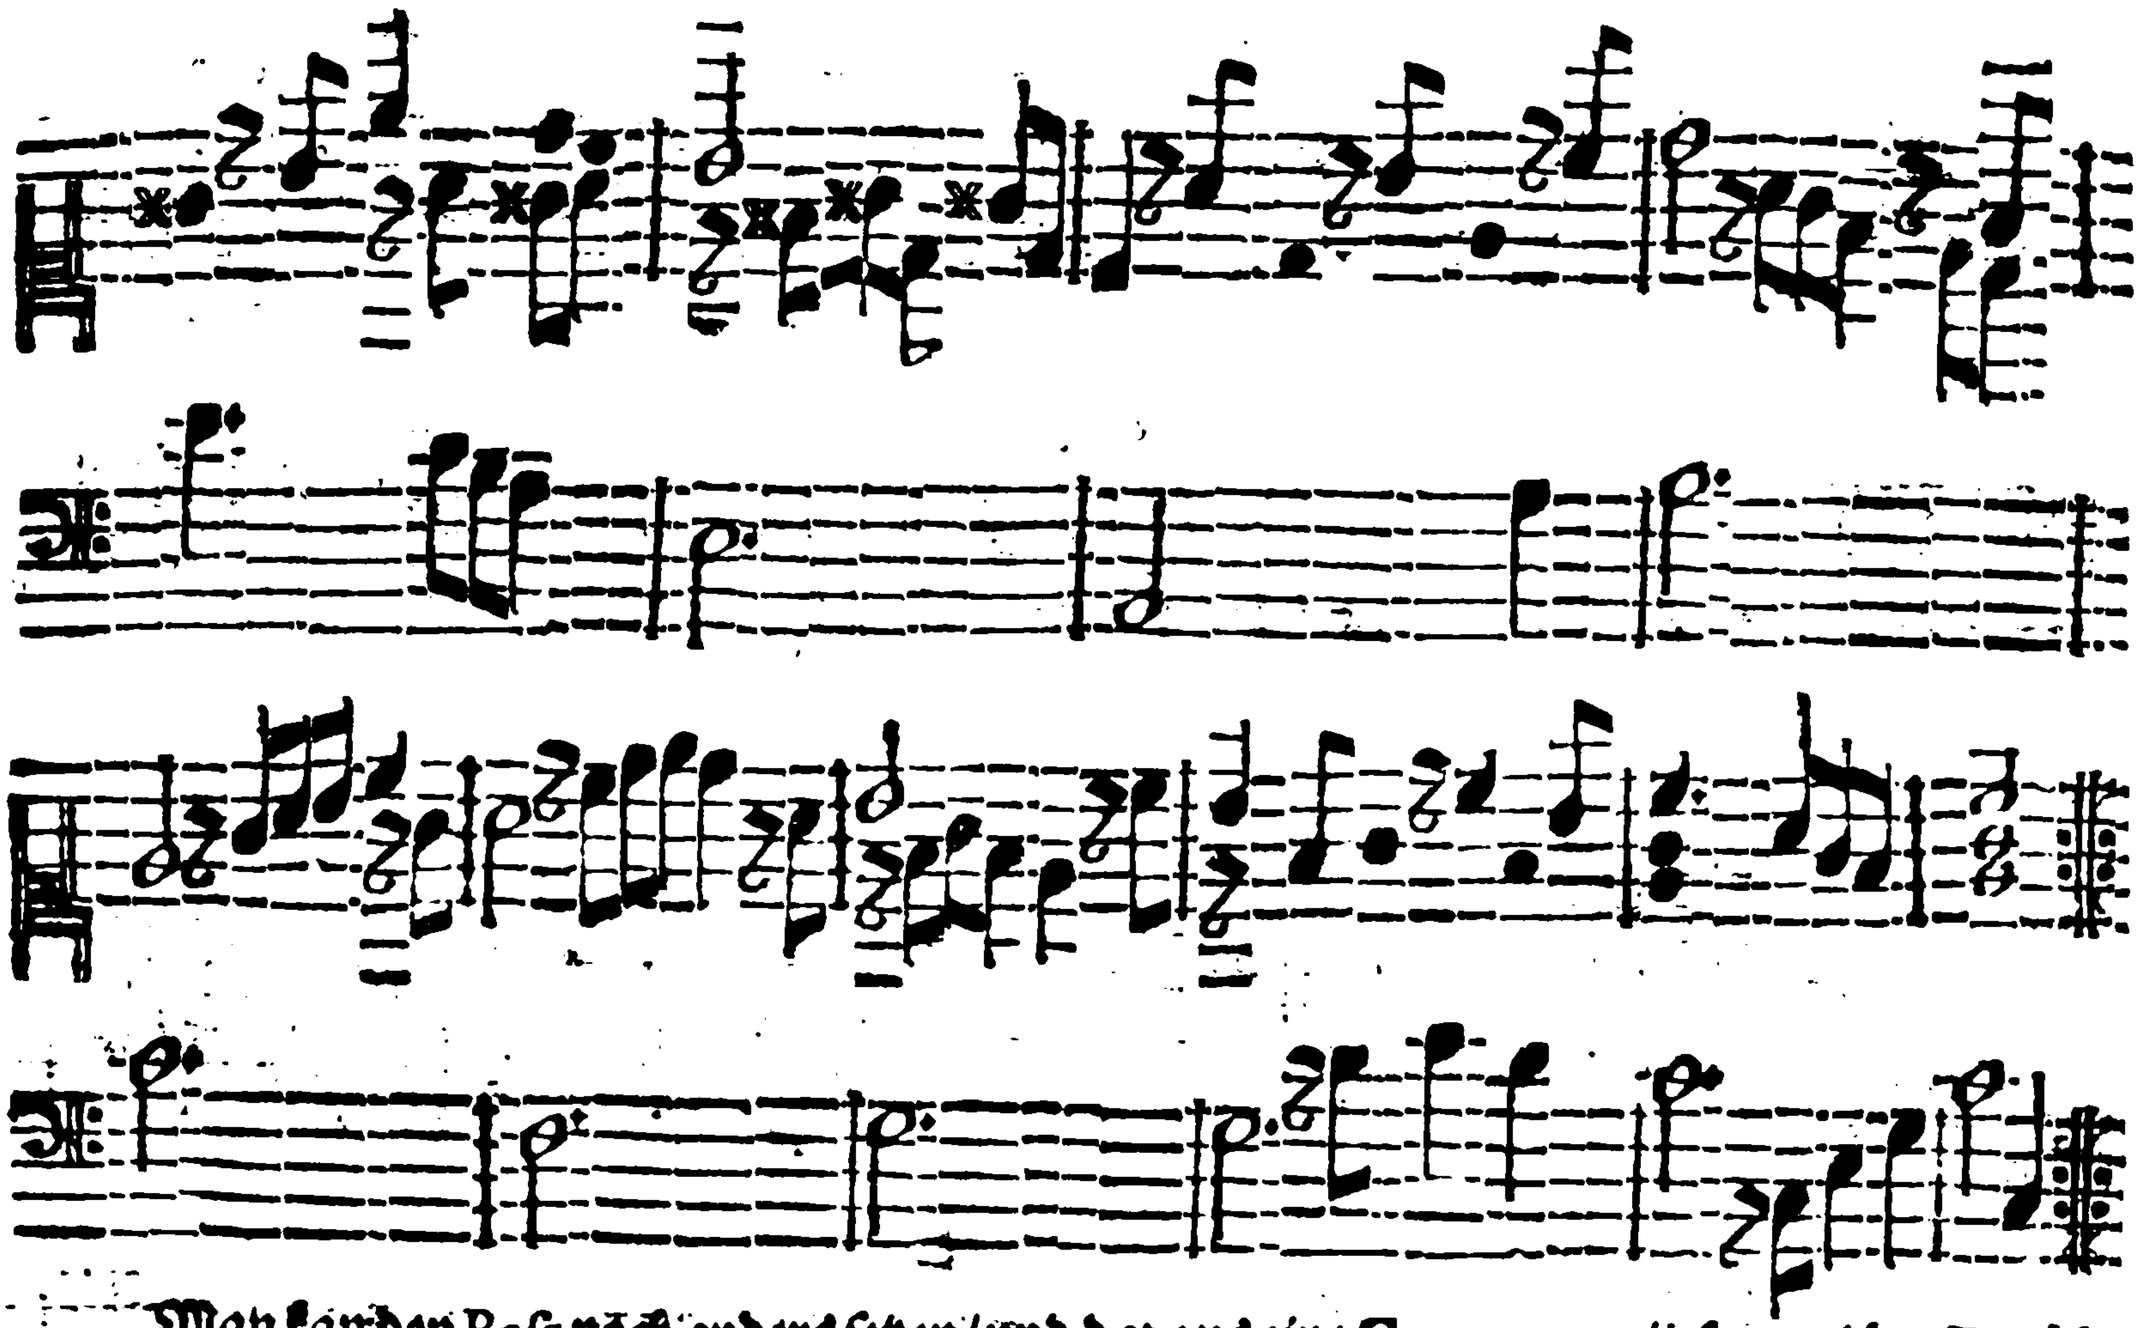

Wolte man eine Double, oder rechte Clavier Courante daraus machen / so folget man der Allemanden, und tractiret solche Courante auff selbige Art:

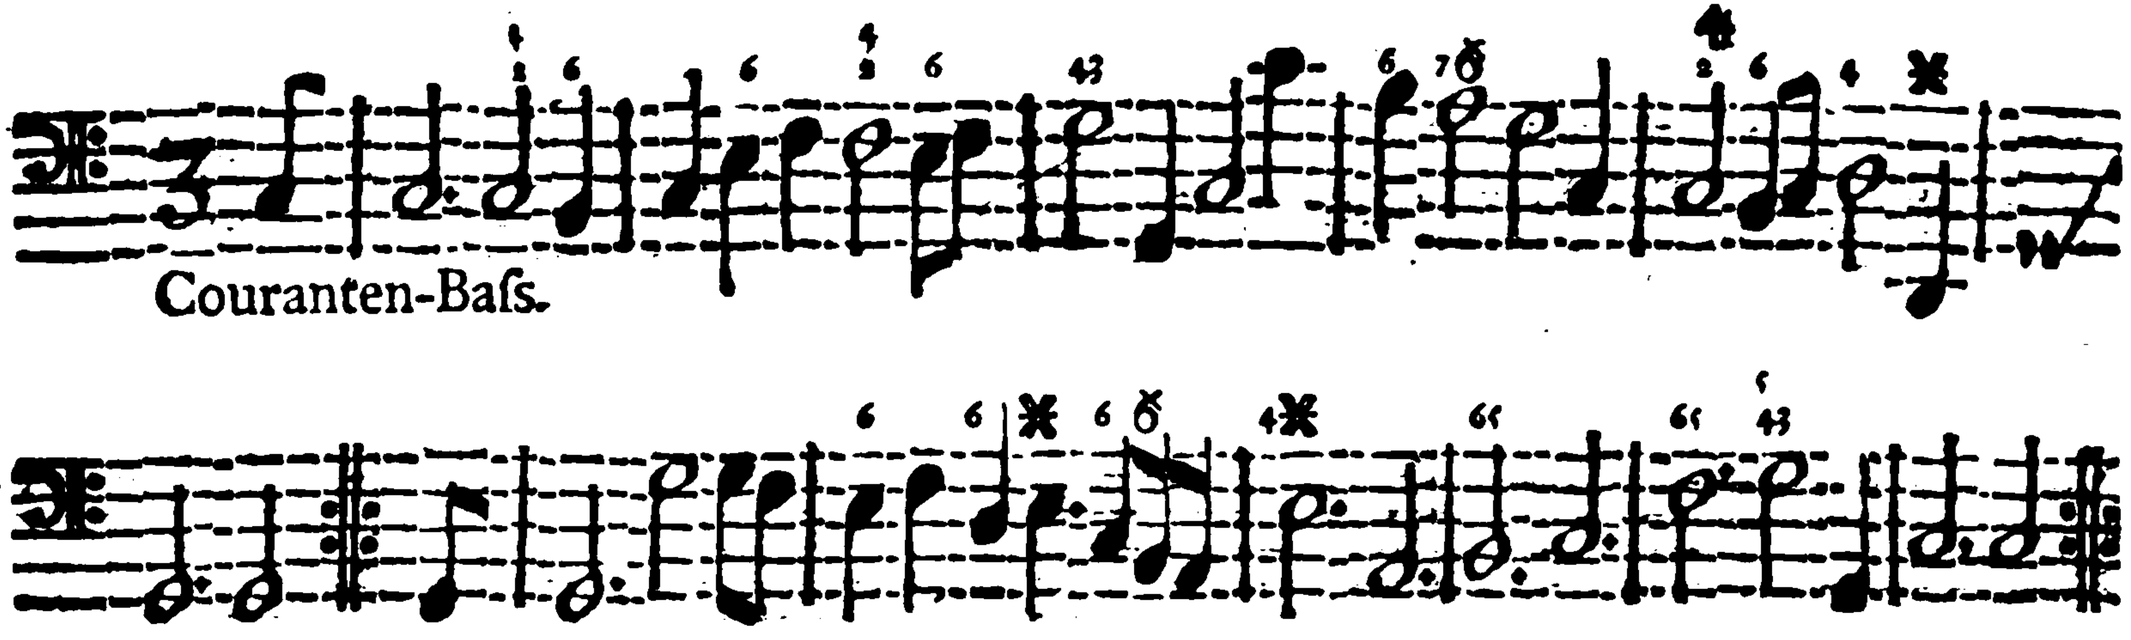

Double.

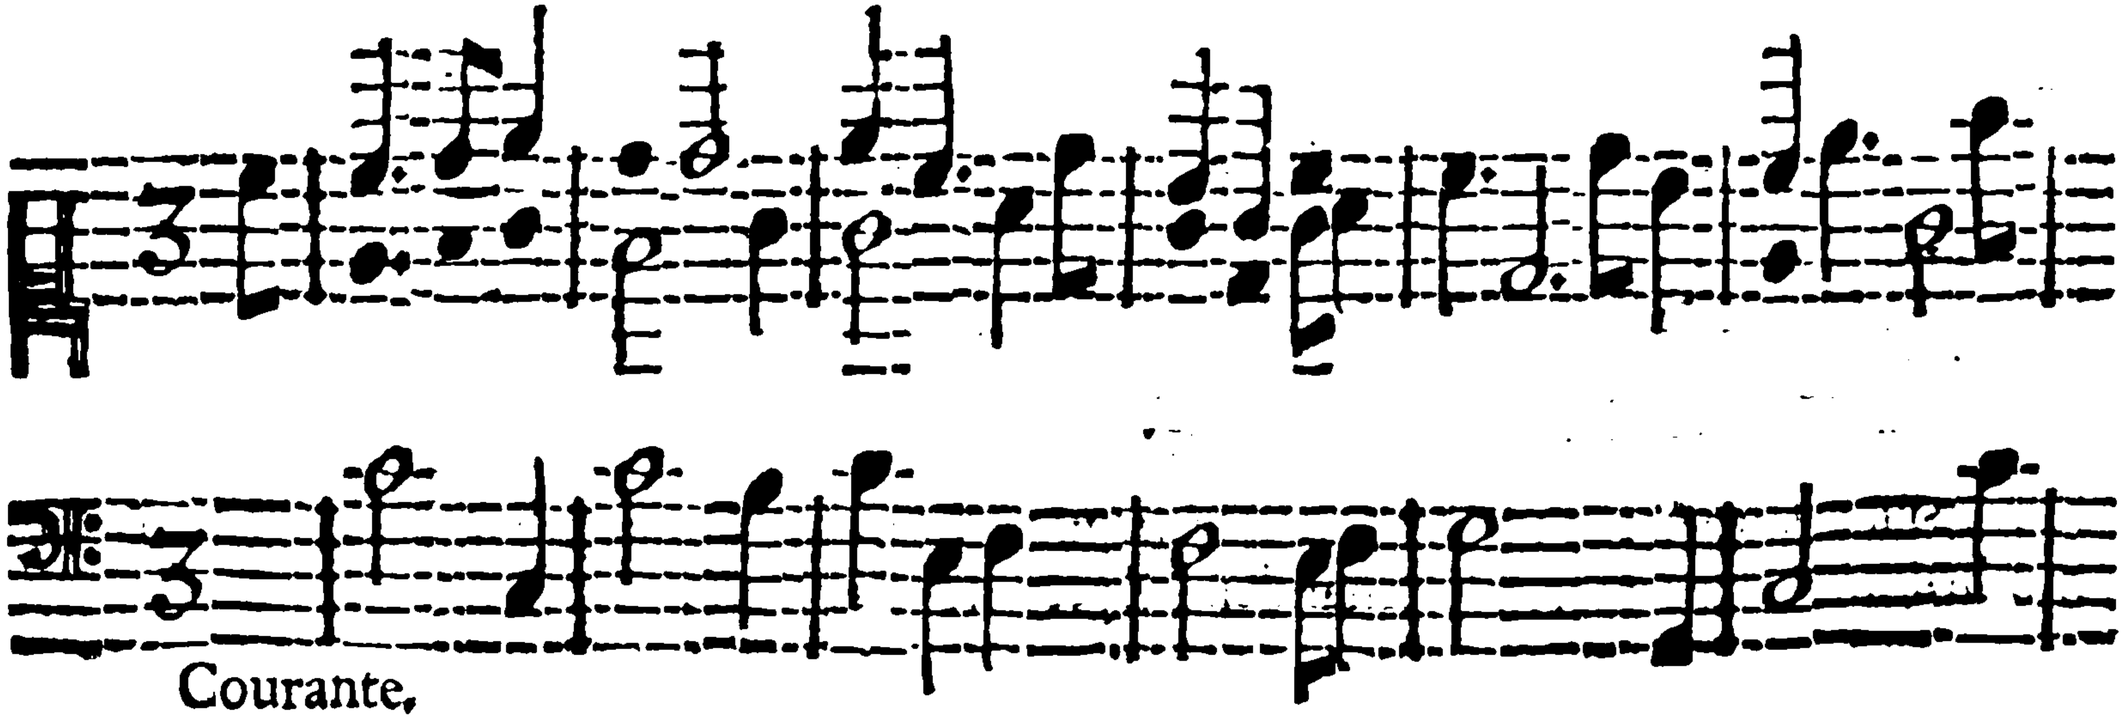

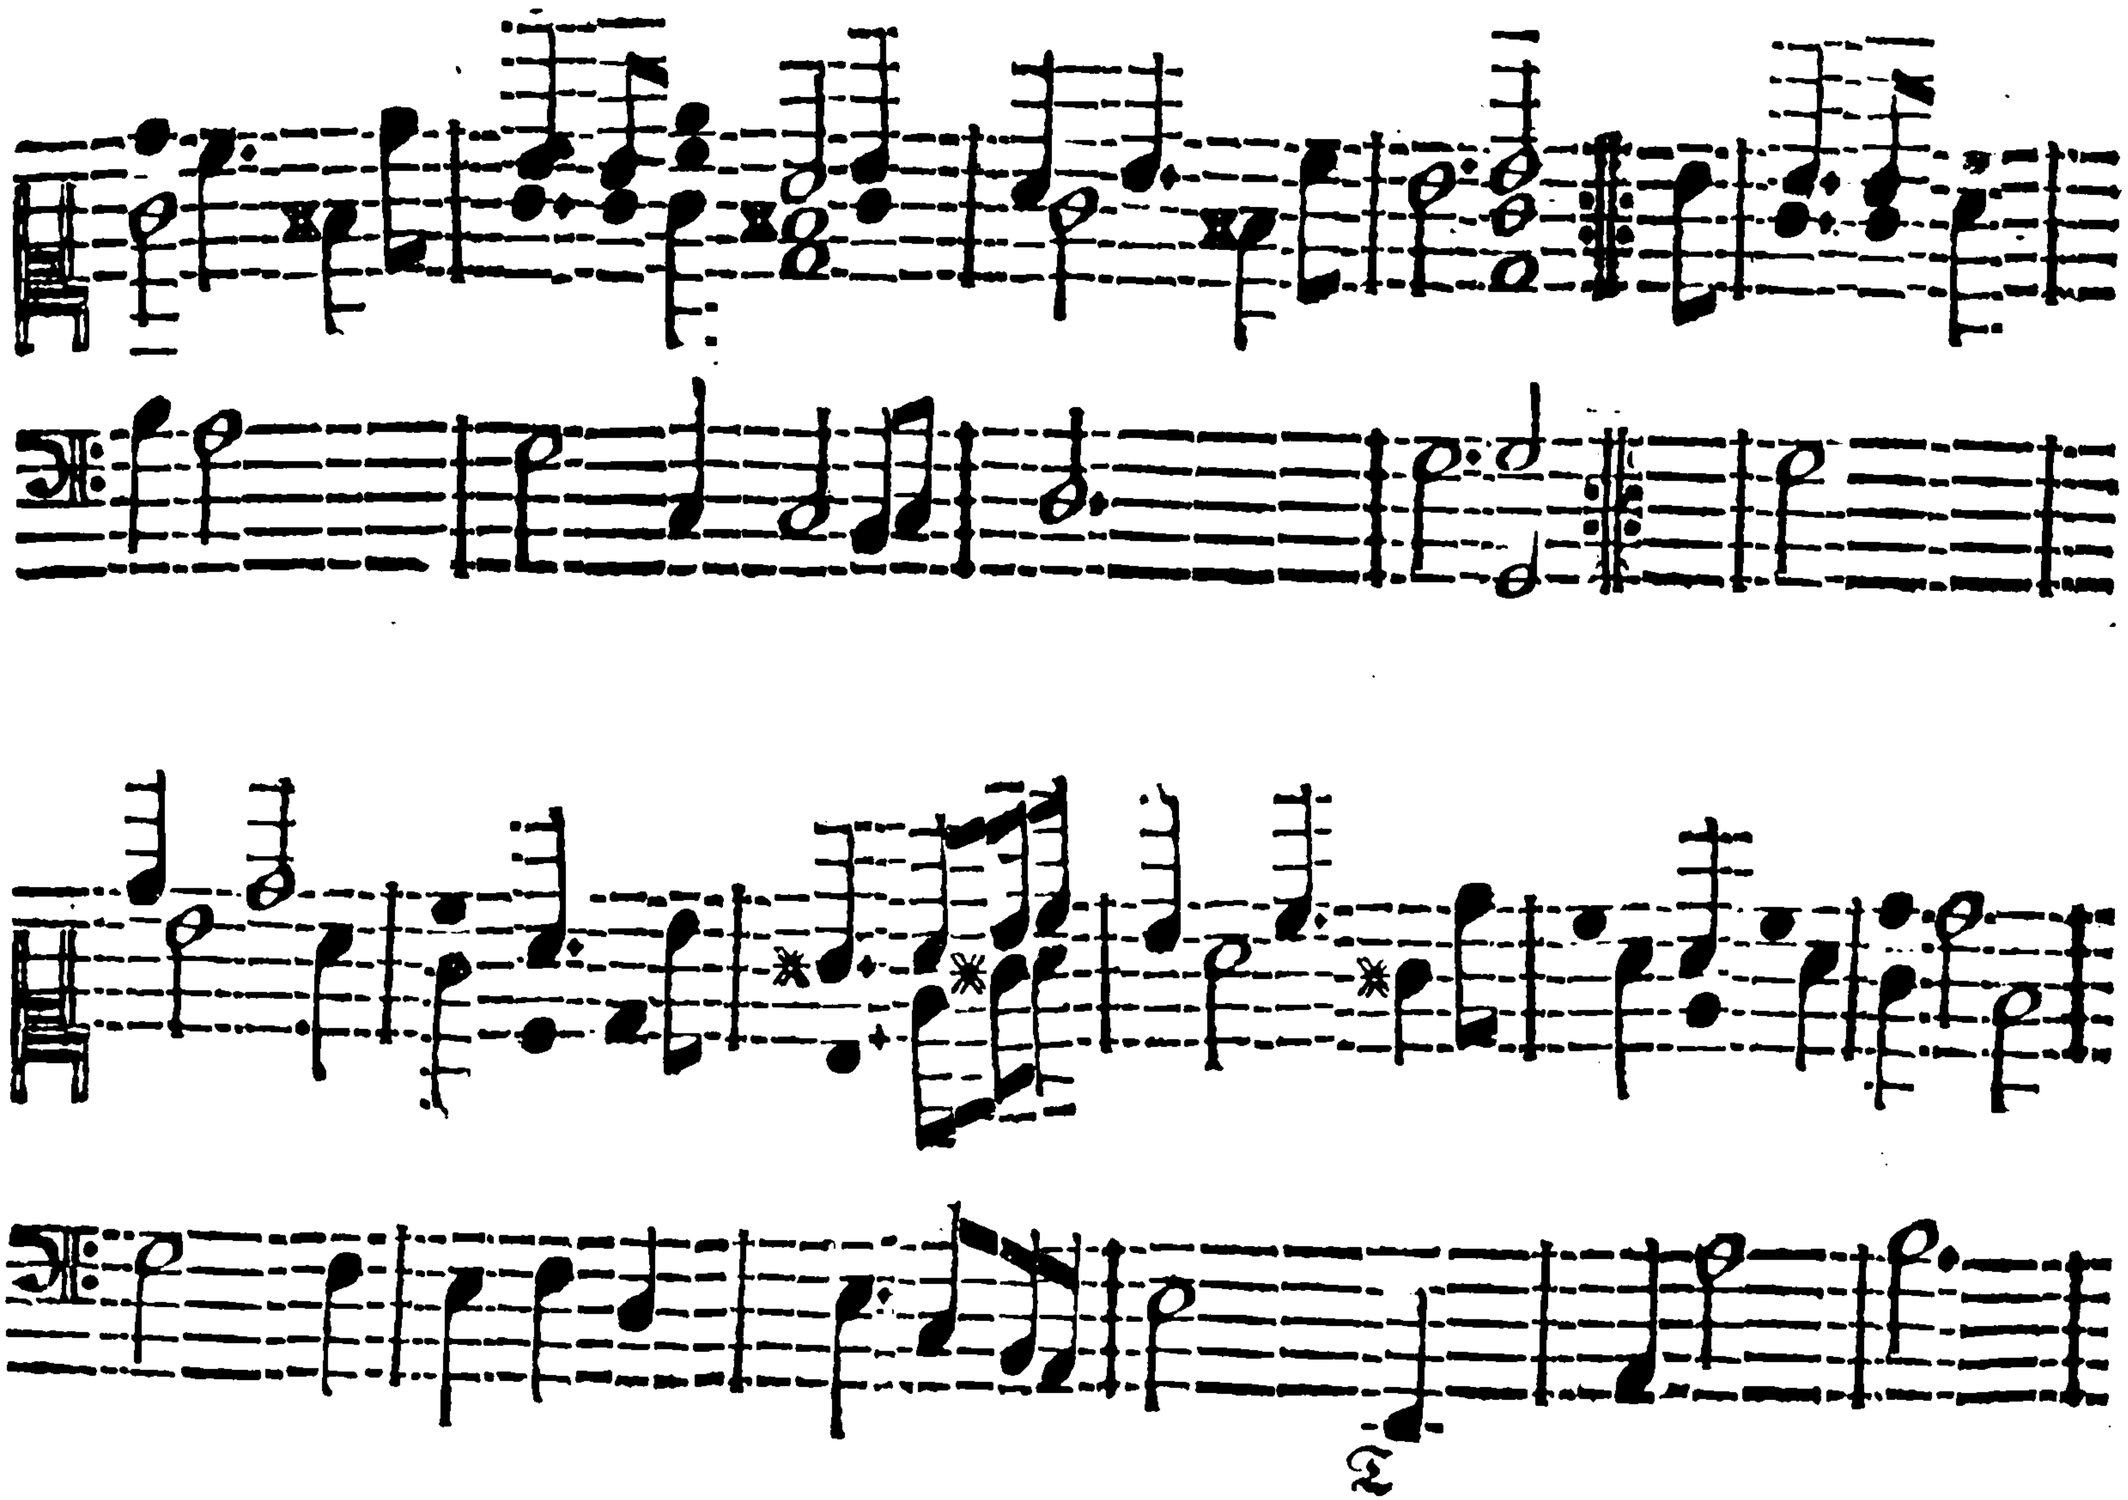

Man kan den Baſs noch anders ſetzen/ und daraus eine Courante mit ſamint der Double machen/ welche zur andern Allemanden ſoll gebrauchet werden.

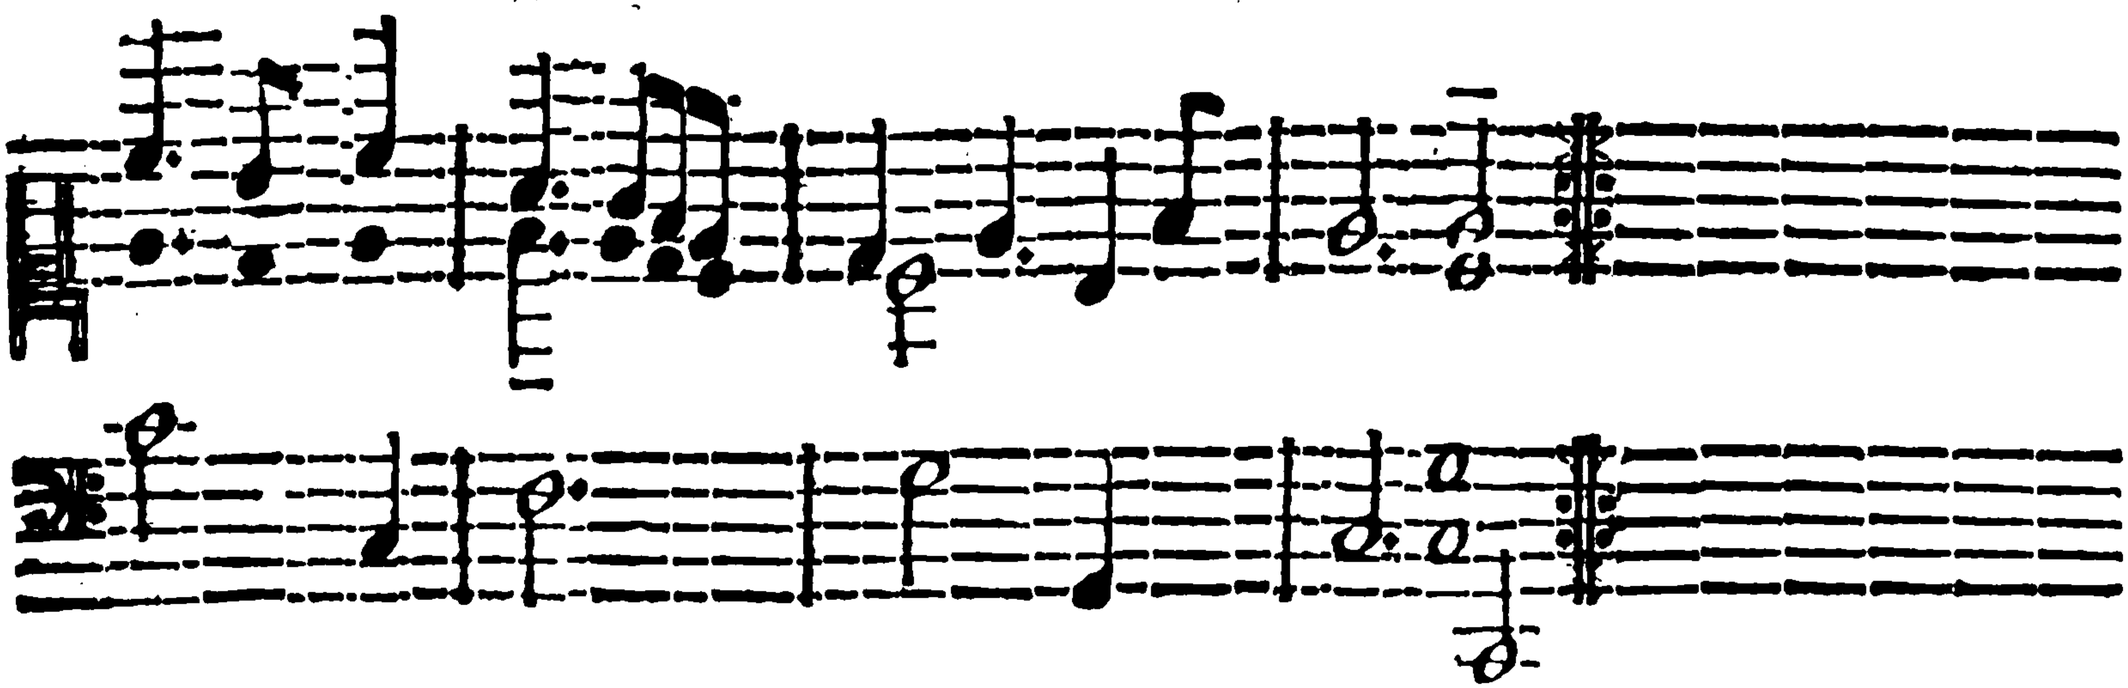

Couranten-Bafs.

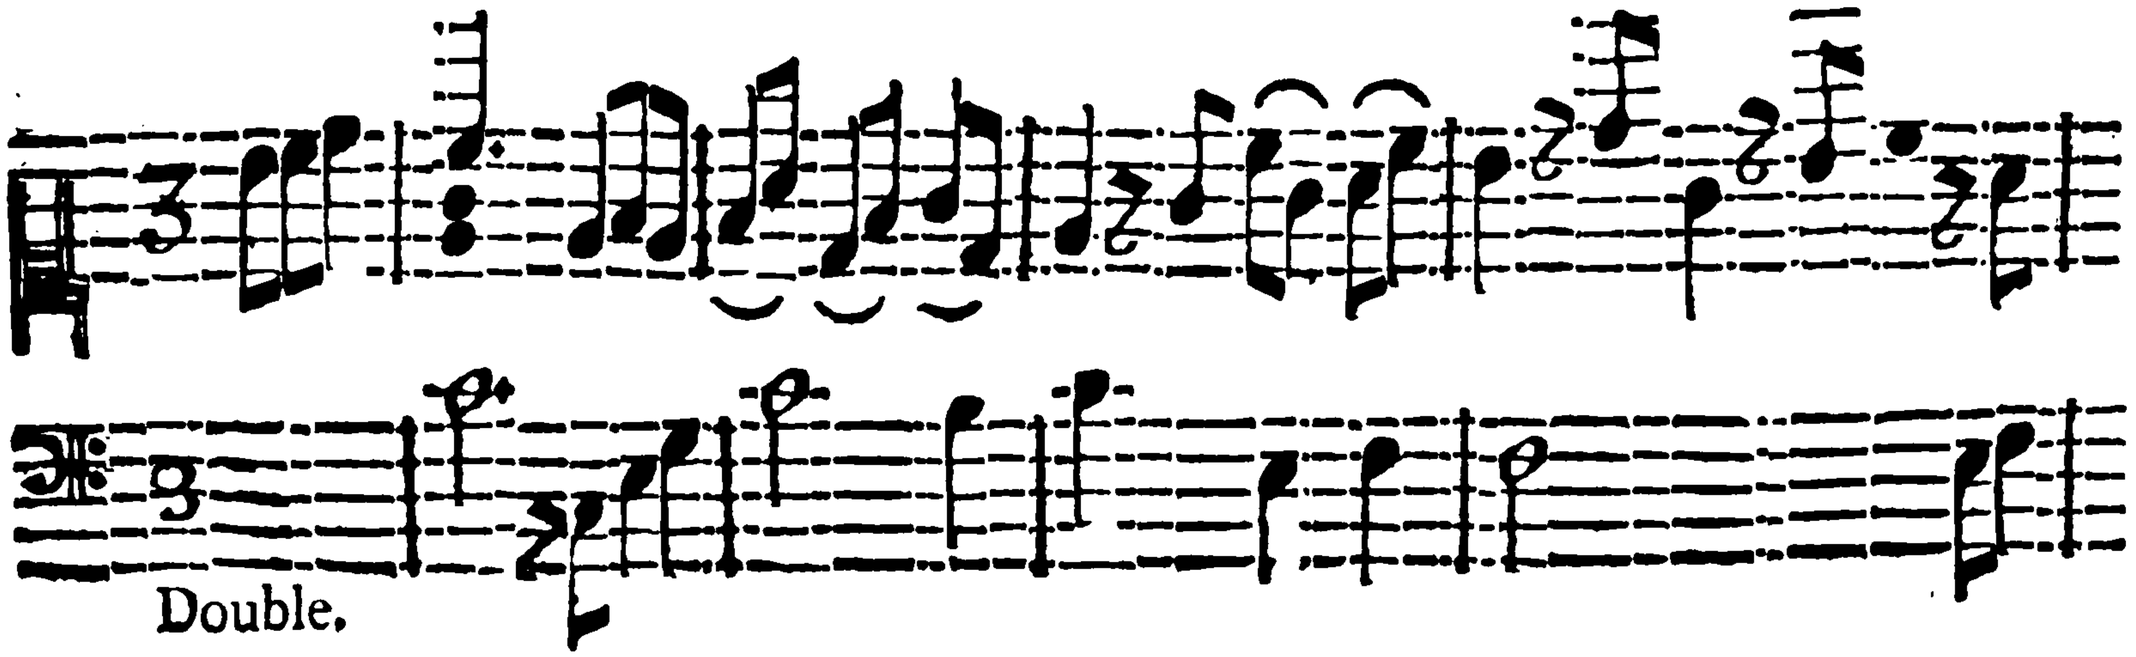

Courante.

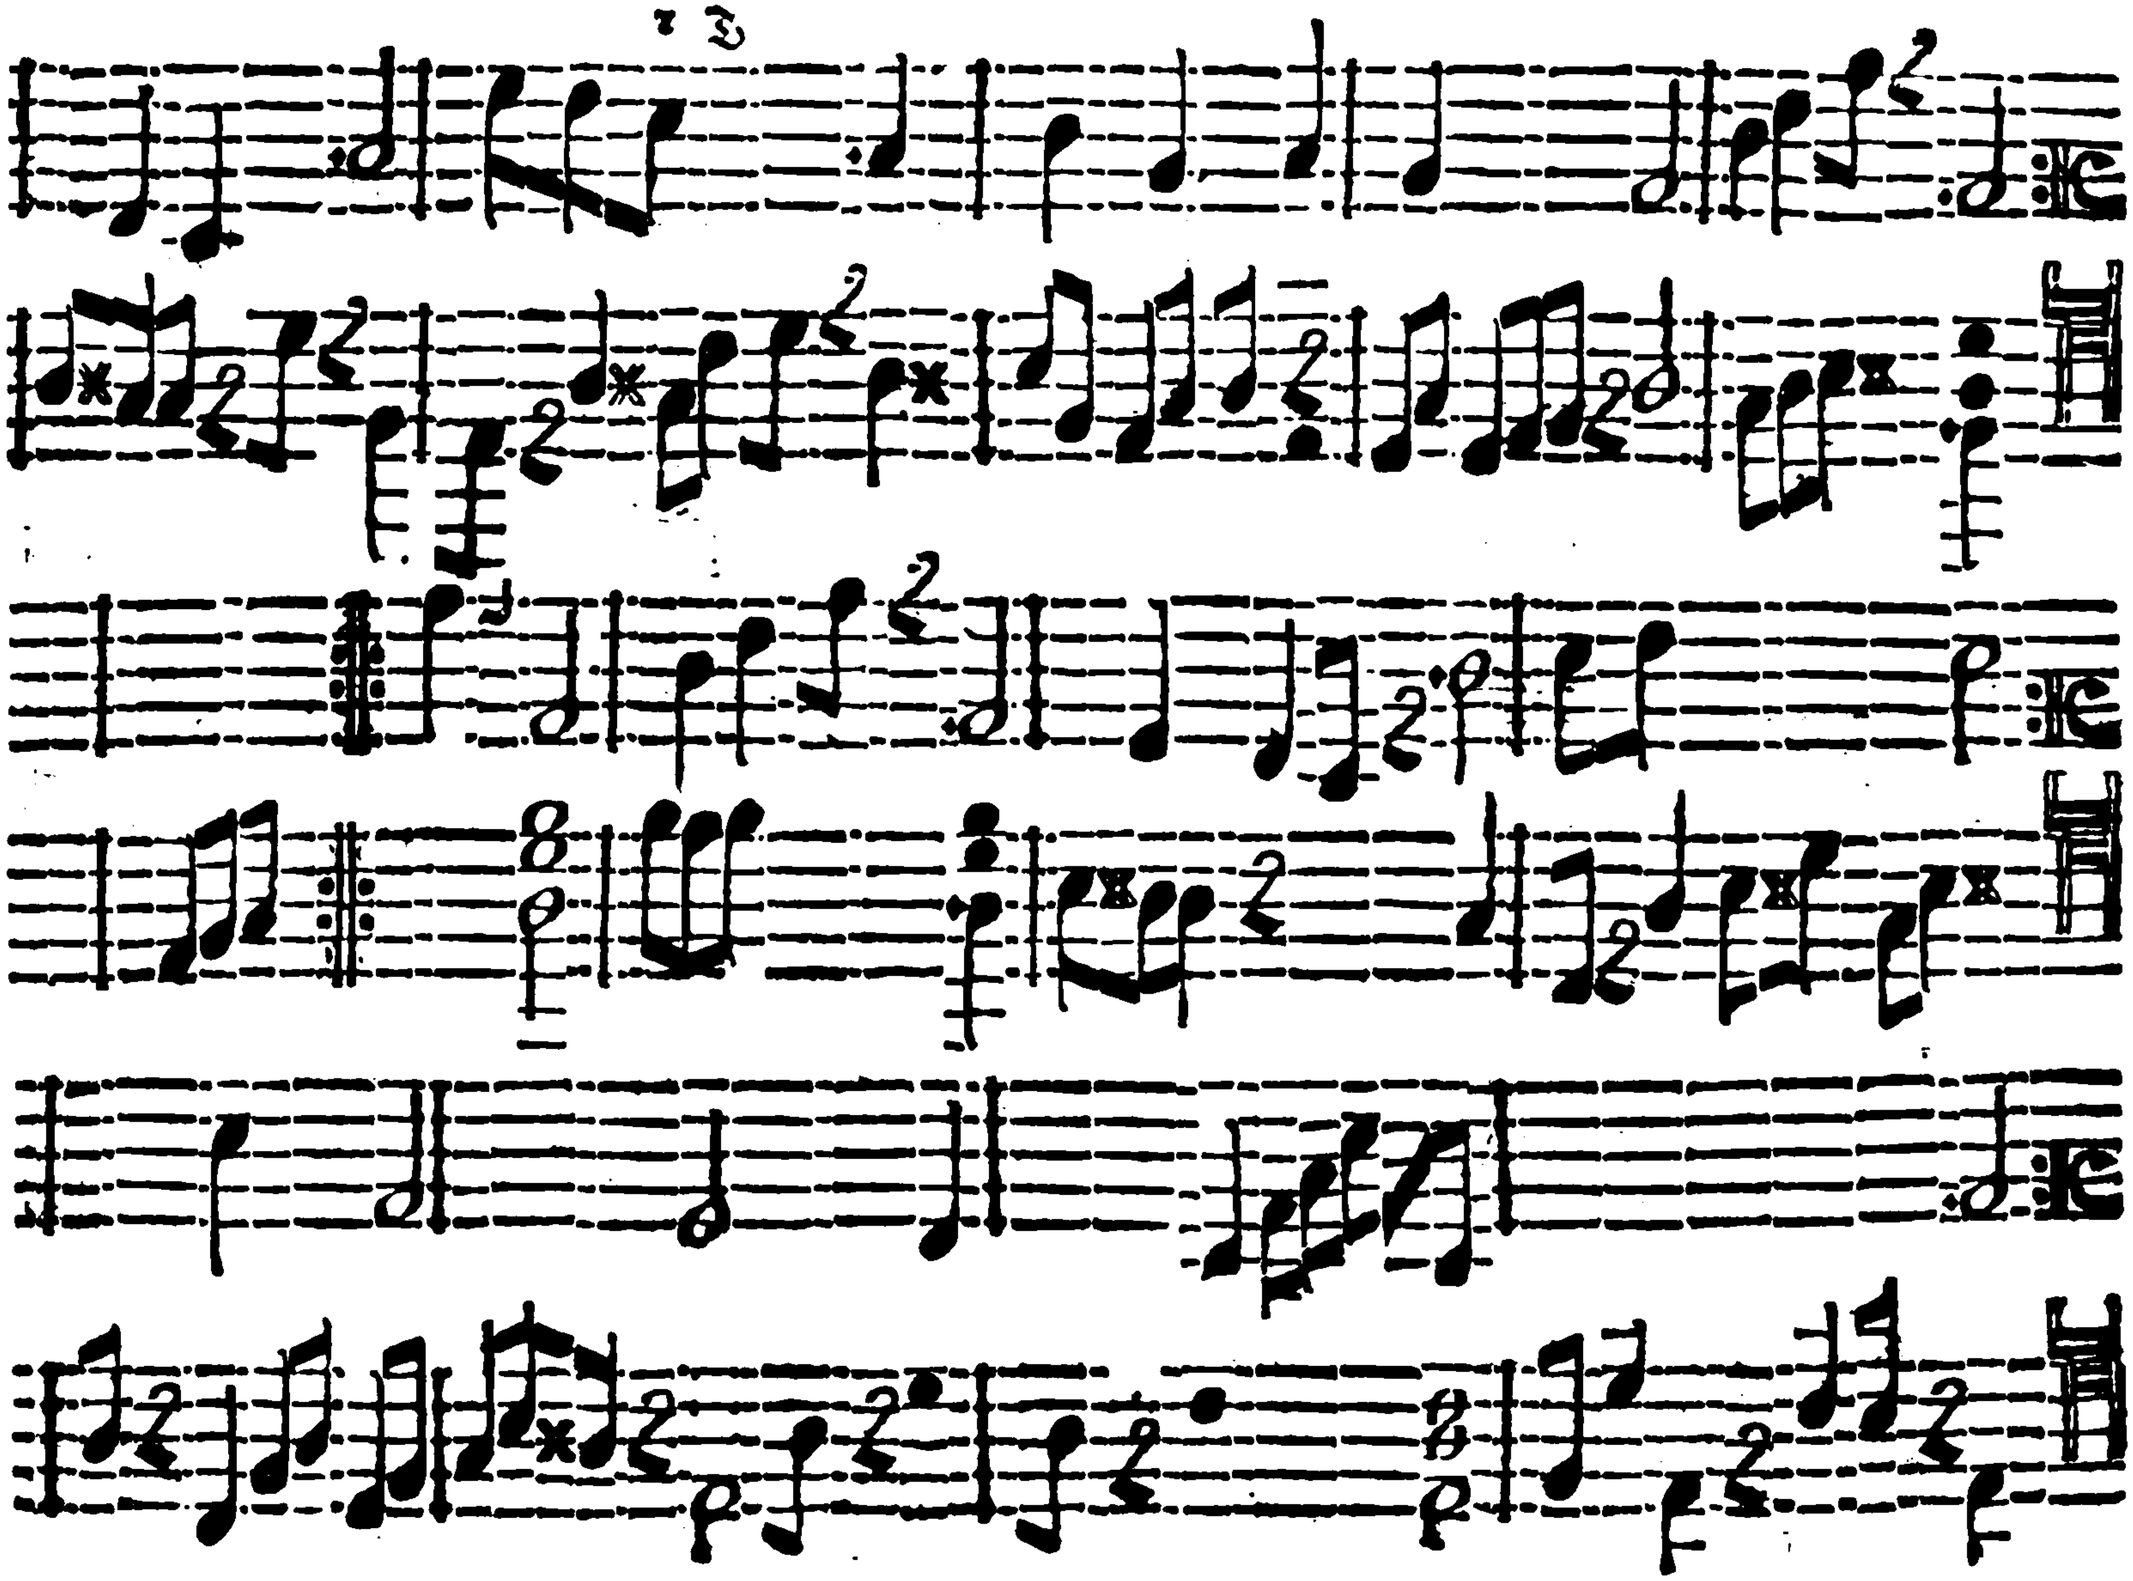

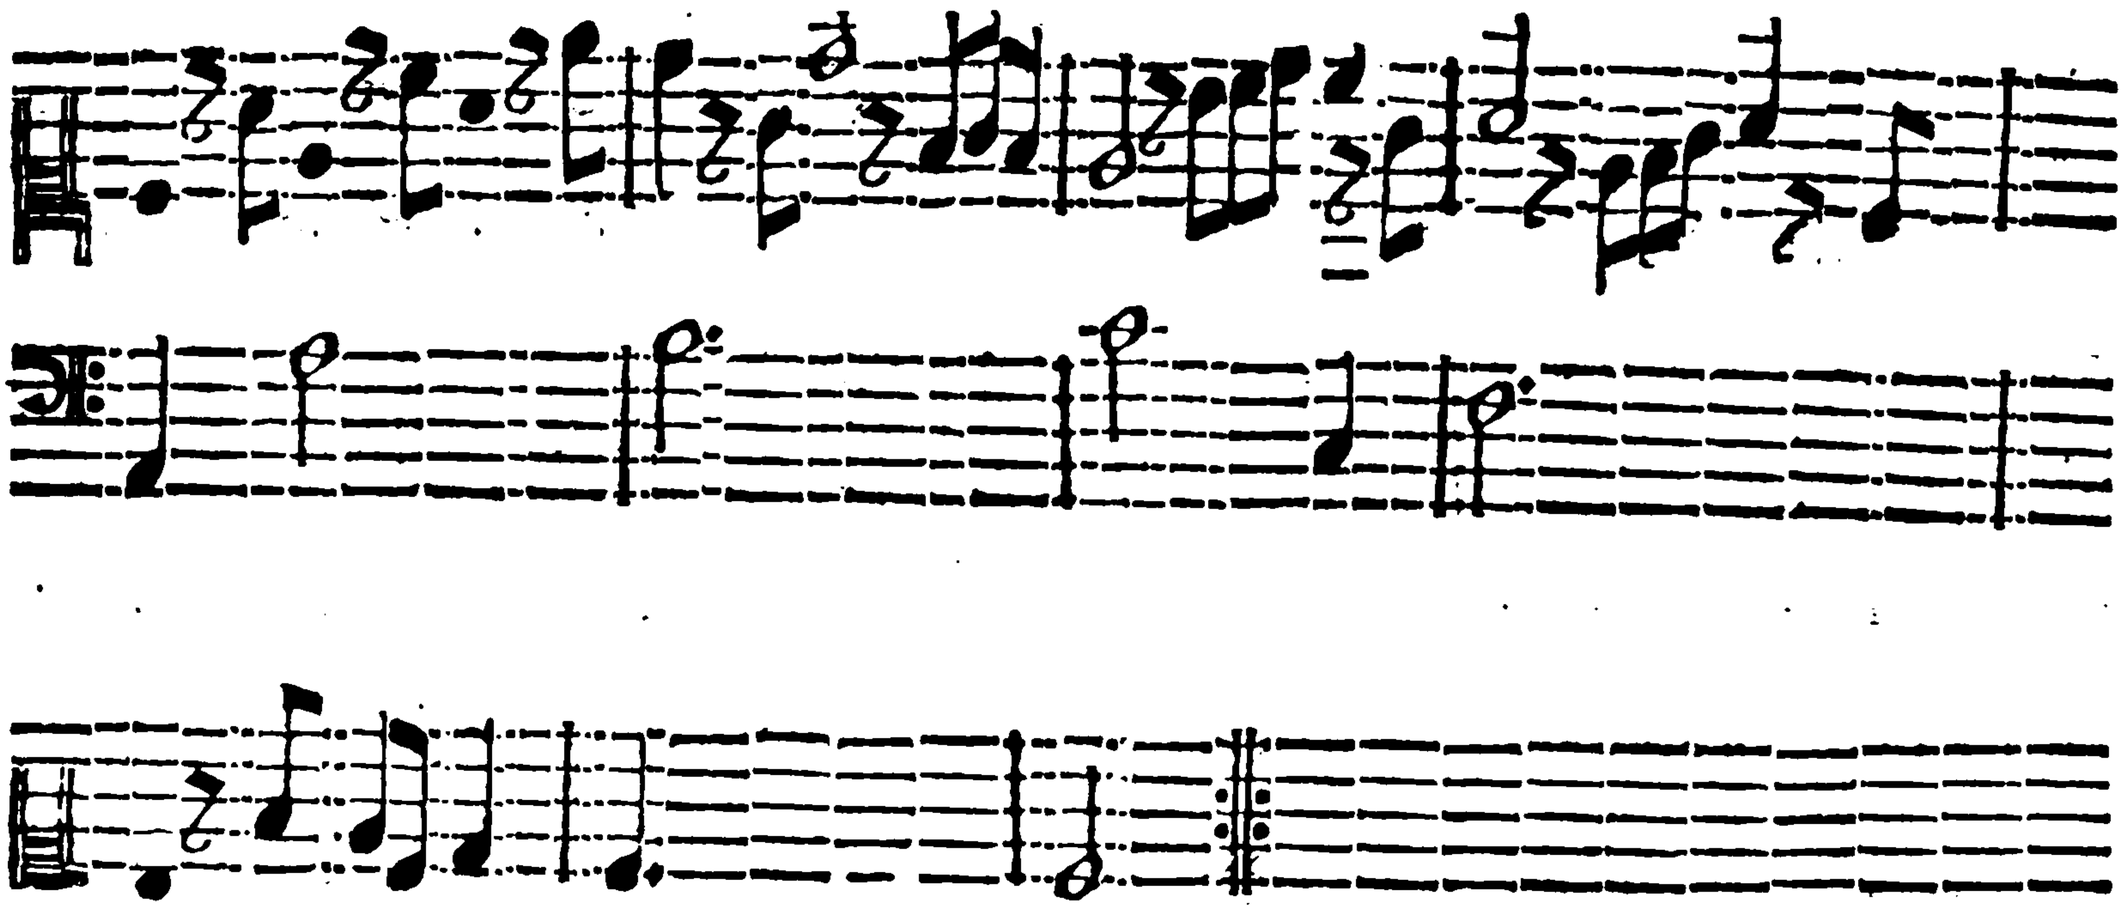

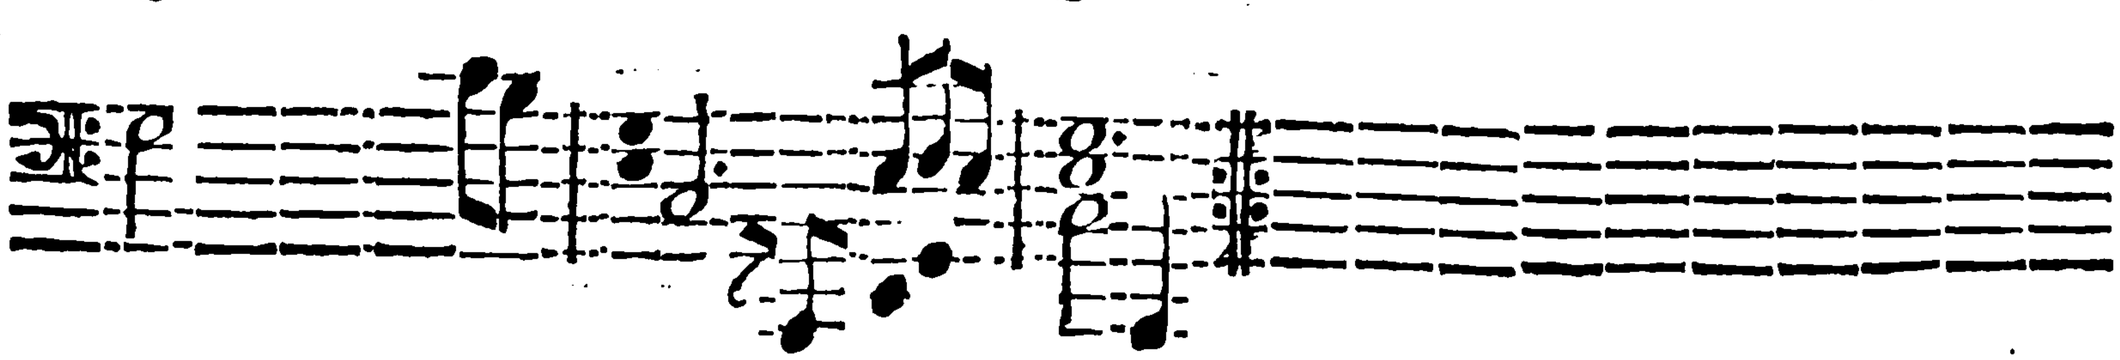

Hiernechſt folget nun die Double, welche aus dieſer ſchlechten Courante ihren Uhrſprung nimmt/und iſt gleichſam nur eine Variation.

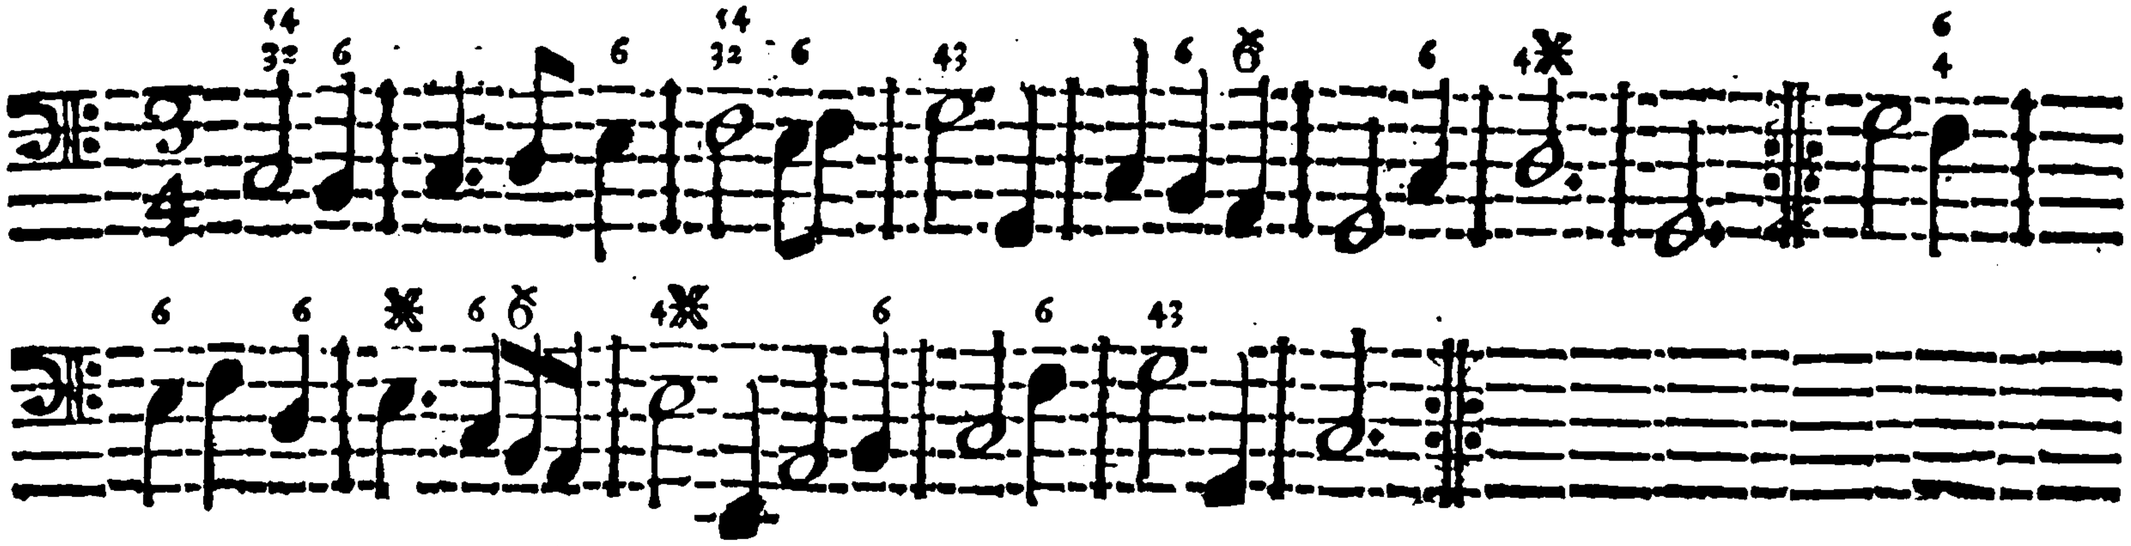

Double.

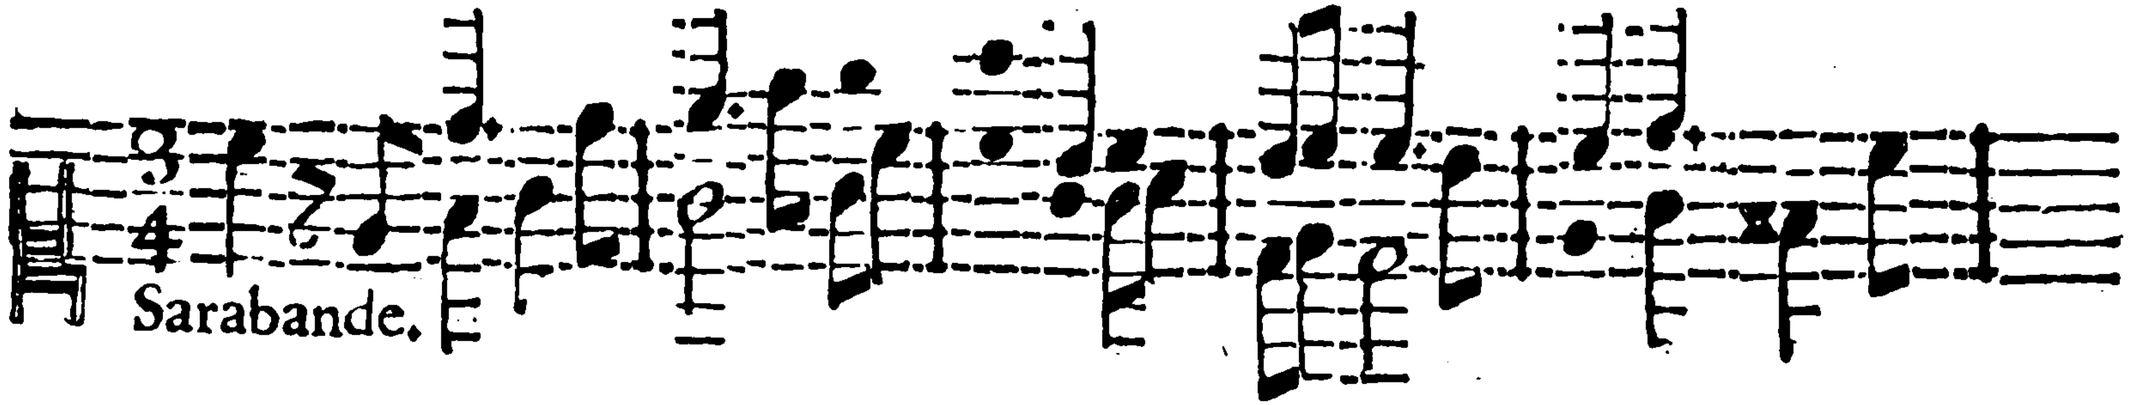

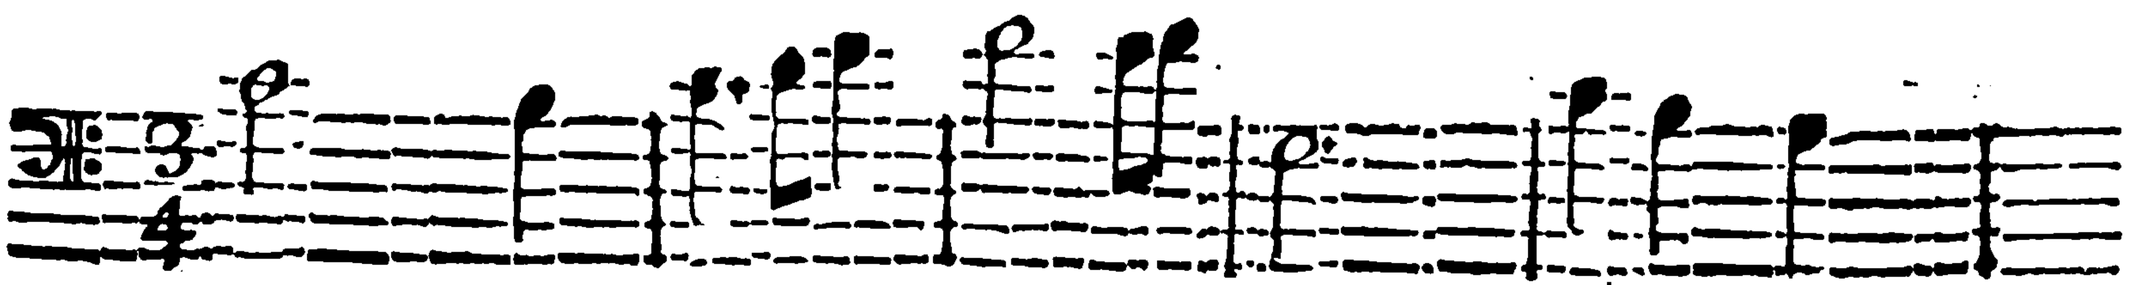

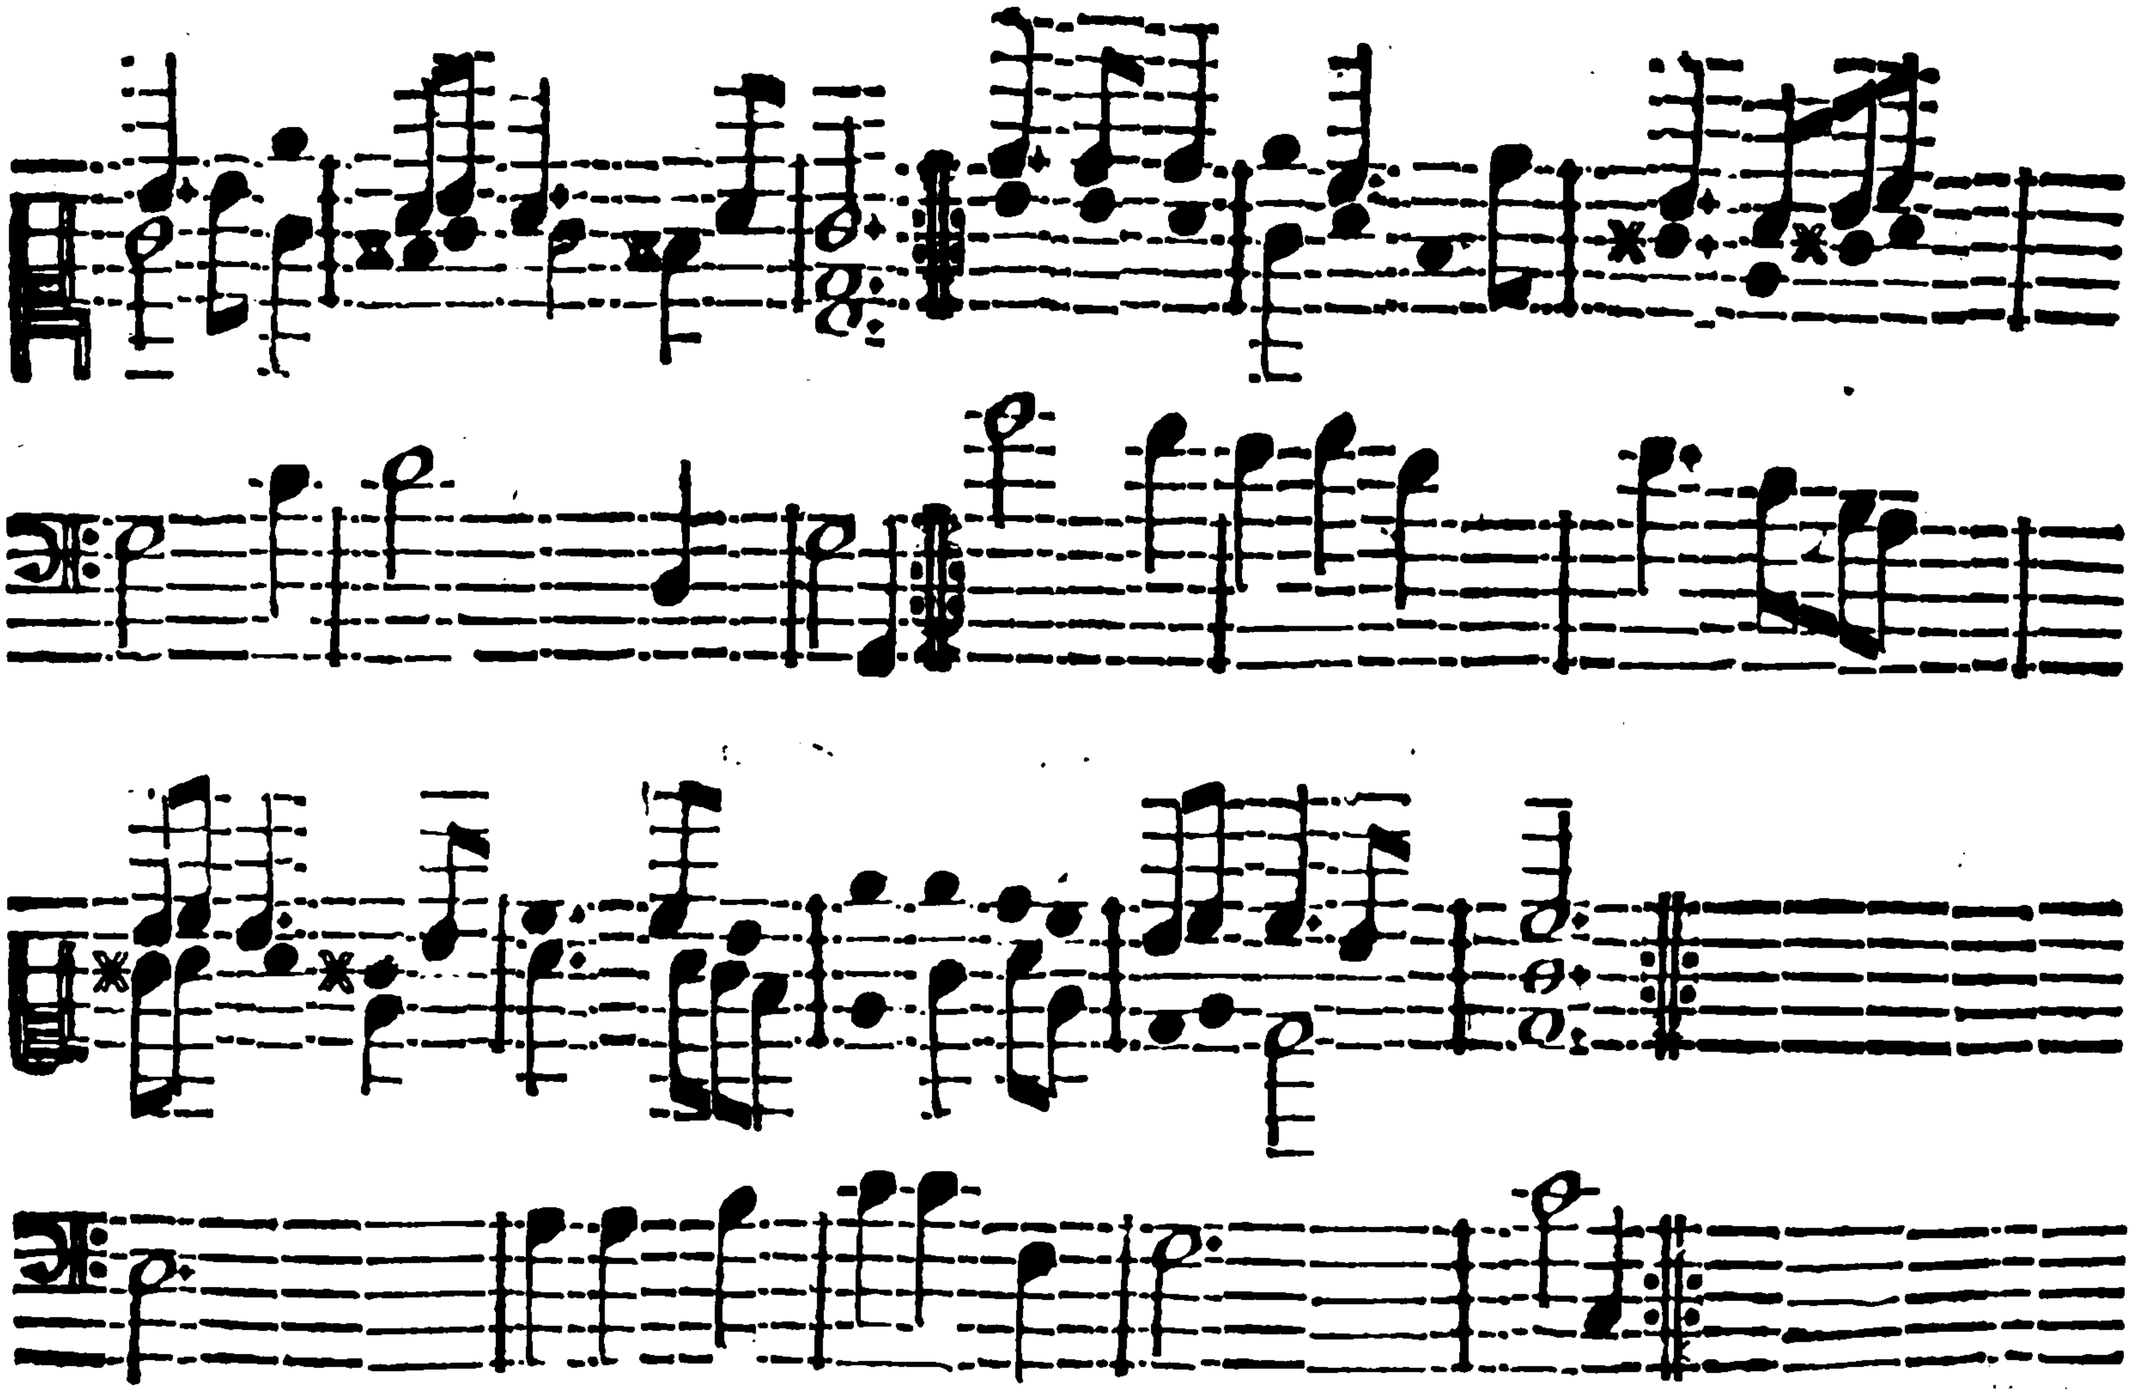

Aus den Couranten-Baſs kan eine, Sarabande (welche 8. Tacten haben muß) heraus gebracht werden/ als:

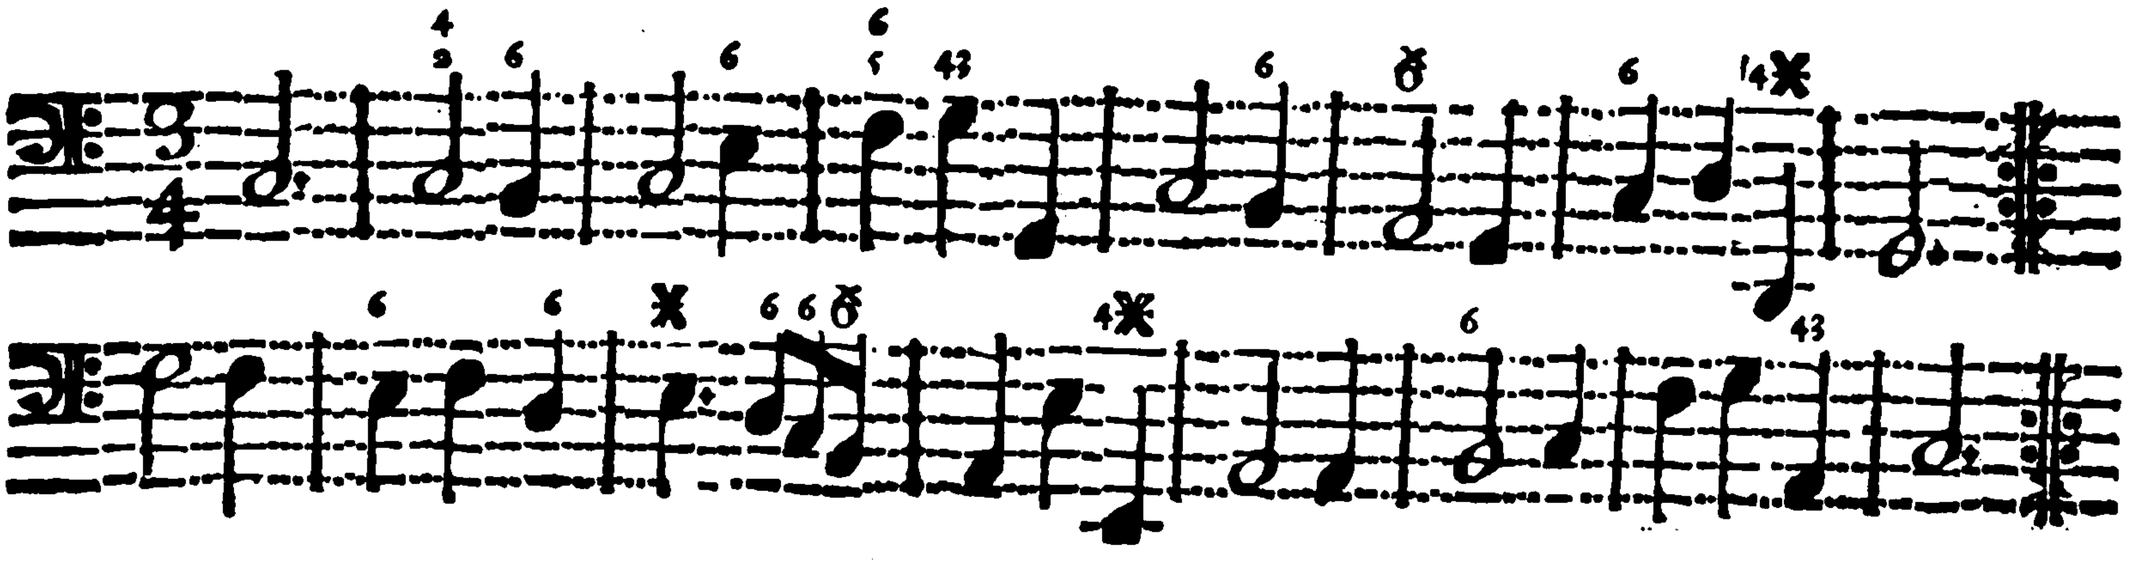

Sarabande.

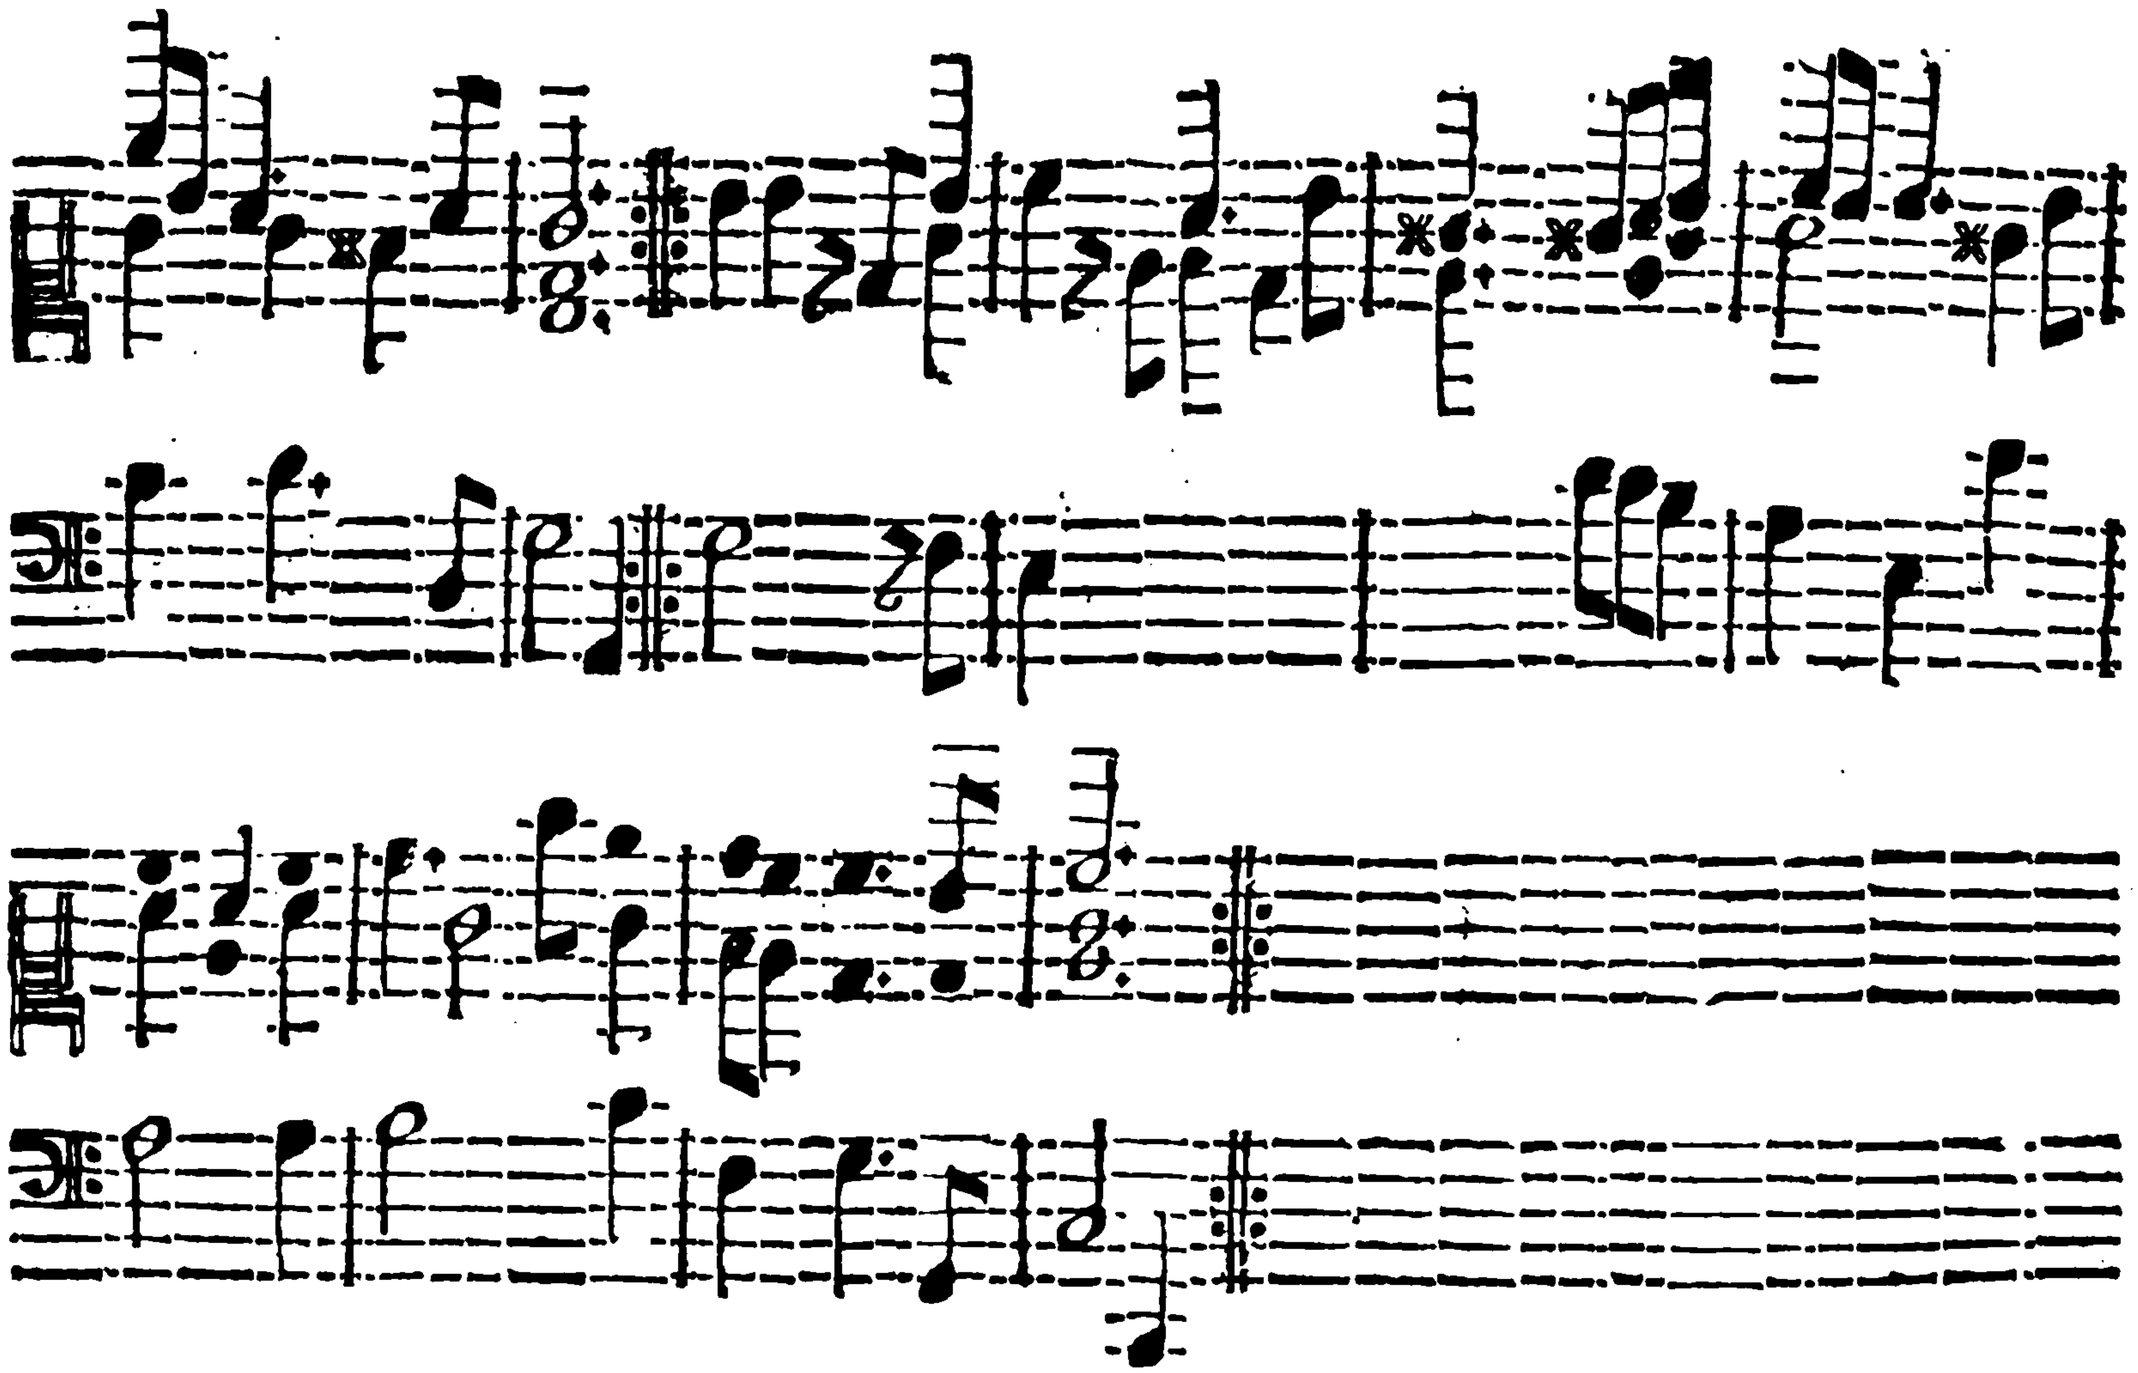

Noch eine andere Sarabande kan aus der andern Couranten genommen werden/ als:

Sarabanden Baſs.

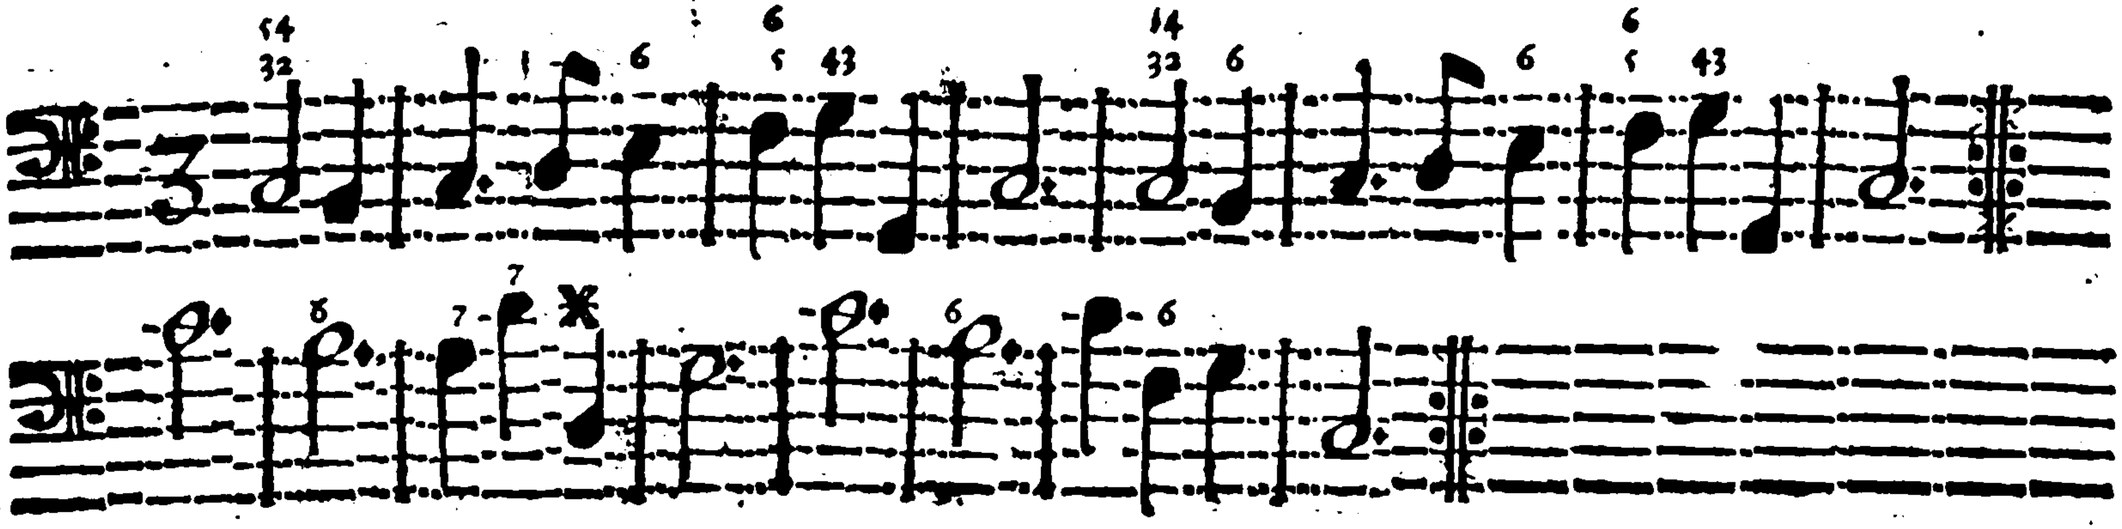

Sarabande.

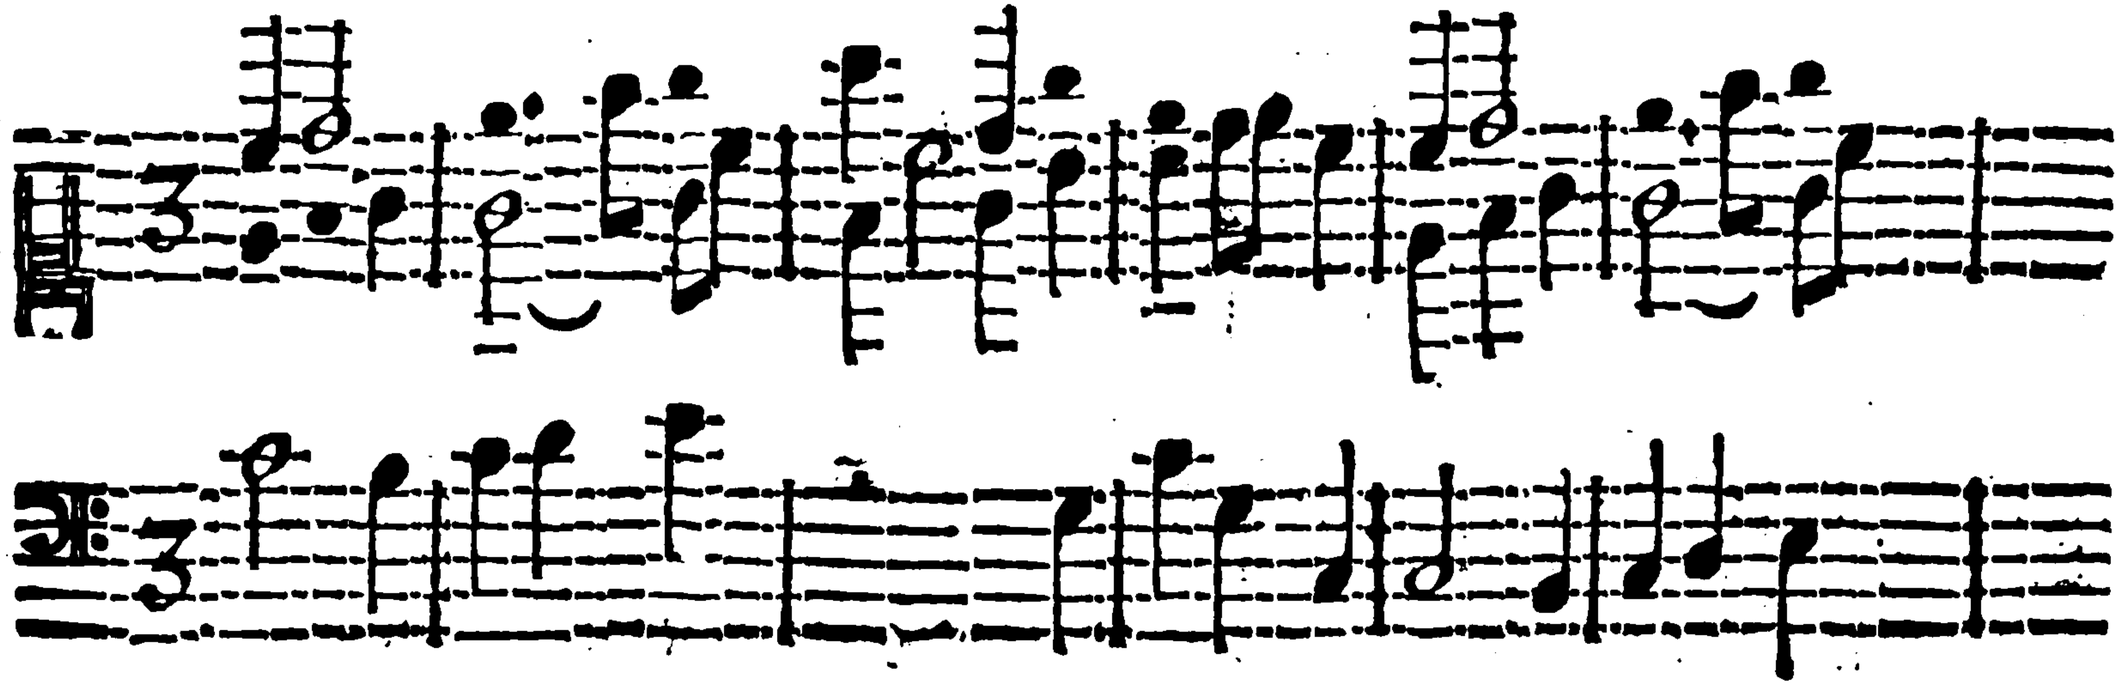

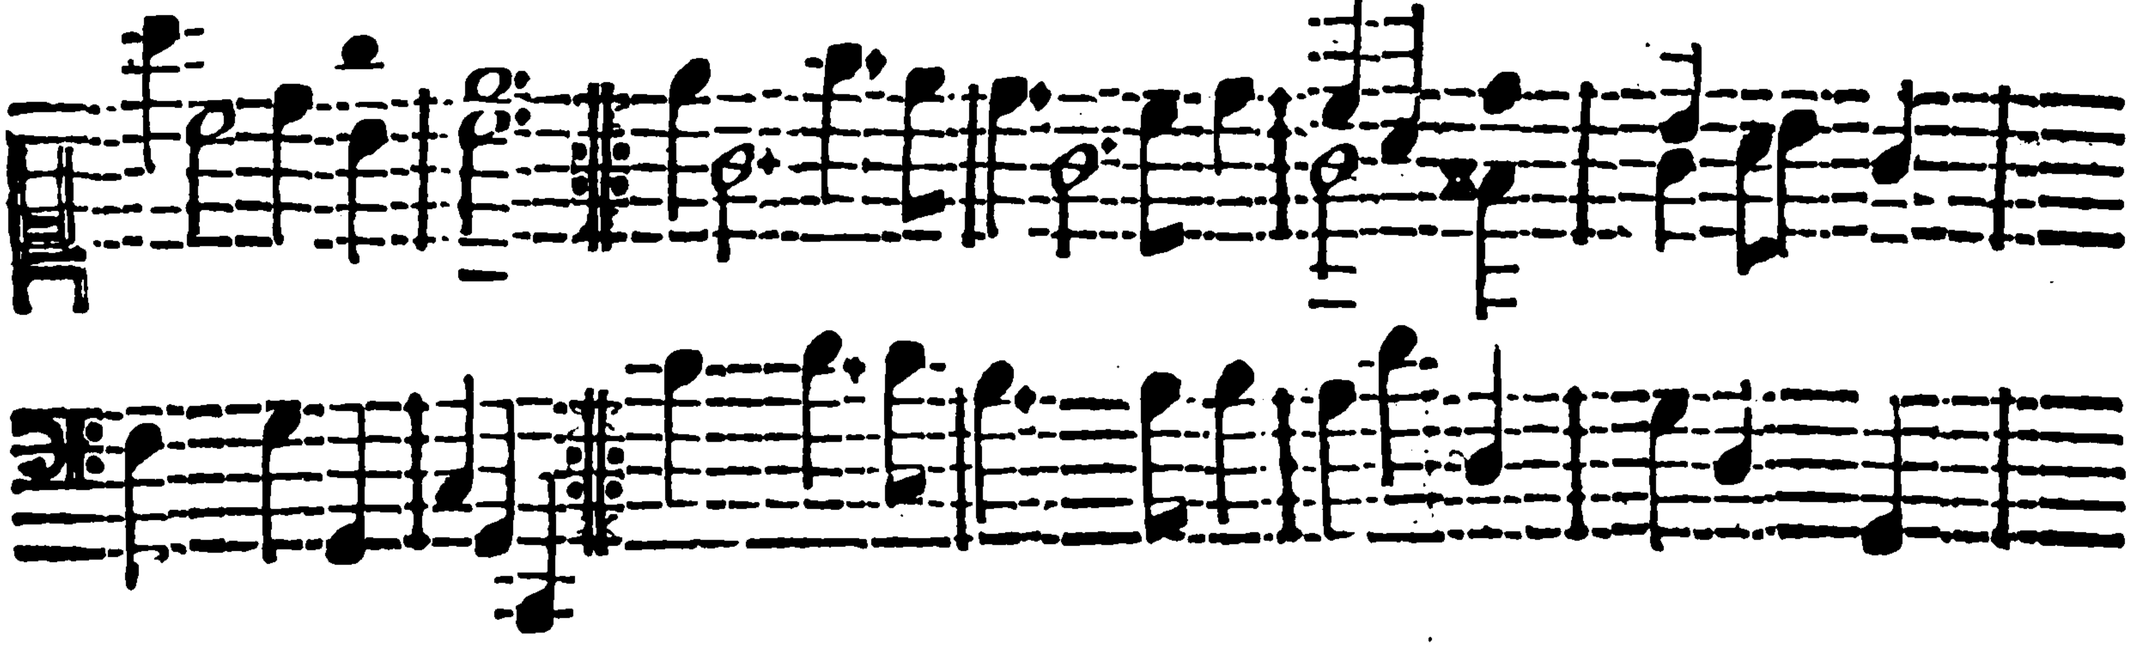

Nun folgen Menueten, welche wiederum aus den Sarabanden entſpringen.
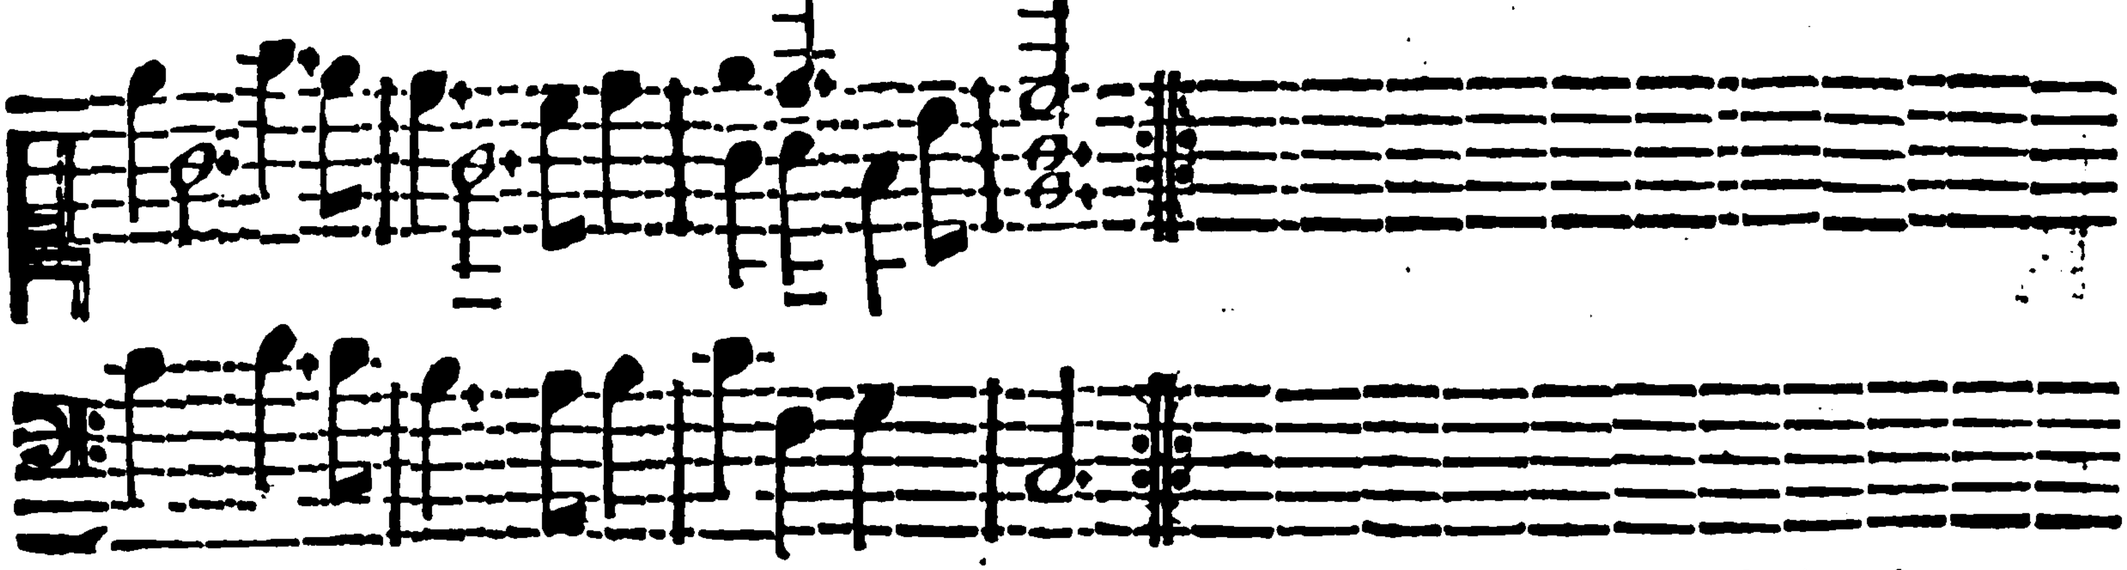

Menueten Baſs.

Menuet.

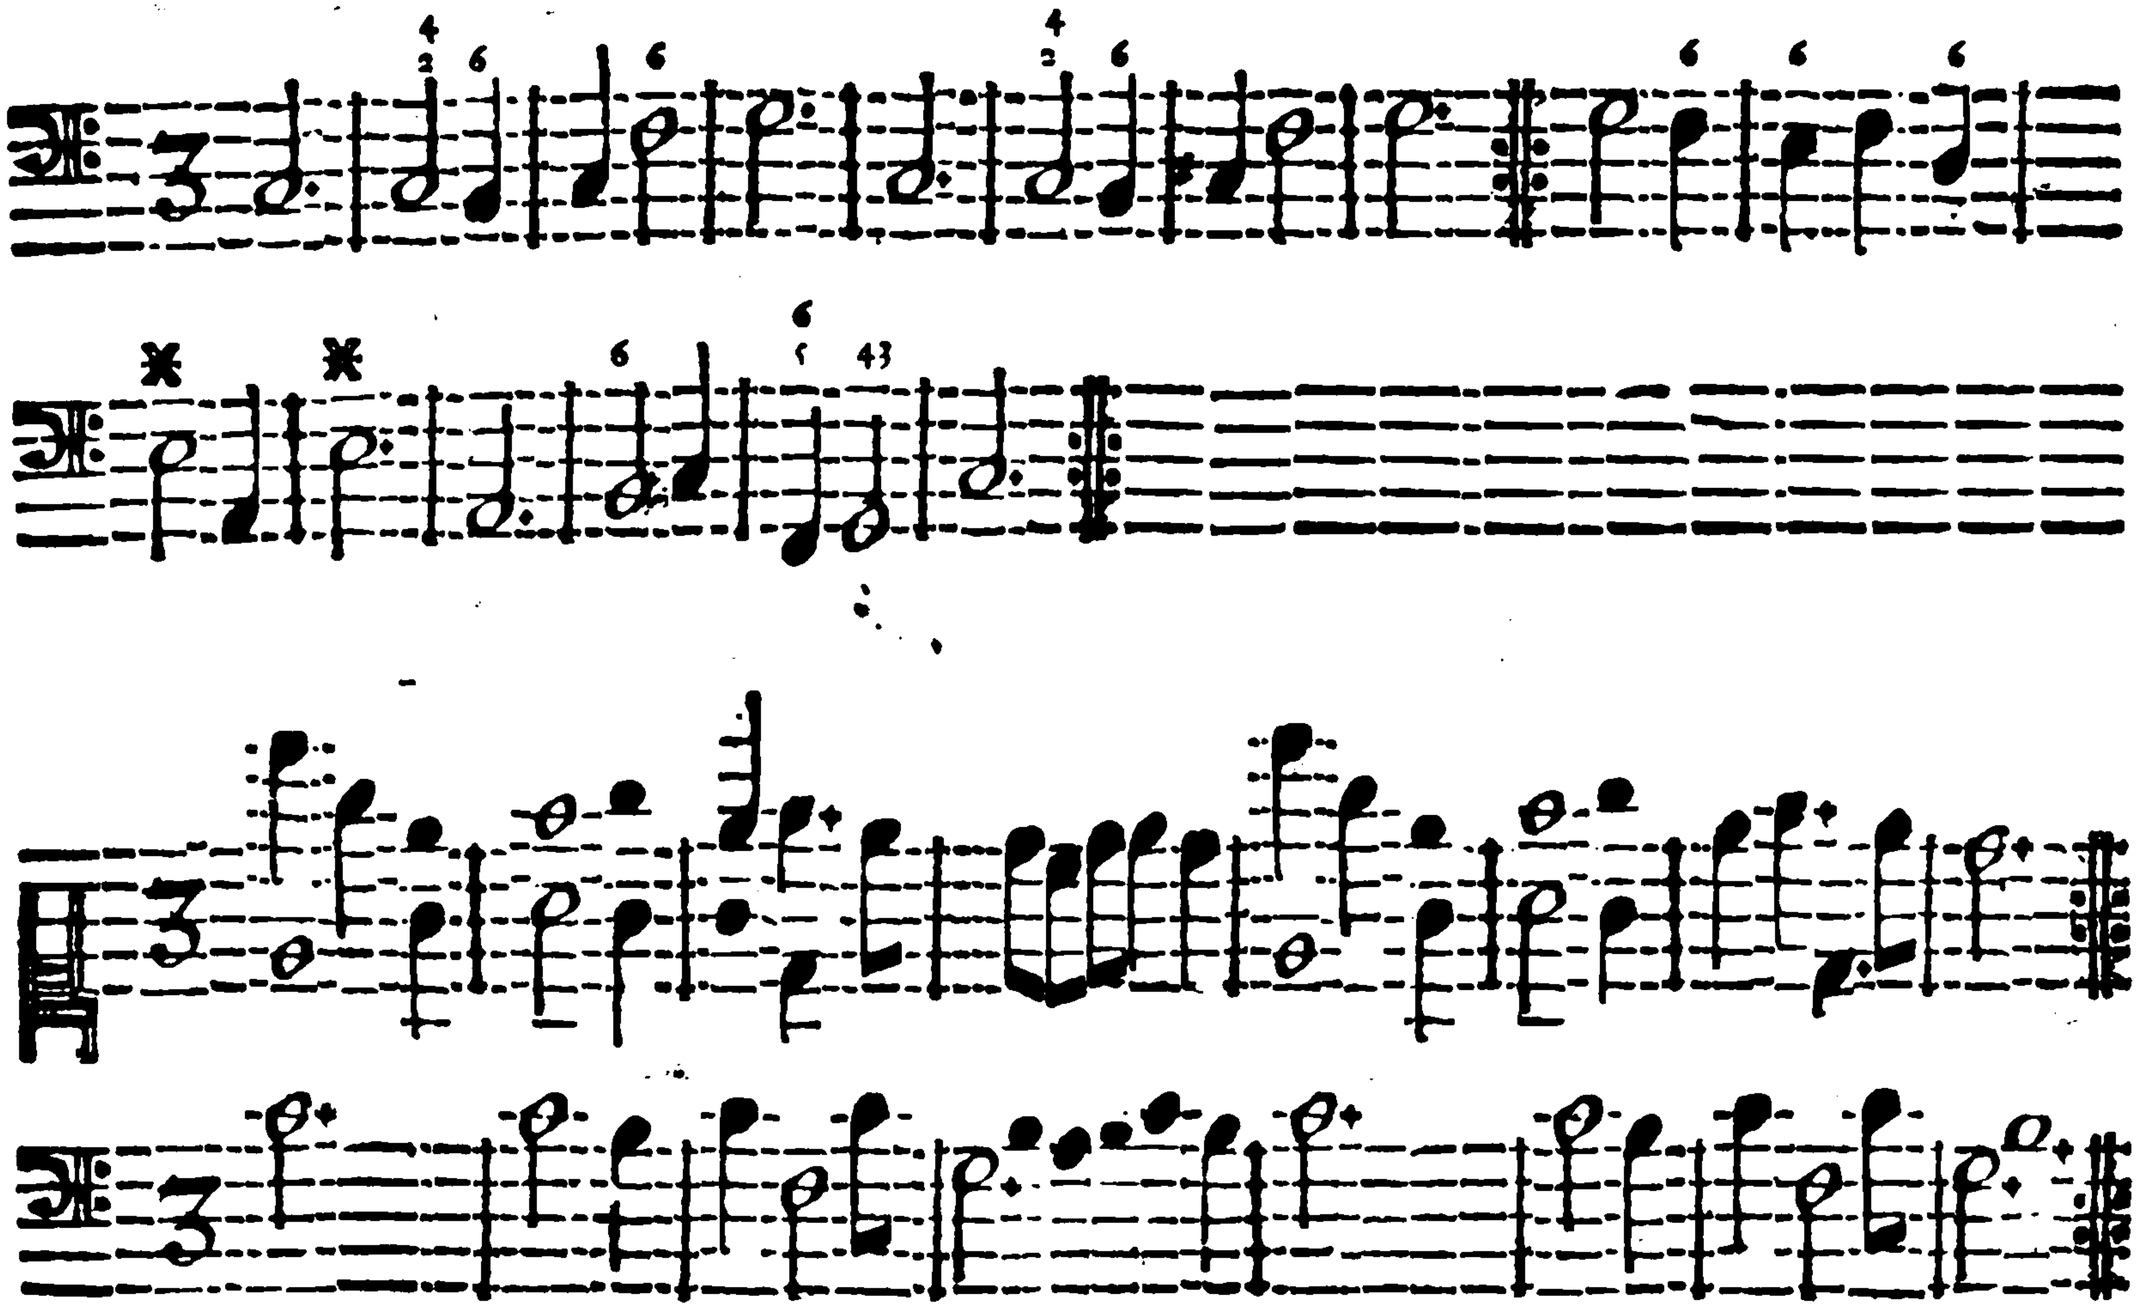

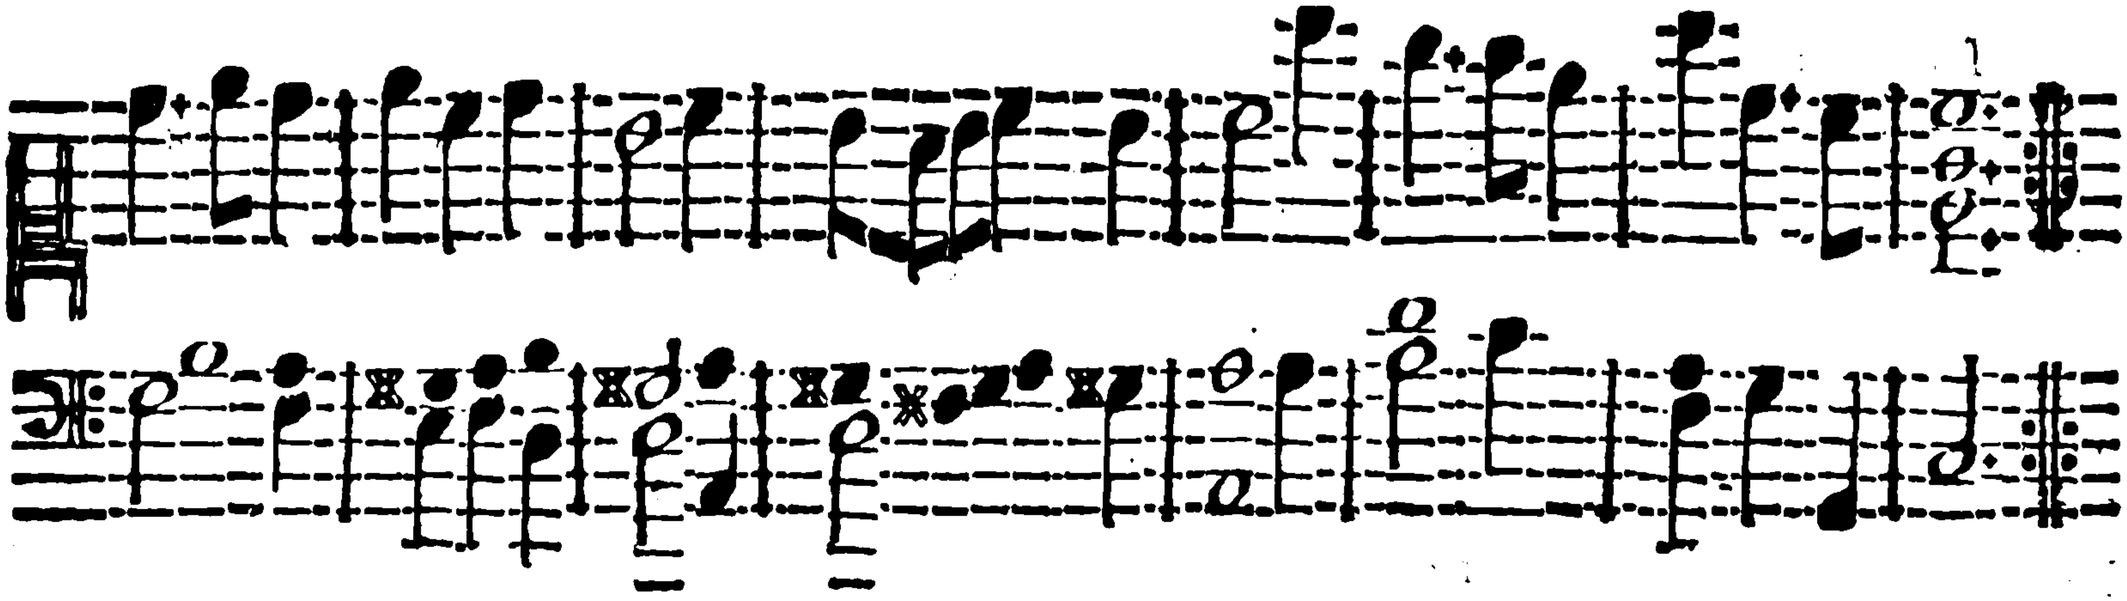

Eine andere Menuet, welche gleichfals aus vorhergehenden Bæſſen entſpringet.
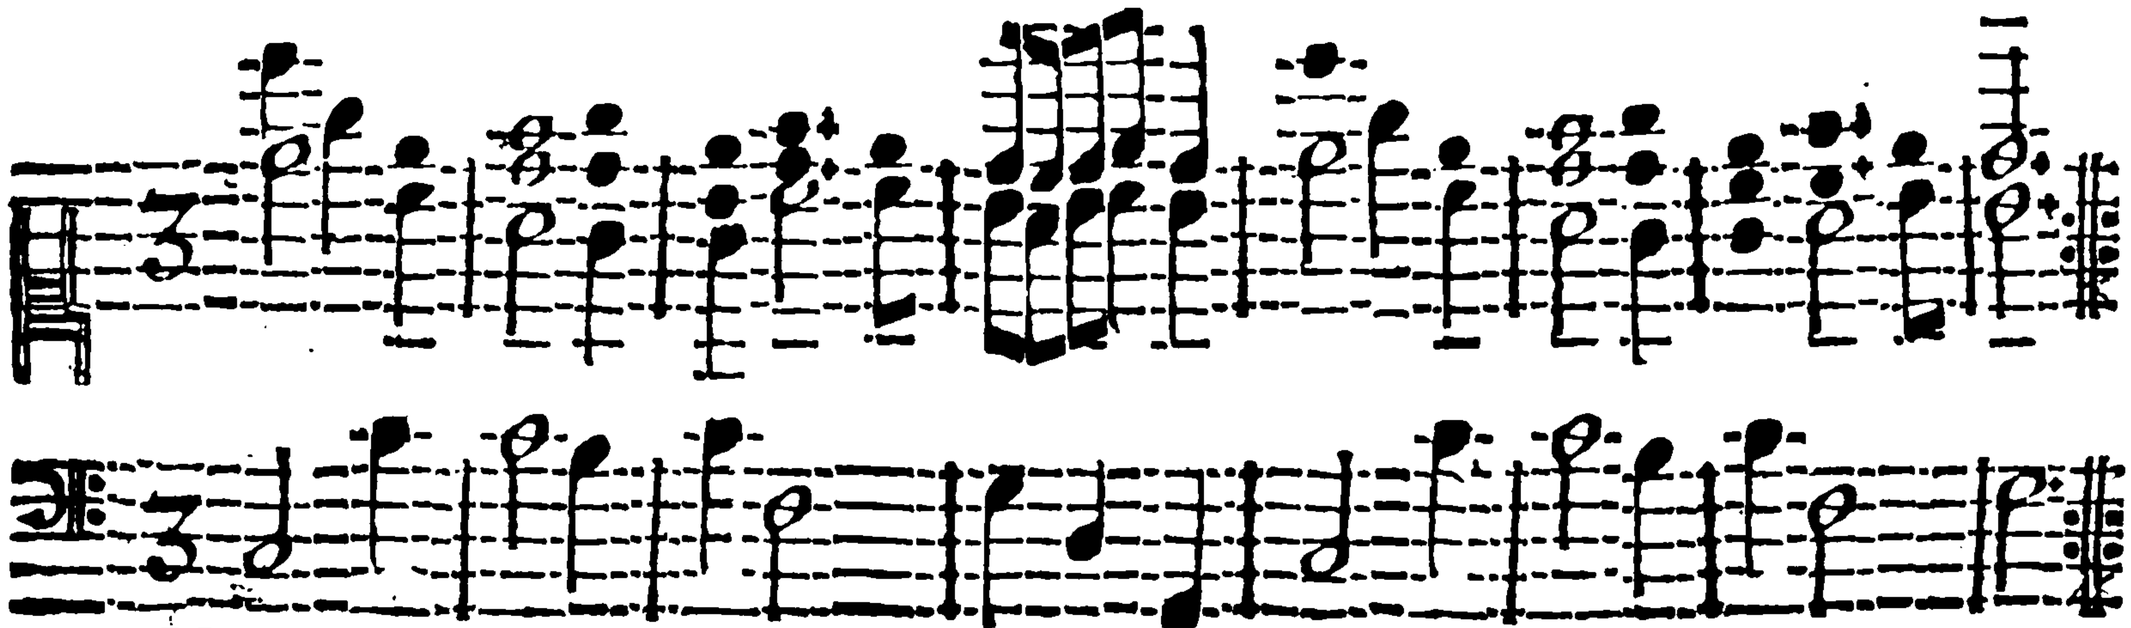

Menuet Baſs.

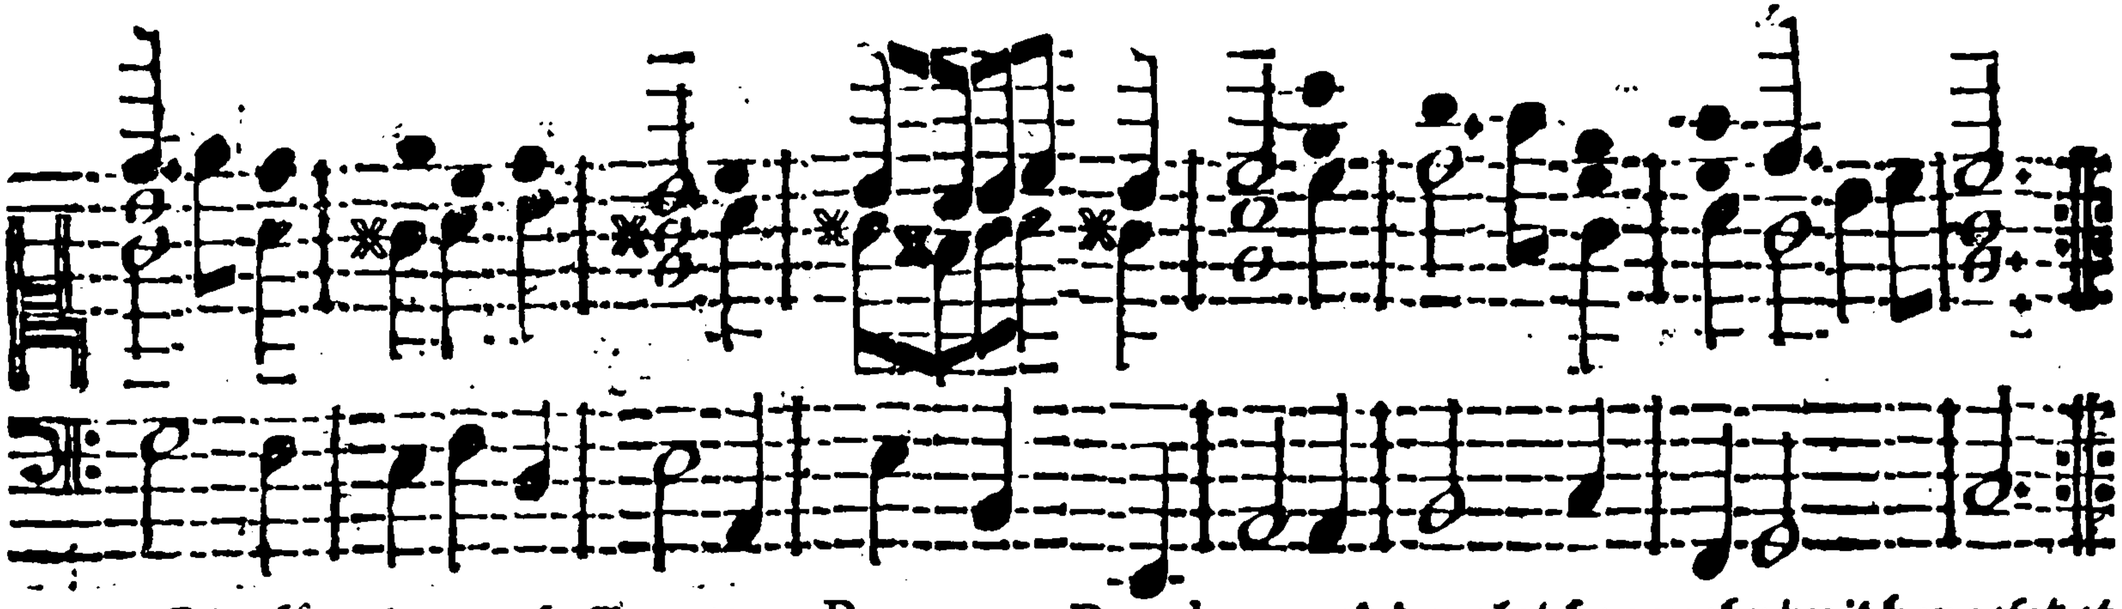

Menuet.

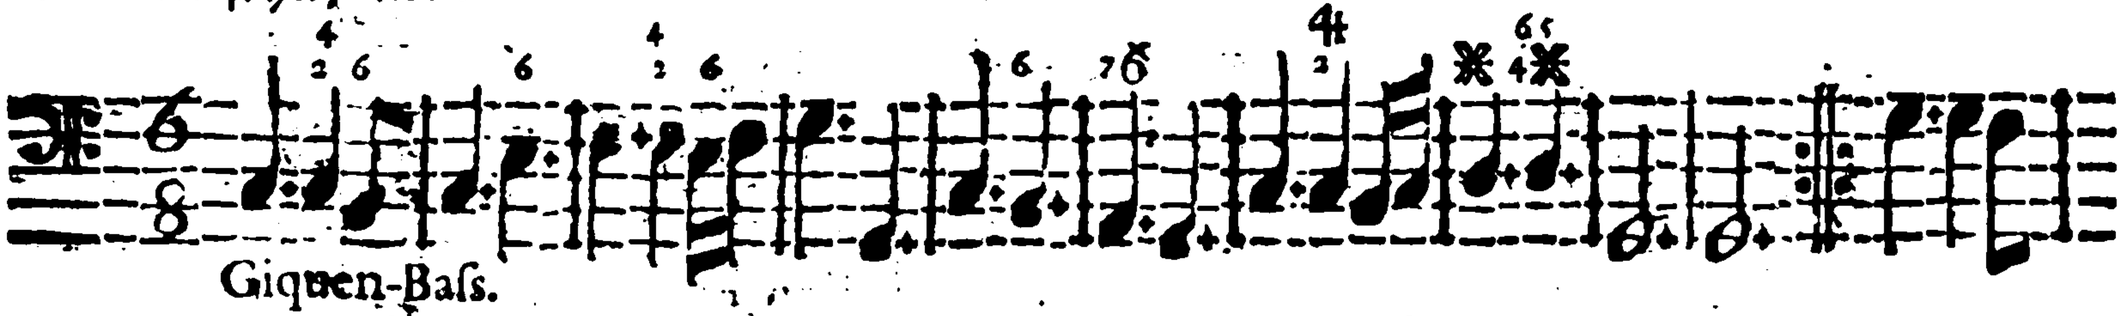

Noch auff andre Art.

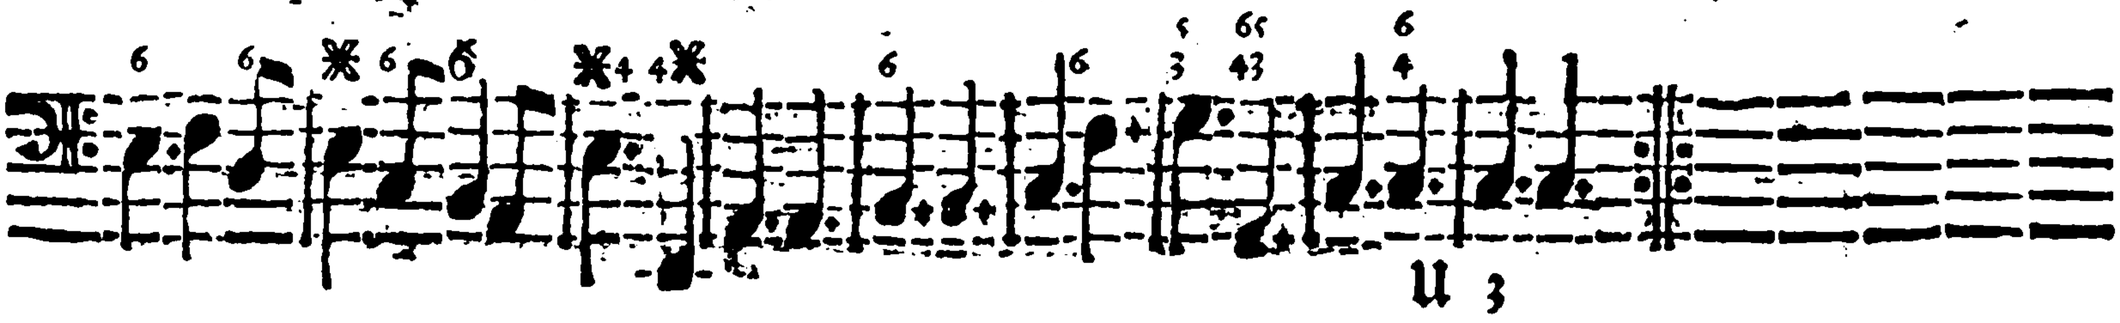

Menuet.

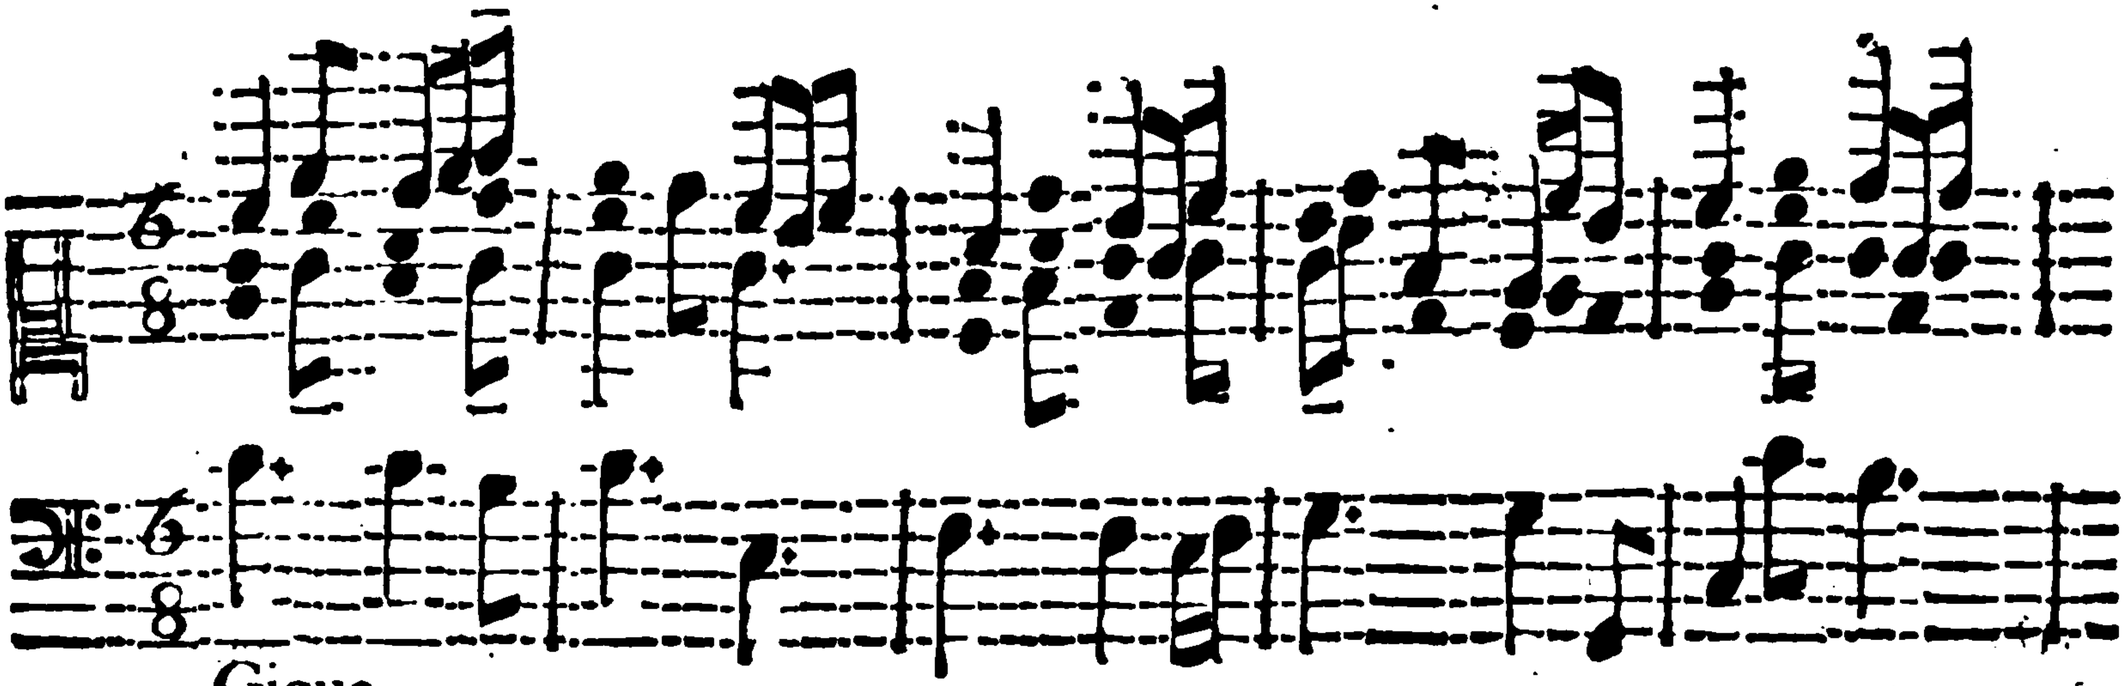

Hier könnten noch Gavotten, Bourreen, Rondeau und dergleichen mehr/mit beygesetzet werden/ hoffe aber/ ein Lehrbegieriger wird dieses gnug verstehen / und mir solcher Mühe überheben / und mit der Zeit solches selbsten thun. Doch sollen noch zwey Giquen nachfolgen / damit aus einen Bass zwey volle Suiten werden/der Giquen-Bass wird mehrentheils der Couranten-Bass seyn / als:

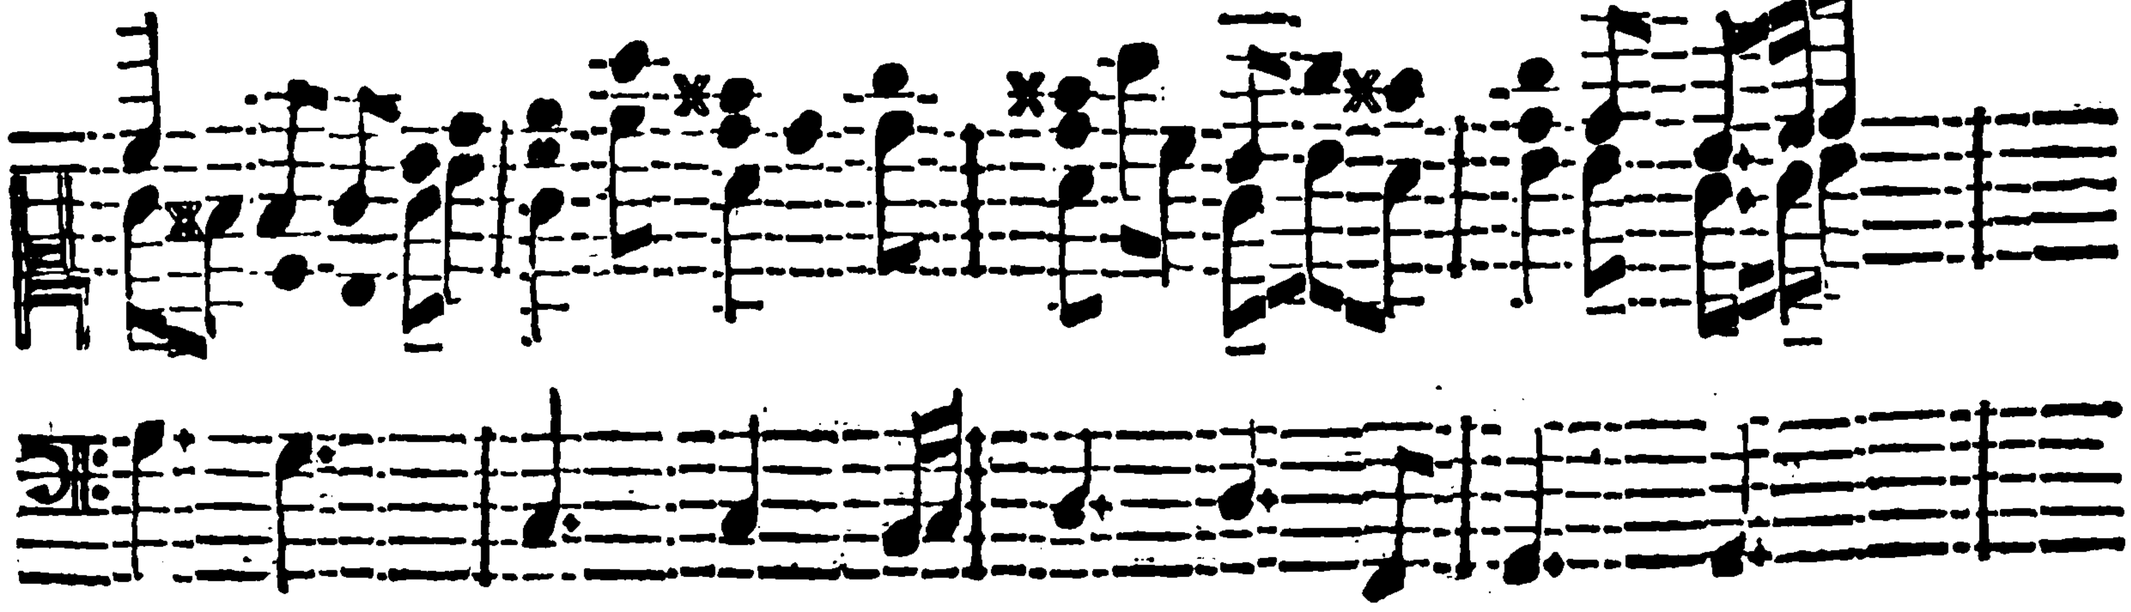

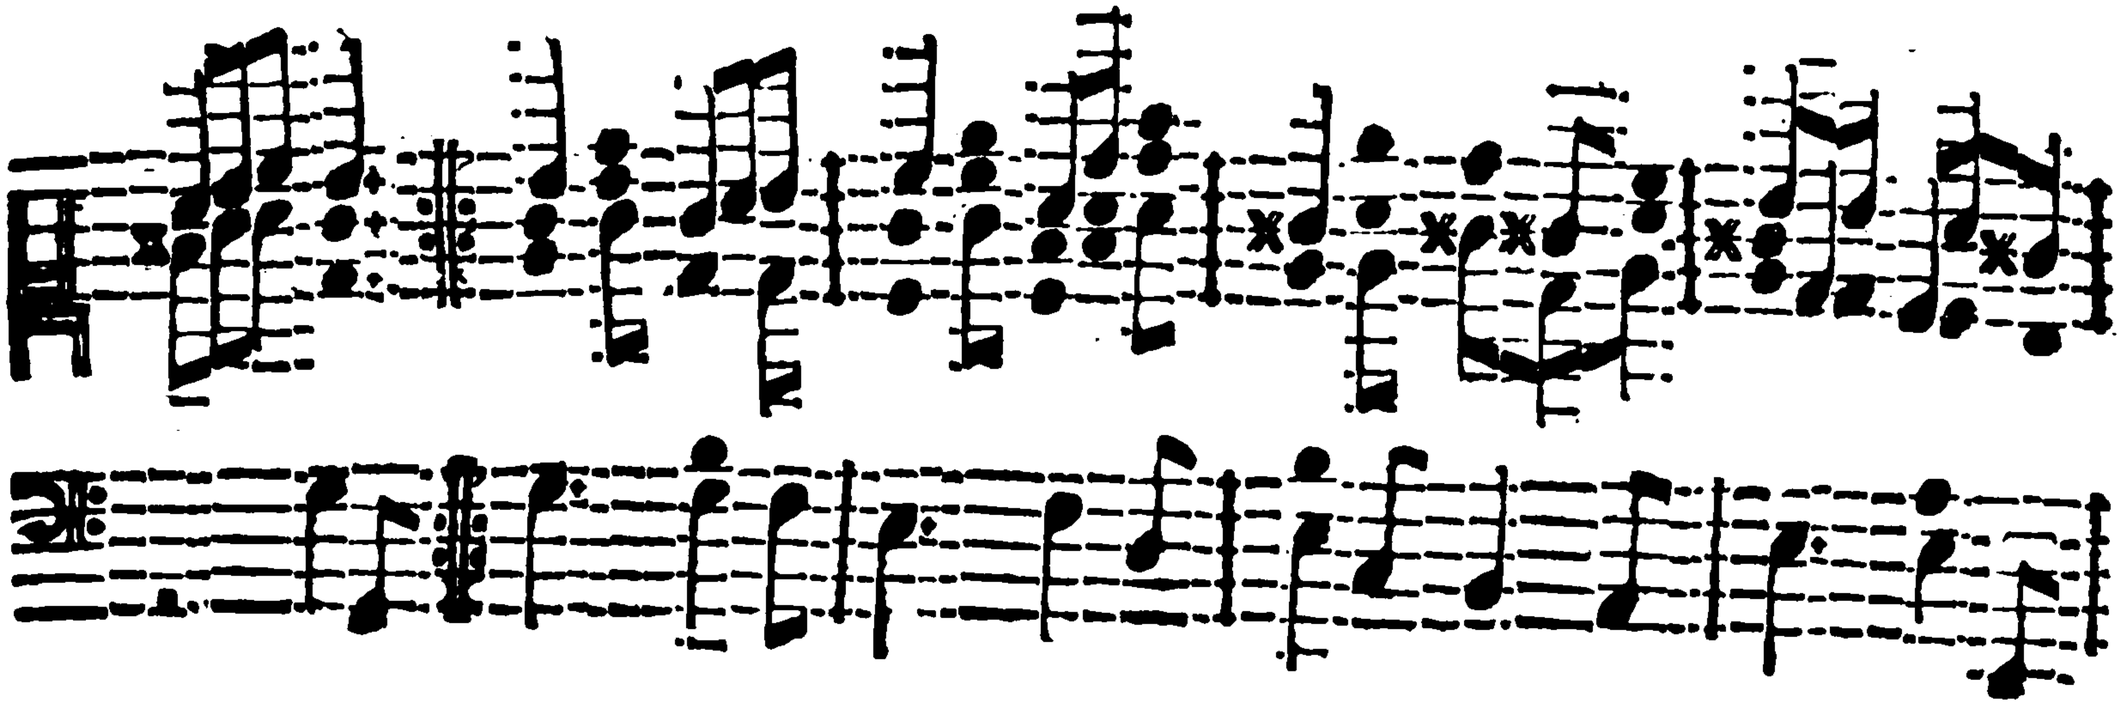

Giquen-Bass.

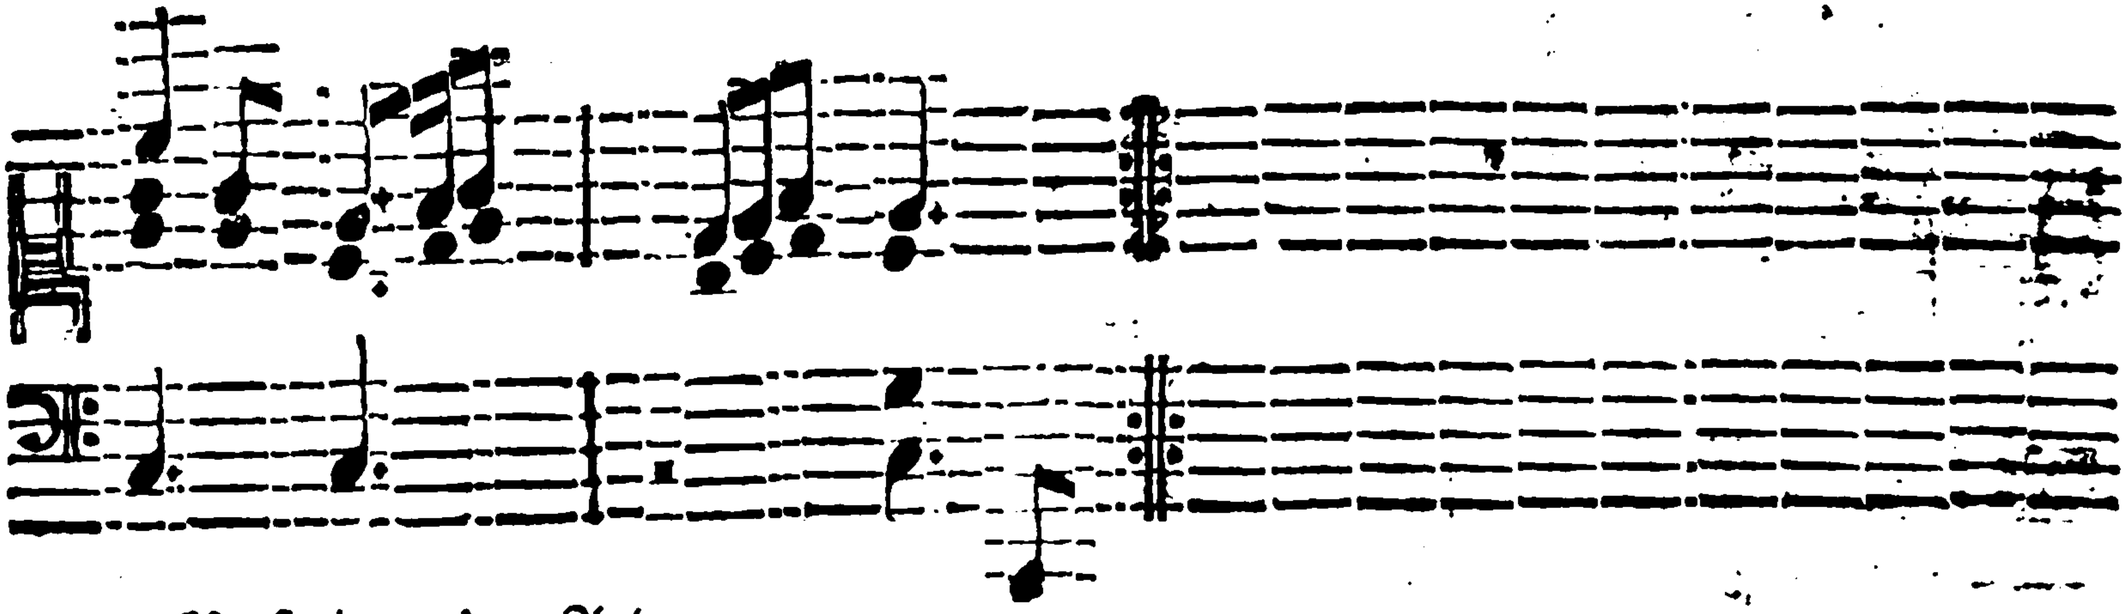

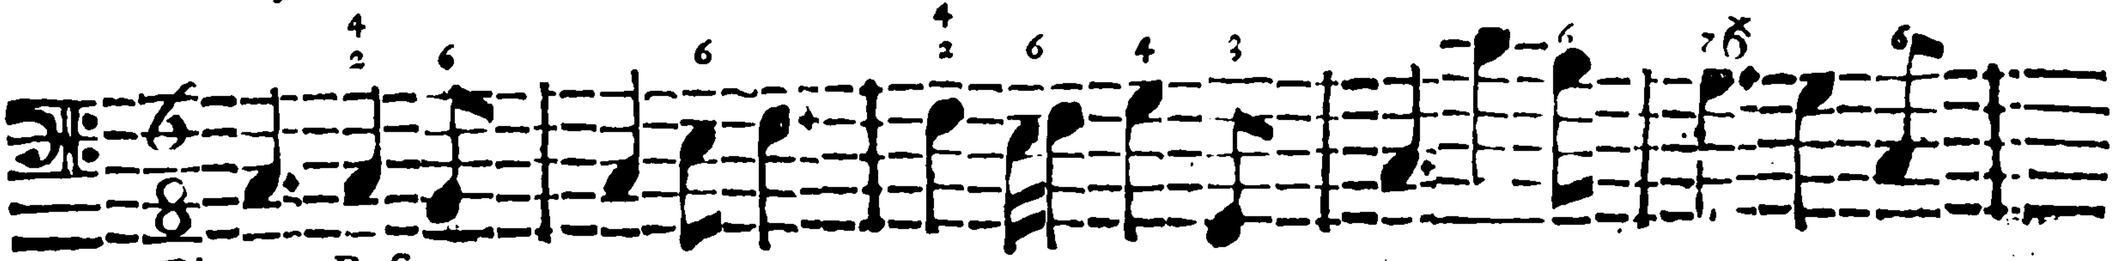

Gique.

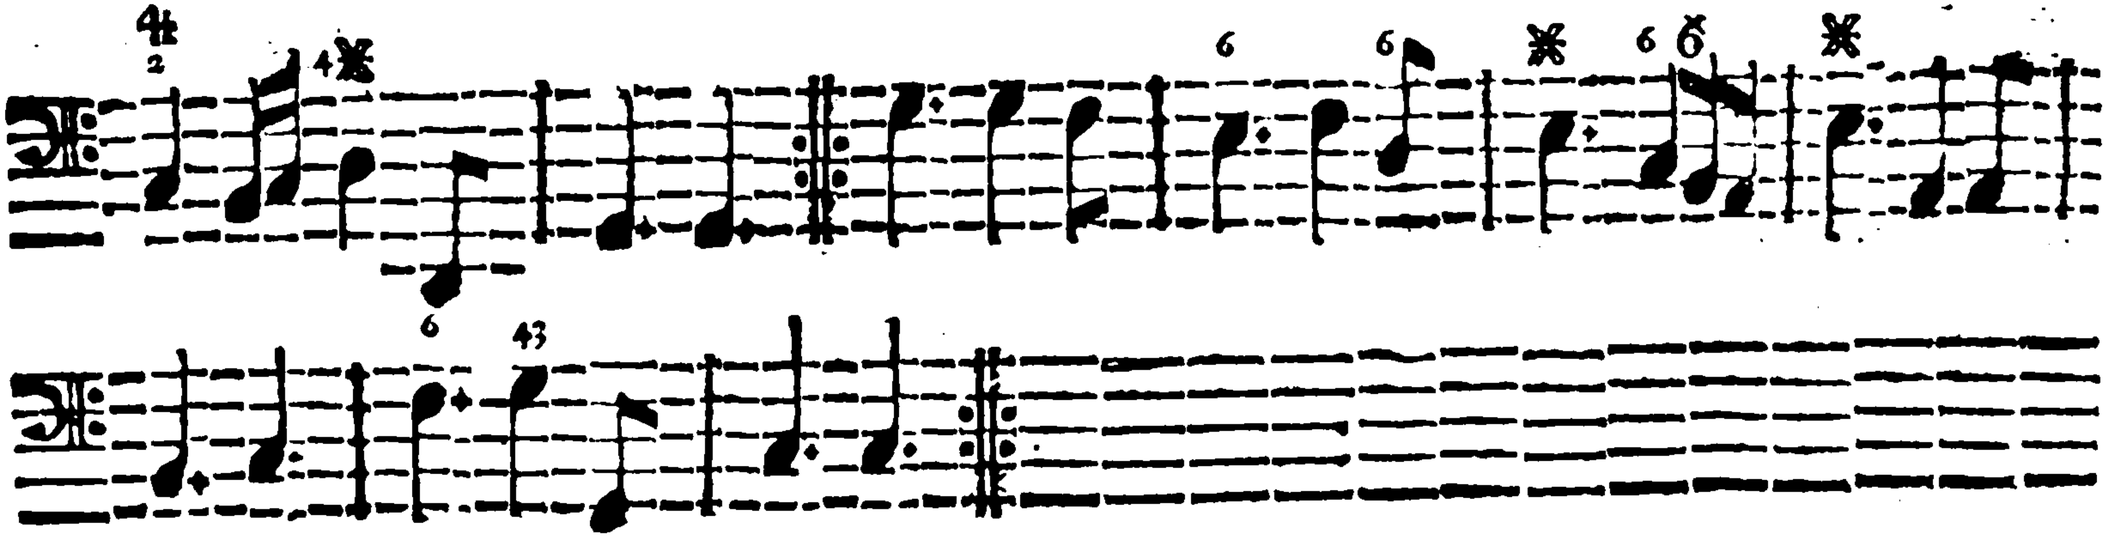

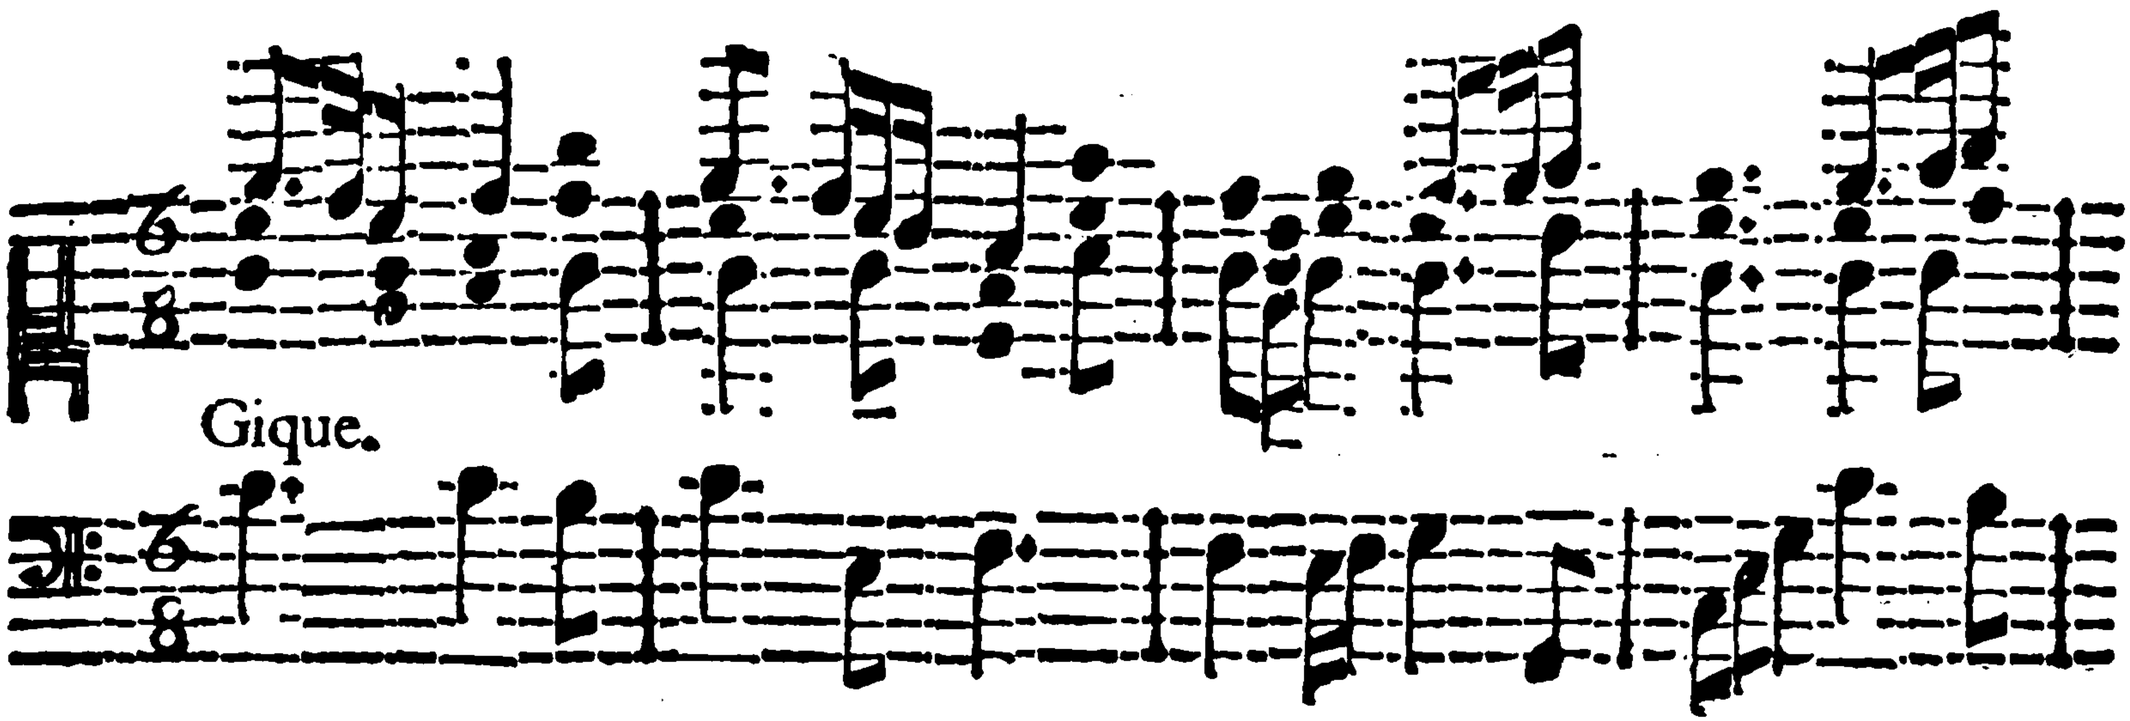

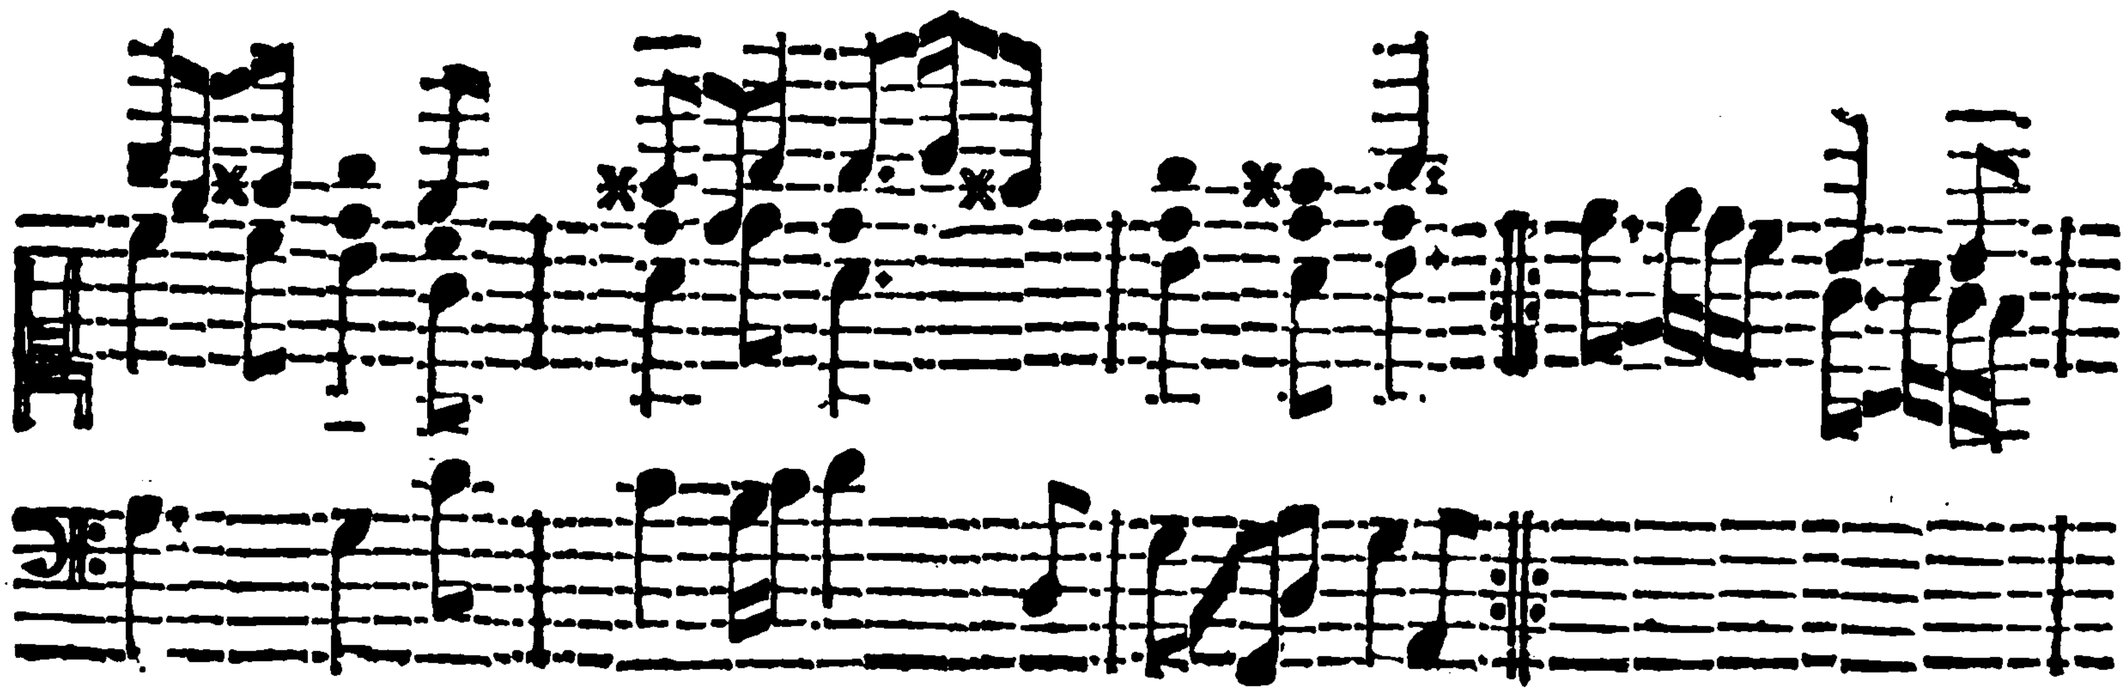

Noch eine andere Art.

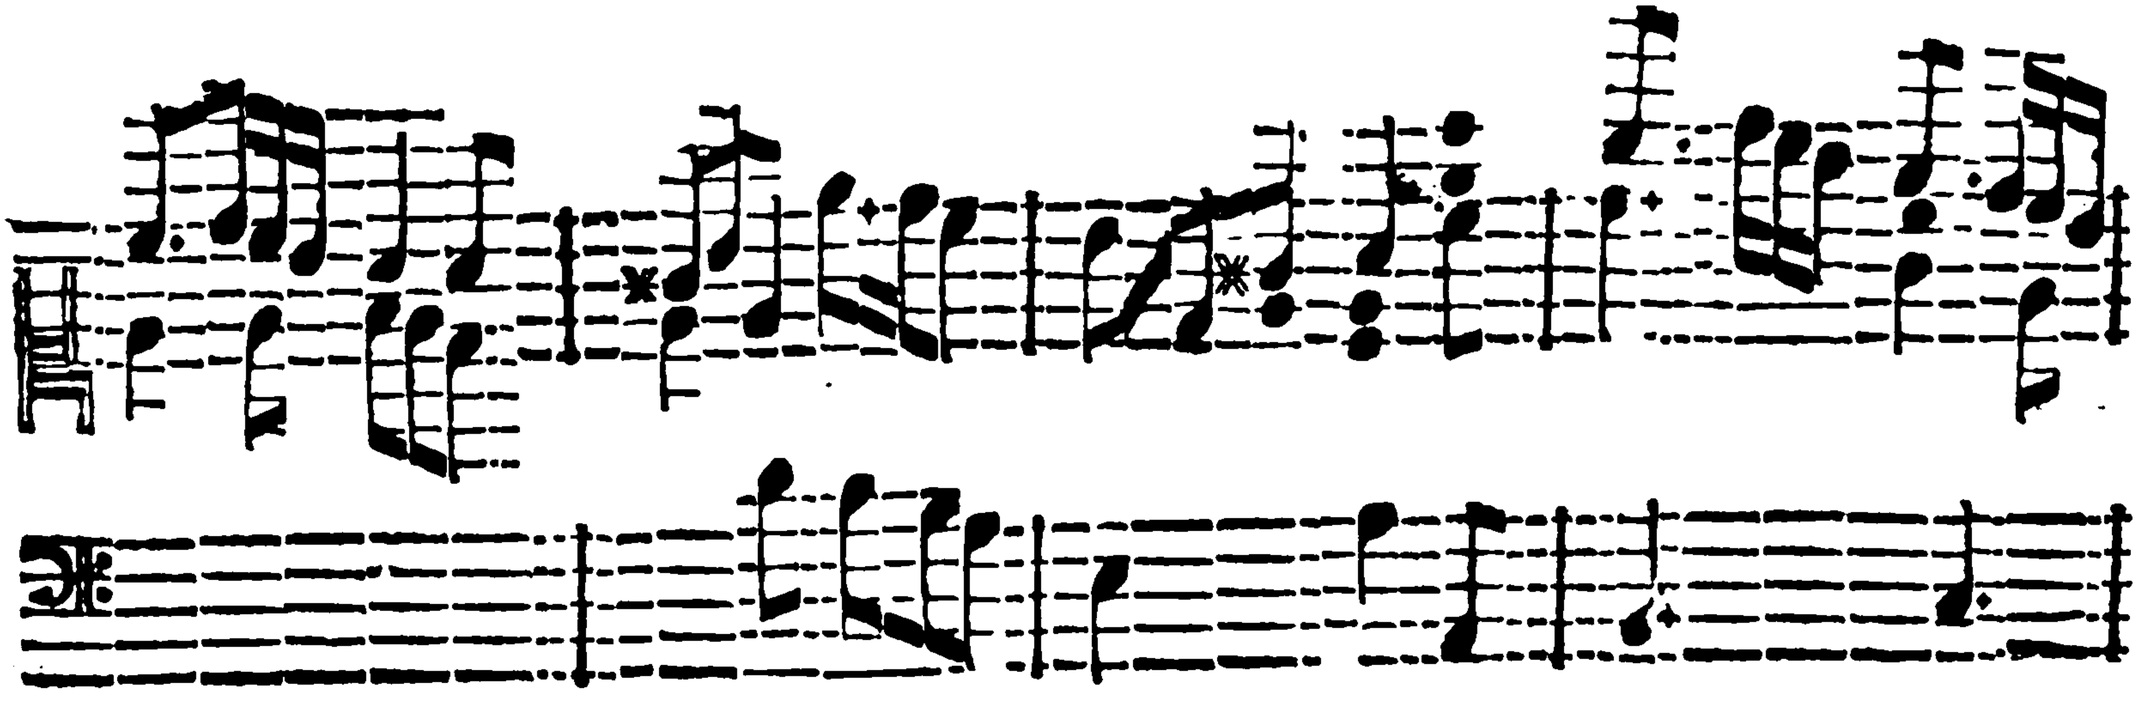

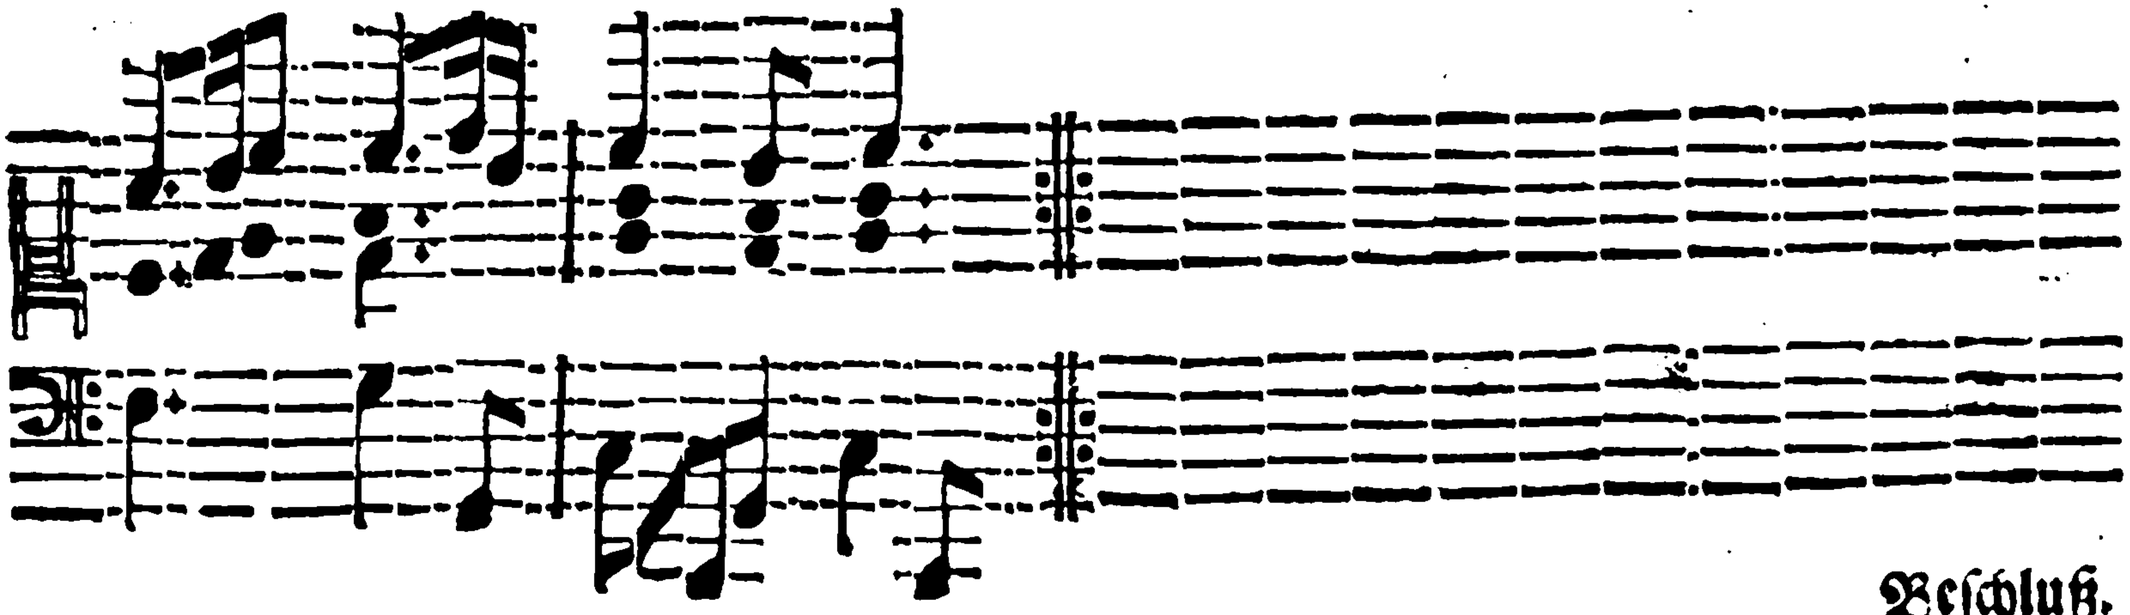

Giquen-Baſs.
